

THE SPIRIT OF THE PRESENT

Last, State asked aid in things political
And was surprised to hear the answer come
In tones that showed full mastery of facts.
(Morre might she ask, with profit, than she has,
For School can draw on all experience
Of man, and point the way to wiser laws.)
State learned that separation was unwise
And came to Alma Mater with a plea
That they join hand in hand and work for both.

Soon, from this happy union of the State
And University shall spring—but hark,

A Spirit glides out from our Hall and speaks,
"I am Nebraska, holding in my heart
Great love for man. No more gold obscure
My eye to Truth's pure radiance. No more
Shall children of my mind think they alone
Have knowledge, for I see the light now. None
Shall live in narrow circles drawn by me;
God's universal spheres of Life are yours;
Go forth, possess them in my name, but first
Bind close across your brow my seal of Love.
May you who work in closest touch with Earth
Remember what the School has taught you here,
And from your well-filled bins send her a share.
She works for you and with you every day.
Support her as her needs and growth require.

From those who build her arteries of trade
I ask remembrance too. Your knowledge came
From her. Give in return your loyalty.
Defend, revere and aid her, these and more.
Oh, healers of the body, look to Him
Who healed the mind as well. Yours is a task
More intimate than some. Blot not your name
By weak betrayal of our trust in you.
Oh, you who serve blind Justice, be her eyes
To see the cruelty of Greed and Power,
And strike from men the shackles which now bind
Them down in grilling work for Capital.
I, for the struggling State, implore the aid
Of you, who learning here of such, can turn
The analyzing beam of thought into
The tangle of her body politic
And straightening Error into Right, can make
The Law express the people's sentiment.

Let all who go to show the younger ones
The path of learning, hold on high the Light
Of knowledge. Study Self and Man. In books
And world combined we find the truths of Life.
If creeds and doctrines clai myou, weigh them well
In Truth's fine balance. See you keep them clean
From quick-corroding dust of useless forms;
The Spirit, not the Letter, be your guide.

I give no crown to them who work with me,
Nor laurel wreath to wither and grow old.
With brand of fire I write their deeds on high
That men may see them shine, and seeing, know
That these have lived indeed; nor gold nor power
Can match contentment, peace of mind and heart
Which only those cwho work for Love can find.

The Spirit of the Present calls you.

to put in their appearance. But this afternoon at three the Freshmen are to play the Lincoln High School team on the athletic field. The High School lads are exceedingly fast, having lost but few of their games this season. The Freshmen are more or less handicapped by not having the opportunity of playing more games and the students should turn out and boost them as much as possible. The 'Varsity are away on their trip so every one that can should spend their little ten cents and give the Freshmen a boost.
