RUSHING ON FOR WEEK

SOME THINK PRESENT RULES STRICTER THAN THOSE PREVIOUSLY IN EFFECT.

FORBID LIFTING OF PLEDGES

Present Season Not a "Pink Tea," However, — No Complaints Made Charging Violation of Rules as Yet.

Rushing started for the fraternities on Tuesday and the Greek-letter men on the Nebraska campus may be expected to continue to busy themselves with the freshmen until noon on Monday next, when formal pledging takes place.

The fraternities are operating this year under a new system of rushing, which by many is considered to be stricter than heretofore. The added restrictions are found chiefly in the rules regulating the status of the pledge after he has been secured. For instance, a pledge failing to make the required twelve hours the first semester this year is automatically dropped as a pledge and can not be pledged thereafter by any organization until he has made twelve hours in addition to what he may already have. Fraternity men are wondering if this rule in regard to dropped pledges will also apply to men whose pledge has been removed for other reasons. If it does so apply it will prevent the rushing of a man pledged to another organization as has been the case at times in the past. Tampering with the pledges of one fraternity by members of another may therefore become a thing of the past.

Though rumors of violations of the rules are to be heard every rushing season, no specific complaints have yet been made this year, so far as can be learned. Still, as one fraternity man said Wednesday, this year's rushing is by no means a "pink tea." It may be of interest to note that if no change is made in the existing rules this will be the last year during which freshmen may be pledged to fraternities at Nebraska.

The year's rules, which are of particular interest during rush week, are as follows:

ARTICLE I.

On and after September 1, 1913, no fraternity shall initiate any man until he has completed work for which the University of Nebraska has given twenty-four (24) hours of college credit (whether earned in this University or elsewhere) and is registered in the University of Nebraska for the following semester.

ARTICLE II.

(a) No fraternity shall rush in any way whatsoever any new student until 6 p. m. Tuesday of the second week (including the week of registration) in either semester.

(b) No student shall be pledged un-

BOOK STORE OPEN ALL DAY

Rushing Business Is Handled During First Week of School.

The regents' book store, in the basement of the Administration building, has been doing a rushing business since the opening of school. During the school year it is open only during certain hours, but in this first week the store is open from 8 till 12, and from 1 to 5. Judging from the amount of business handled these hours are none too many.

Only new books are handled, and they are sold to students at strictly cost prices.

MAY SUBSTITUTE REGULATION SHIRTS FOR COATS ON DRILL

Bowman Considering Advantages of Flannel Shirts—Men Who Wish May Wear Them Now.

Commandant Bowman is considering the adoption of a regulation flannel drill shirt, such as is worn in the army, by the cadets of the regiment. On hot days the customary military blouse, or coat, is very uncomfortable, and drill is much simplified if the cadets wear the shirt and dispense with their blouses.

An order has been issued permitting the men who possess such shirts already to wear them. Others who are interested can see a sample which is in the commandant's office, and order duplicates if they please. The adoption of the shirts by the regiment as a whole will probably be left to the different companies, each company conforming to the opinion of its members.

Clock on the Shelf.

The large clock which decorated the hall of the Administration building proved itself a poor timekeeper. It is now being repaired.

DANCING REGULATION REPEATED BY SENATE

Will Give Students Opportunity to Show Proper Handling of Situation.

Des Moines, Ia., September 24.—Sitting in special session the Drake University Senate yesterday afternoon passed a resolution which abolished the rule prohibiting the giving of dances by University organizations. The move came after careful consideration of the action necessary to the enforcement of the old rule. This is a regulation passed six years ago which forbids any organization in the University to give or participate in dancing parties.

The regulation was primarily designed for special cases and has since been reworded, but has remained the same in substance. Last week the faculty met and voted a rigorous enforcement of the University rules. The impracticability of the rule in question then made itself evident. The resulting action has done much to relieve the strain that was put upon clubs in the rushing season.

Yesterday the sentiment was expressed freely about the campus by various members of the social organizations, that they would stand in sympathy with the University's ruling in this matter. The old rule, if enforced, would have entailed some inconvenience on some of the organizations due to plans already laid. The conduct under the new status is being watched with interest over the state.

TEAM IS JOGGING ALONG

PRETTY BUNCH OF BREAKS AND BRUISES BEING ACCUMULATED BY REGULAR PRACTICE.

CAMERON IS OUT FOR 3 WEEKS

Broken Shoulder Puts Him On Sidelines Temporarily — First Scrimmage Devoid of Sensational Play.

One week of regular practice has developed a fearful collection of charley-horses, sprains, bruises, and so on, among the coming warriors of 1913. Purdy succeeds in bearing out his statement of mid-season form and up to date has kept in the best of condition. Others have not fared so well; Reese is out with a bad knee; Cameron is laid up with a broken shoulder and will be out of the game for at least three weeks, and Howard and Shields have developed bad sprains.

All freshmen have been appearing nightly at the Farm for stiff practice under the tutelage of Dewey Harmon. The varsity and varsity possibilities tear up the sod on the athletic field, with Stiehm, assisted by some of the older "N" men.

In spite of the rain and the growls of the athletes, Stiehm herded his warriors together last night and sent them out to the Farm for the first scrimmage of the year with the freshmen.

Scrimmage was light, and the most of the time was spent in signal practice and getting back to the dressing rooms on the campus. The field was wet and slippery, and neither freshmen nor varsity displayed great form. The line-up was changed very frequently, and the coaches tried fitting their round men into all shapes and sizes of holes. Regular campus and Farm practice is billed for tonight.

THIRTY-SIX FORESTERS BACK

Sixteen Men Are New to Department—Upperclassmen in Field.

Thirty-six men have registered in the forestry department for the fall term, sixteen of whom are freshmen. A number of the upperclassmen are still in the field. David Olson and Will Hummel are at strenuous labor in the Wyoming lumber camps, while E. F. Hoch and Harry Rigdon are applying their efforts and training to the reforestation work in Arizona.

Walter F. Goodman, who has been in the employ of the Wyley Camp Company in Yellowstone Park, is now on a hunting trip in Wyoming.

Denver Man Here.

Mr. H. L. Hickey, Denver University, 1913, visited the Nebraska campus yesterday on his way through to attend the Northwestern Medical College. He was also a visitor at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.
