ORIENT WELL REPRESENTED

Many Foreigners at Nebraska to Be Educated.

A decided increase over past years is noticed in the number of foreigners enrolled in the University for the present semester. China and Japan are both well represented, while Korea has a half dozen or more, as against none for last year.

For a number of years several foreign governments have been sending men to this country to be educated for government service. Whether any of the foreigners now enrolled are here under those conditions is not known.

AMONG THE ALUMNI.

Emma Anderson, for several years a fellow in the department of botany, is now teaching at the Lincoln High School.

Robert D. Rands, 1912 forestry graduate, has been elected to fill the vacancy of N. F. Petersen, for six years professor of botany in the University of Louisiana. Rands has spent the last two summers in eastern Colorado in the service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Professor Petersen, 1907, who has been appointed professor of botany in the Panama Canal Zone by Governor Metcalfe, took his master's degree in 1911 by writing upon "Flora of Nebraska," a complete and invaluable work on the flowers of this state. He leaves for New York soon.

The College of Agriculture at West Raleigh, N. C., has added a botany instructor to its faculty in the person of R. O. Cromwell, 1912 graduate of Nebraska. Mr. Cromwell spent the summer in forestry work in Utah, intending to continue his fellowship this year under Professor Bessey until he received this excellent offering.

Lloyd Gail, who has taught botany at the Lincoln High School for the past two years, was recently elected instructor in that subject in the University of Idaho.

The three vacancies in the department of botany are filled by Paul Sears, graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University; Herbert Markwood, graduate of Nebraska, February, 1913; and Enoch Nelson, graduate of Nebraska, June, 1913.

Professor Bessey spent the entire summer in Lincoln, working on the manuscript of his new "Essential of College Botany," which is nearly ready to be published. He was helped in this task by his son, Prof. Ernst Bessey, of Michigan Agricultural College.

Artistic dance programs and menus for particular people. George Bros., Printers, 1313 N street.

I'VE BEEN TREATED RIGHT!!!

Absolutely no "Holler" coming on the way "U of N" people have come this way. I'm going to show my appreciation now by "keeping up the good work."
