NO WALK-AWAY IN SIGHT

AMES BUNCH OF BALL SHOOTERS PROMISE TO MAKE NEBRASKA PLAY THE GAME.

BOTH WILL BE FAST CONTESTS

Individual Records of Players Charge With Almost Every Game - Haskell Leads in Field Goals Up to Date.

From a glance at the scores of the Ames basketball games which were played last week at Ames, it would seem that the Cornhuskers are going to have an easy time on Friday and Saturday nights. The scores however, do not indicate the wonderful game which the Cyclones put up.

The opinion among the Ames newspapers seems to be that the Aggies out-played Nebraska at every stage of the game, especially on getting the ball down the floor, but they could not find the basket at the psychological moment. The larger part of Nebraska's baskets were made from the middle of the floor and were more a matter of luck than skillful basket tossing.

In the last game of the series played with Ames the score at the end of the first half was 8 to 7 in favor of the Aggies, and it was only by an almost superhuman effort that the Cornhuskers were able to throw enough horse shoes to win the game. In the matter of previous records the Cyclones can show just as clean a slate as Nebraska and former games prove that the Aggies are regular bulldogs when it comes to getting their Angora.

The individual records of the members of the 'varsity have been more changeable this year than in any previous season. At present Ros Haskell holds first place with 9 field goals to his credit. Ros has probably played the steadiest game of any man on the team and has shown himself the superior of any man he has played against this year. He will be a candidate for the captaincy of the 1914 15 team. "Clint" Underwood is second in the tossing list, having 0 goals to his credit and only 4 scored against him during the whole year. Clint was fifth until the games with Ames and Drake.

An amendment has been made to the rule for the awarding of the basketball "N." To be eligible for a letter a man must play in at least one-half of each of five games or in 80 per cent of the entire number of games played. f the Cornhuskers play Kansas for the championship it will mean that a man must have played in more than nine different games. Stryker is the only man on the squad who has played in every one of the games.

The team will take dinner Friday at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house and on Saturday night they will feed with the Acacias.

WHAT FAVORED ONE WILL STRANGER INVITE TODAY:

Sleigh Ride In White Cutter Is Proffered by Man In Fur Coat to University Girls.

Removal of the University to the State Farm would certainly be desirable just as soon as possible, according to several fair young things who were invited for a sleigh ride yesterday morning by a man who they did not know. The incident happened just before noon and at the corner of R ad Fourteenth streets, just two blocks from the university.

"Any of you girls want a lift," called out the driver of the cutter to a bevy of university girls going east on R treet Wednesday near noon, reining in his frisky black horse. The girls locked arms and walked on a little faster, then one in a saucy red tam turned and said, "No, I—I guess not."

The man was a nice looking, indeed, quite handsome fellow. He wore a fur coat with a huge collar and a cap of the same material. His cutter was pure white and was drawn by a sprightly black mare. The rig looked so inviting that it took many hard pulls of conscience to prevent the girls accepting the invitation.

Whether the invitation was that of a would be "masher" or merely of a good natured man who wanted to be friendly to the girls is indeterminate, but the fact remains that the incident has been repeated several times since the sleighing has become good. No approaches are ever made to any group of which any of the masculine gender are a part. The only fact which brought his actions to public notice was his mistake in picking out the same crowd twice. Whom he will favor today is an interesting question to be decided this noon.

PHI BETA KAPPA.

YOUNGSTERS PUT UP STIFF FIGHT WITH VARSITY NIGHTLY

Weeded Out By Hard Work, About Ten Huskers Make Stiehm's Machine Hustle.

Though they have been secluded and hidden under a coat of mystery for some time "Skinny" Hiltners band of demons have finally been discovered. Every night they may be seen cavorting about on the pine floor of the chapel. When the first call for candidates was issued a horde of men came out that would have appalled anyone of less courage than the long-geared man from Africa.

A sort of elimination process was gone through by which many were weeded out either by a lack of ability or by plain discouragement. At last only about ten men were left. They have had the honor of scrimmaging against the 'varsity every night since. There have been some strenuous practices going on of late in which the freshies have shown their real worth.

The phenomenal success of the varsity this season has been due largely to the good practice afforded them by the first year men. They are the undisputed masters of the second team. There is every reason to think that next year there will be material for a team that will surpass even the enviable record made by the present team, and that it will easily smash the record of all previous years.

Shields is probably the star of the team. Ed Hugg of last years Lincoln High team is a guard of exceptional ability whose basket-throwing is as good as that of any. Gardener of Chicago, who is playing forward, is a good running mate for the other two men. Crocker, Miliken, Coffee, and Thompson, are good men.

WISCONSIN SENIOR DANCES

Goes As Co-Ed To Prom.—After Tenth Dance Police Want Him.

Wisconsin does not permit her students to masquerade at a dance. James Maverick, a senior, had the nerve to appear at the annual "Short-Horn Prom in the dress of a co-ed, was detected in the disguise, and now must answer to the student court for his actions. The make-up was perfect, and he is said to have danced about ten dances with unsuspecting masculine friends. What had started as an innocent lark ended in a serious charge in court against the young man.

NOTICE.

Senior class meeting today at 11:30—Memorial Hall. Election of officers, announcement of committee and report of Senior Prom committee.

TO COME OUT EARLY

1913 ANNUAL PLANS TO APPEAR BEFORE PUBLIC ON MAY THE 15TH.

MOST OF WORK NOW DONE

Few Pictures of Upperclassmen Still Untaken and Delaying Engraving Department by Absence.

The Cornhusker will be out on the fifteenth of May. Such is the official announcement from the business manager, W. C. Kavan. A large portion of the work on the annnual has already been completed and the book has been outlined in full and a "dummy" made of the material. The small additional work yet to be done is necessary to keep the book up to-date so as to include a full description of all important events up to the very day the book goes to press.

All fraternity and organization pictures must be in before the first of April. There are a few more individual pictures that should be taken this week, and the delinquent upperclassmen are asked to tend to this at once. Students with "snappy" snapshots they wish to hand in should see Editor Sweeley in the Cornhusker office, basement of Administration building. The Cadet companies are falling in before the camera on an average of one a day. These reminders of the military department contain pictures of the company sponsor as well.

Flashlight of Prom.

The Cornhusker management has, at considerable expense, secured exclusive rights to the flashlight picture of the united Junior-Senior Prom. The picture proved to be unusually good, and will be featured in the year-book.

The University School of Music has contracted with Manager Kavan for the first several pages of the advertising section of the Cornhusker, and the work of that school will be featured in a department of its own. Last year there was much objection to the arrangement that included the Music School in the regular pages of the annual, while it was not a part of the University itself. This year they have paid the usual advertising rates and no objections can be raised.

Friday night, at nine-thirty, after the basketball game with Ames, the staff of the 1913 Cornhusker will hold an informal dancing party at the Silver Lynx House. Various members of the staff will make short talks during a lunch and it will be turned into a general get-together meeting. About eighteen couples are expected to attend. This party is not intended to supplant the yearly formal, but merely to supplement it.

SATURDAY NIGHT Basket Ball Game and Informal AMES Vs. NEBRASKA
