JAYHAWKS ARE SLOW

KANSAS MANAGEMENT HOLDS BACK ARRANGEMENTS FOR CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

DATE PROBABLY NEXT WEEK

Will Be the Best Game of Basketball Ever Seen on Armory Floor as Both Teams are Extremely Fast.

The championship series of basketball games with the University of Kansas will be played off in the course of two weeks according to Coach Stiehm. At present all negotiations are being held up by Kansas officials who have failed to telegraph the Nebraska management and arrange for the dates of the series. When they do send in their preference of dates, three games will be scheduled and by mutual agreement of the two schools the team winning two out of the three will be given the coveted championship.

From the style of game which the Cornhuskers have been putting up in their last five or six contests it would seem that they were the favorites in the race for first place in the valley but the Jayhawkers have an equally good record and have shown up especially well in their last few games.

Up till the last week in February, Washington college at Saint Louis held the upper hand in the southern division with Missouri in second place. The Jayhawkers realizing what they were up against, took a brace and on the trip which they took into Missouri they defeated Washington in two very close games and managed to split even with the Tigers, thereby clinching the pennant in the southern division.

In spite of the Kansan's good record the Cornhuskers should have little or no fear of them. The machine-like work of Stiehm's proteges has been almost perfect in every contest which has been staged and their wonderful floor work has completely bewildered every team which they have encountered with the exception of the invincible Gophers. Every individual on the squad, of seven, is a finished basketball player so that the loss of one or two men during the game does not curtail in the least the team work.

Clint Underwood ranks first in individual records, having 8 goals to his credit against which his opponents have tossed only 4 which gives him a surplus of 34. Haskell is second with a surplus of 31 and Carrier and Stryker third and fourth with 22 and 17 goals, respectively. Only seven men will be eligible for letters this year.

Juniors and seniors who have not yet selected their proofs for the 1913 Cornhusker must see Mr. Townsend at once.

WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT THOSE DEFICITS? Where are those hundreds of dollars coming from which the prom and play committees of the two upper classes threw away two weeks ago in useless extravagance?

ARE THEY GOING TO REMAIN UNPAID AS HAVE SO MANY PAST CLASS DEBTS? Are they to stand on the record of both classes as a huge uncrased blotch?

That is what those members of the class who had no say on the spending of this money would like to know. That is what the student body of the University of Nebraska DEMANDS be made clear to them.

Lieutenant Bowman of the Military department tells us that at West Point, the out-going classes see to it that even the personal debts of their members are settled in full, much less the debts of the class itself. For this reason any West Point man can obtain unlimited credit upon his mere identity.

How much credit will the students and organizations of Nebraska possess if they leave very many debts like these to mark their path?

Regents Will Use Part of Appropriation for Permanent Expansion at State Farm as Has Been Case in Past.

Resolutions adopted by Board of Regents.

"The governor in his message to the legislature disapproved of the plan to remove the university to the Farm campus and recommended the development of the present campus. The house by a decisive vote has defeated the removal bill and passed the campus extension bill. Under the constitution the house is the branch of the legislature in which all revenue measures originate. The removal bill is a revenue measure, and the action of the house represents the final decision of the body that is entrusted with the power to initiate revenue legislation.

The Board of Regents in its official report to the legislature submitted both plans, though expressing a preference for removal if a special build-

CO-EDS WIN IN DEBATE

Western College Girls Exhibit Debating Skill—Californians Establish Record Again Oregon.

In the far west the co-eds, as well as the men, have an opportunity to exhibit their skill in debating. In Oregon, California and Washington there are women's inter-collegiate debating leagues. At the recent preliminary tryouts in California, ten possible debaters were chosen. The immigration question was used for the try-out, as this will be the subject for debate both with Whitman and Oregon. The California women have a record now, of two debates won, and one lost during the three years that they have met Oregon.

UNIVERSITY NAME NOT TO BE USED BY PRIVATE ENTERPRISE

Bill Directed Against University School of Music Is Introduced Before Legislature.

A bill to prevent the use of the name of the University in advertising any private matter was yesterday recommended for passage in the house. This is primarily for the purpose of causing the University School of Music, located opposite the campus to abandon the name under which it was incorporated. Representative Hasik introduced the bill and showed a petition supposedly signed by thirty music teachers, but declared by Mr. Willard Kimball, of the University School of Music, to be made up of bank clerks, merchants, students and others unqualified to teach music.

The bill was admitted in the house to originate from strife between two rival music schools, the University School of Music and the Lincoln Musical College, which is run by R. T. Rhine, a former employe of Mr. Kimball.

Mr. Rhine claims that the name of the University School of Music is misleading to many prospective students of that school, expecting that they are going to be enrolled in the University of Nebraska, but the catalogue of the school contains nothing that could be taken as saying that the school is connected with the University.

Some twenty years ago Mr. Kimball, according to his statements, was asked by the regents of the Univer-
