JANITOR GETS "IN BAD"

CALLS ATTENTION OF VISITING
 BANKERS TO "NO SMOKING" SIGNS ON CAMPUS.

THAT ONLY TO OBEY ORDERS

Visiting Bankers Not Included in "Campus Smoking" Rule—Strange Wanderings of This Fragrant Smoke.

A misunderstanding as to the rigidity of the University campus rule against smoking was the cause of a slight altercation between the authorities and the janitor of the Temple yesterday during the course of the bankers' convention. Believing that the rule prohibiting smoking on the campus was applicable not alone to students but to all visitors as well, the janitor called the attention of one of the members of the convention to the "No Smoking" sign found at various places throughout the building.

Apparently the gentleman accosted resented the janitor's action as an insult, for shortly after a complaint reached the authorities. A notice was immediately sent to the Temple official in no gentle tones asking that the friends of the University be no more insulted. Yesterday the "No Smoking" signs were taken down.

Obviously, neither party was to blame. The janitor considered himself as acting under the general instructions prohibiting smoking in calling notice to the sign, while the authorities in reprimanding him felt only the obligation to extend every courtesy to the visiting bankers.

Nevertheless, the unwonted sight of a thick cloud of fragrant smoke floating through the door of the theater into the lobby, where it snuggled playfully in the hair of old Demosthenes. It curled over the transom into the Y rooms—both M. and W—and was the cause of some little disturbance in both places. Feeling a trifle out of place in such surroundings it then left via the windows and instantaneously floated over to the campus gate—leaving behind it a feeling of unrest where before there had been but the tinkling notes of the Y. M. piano and the tinkling of cups in the Y. W. tea room.

TO COMPETE FOR GLEE CLUB

Tuesday Night Set for Aspirants to Honor of Vocal Nature to Demonstrate Powers.

Tryouts for the Glee Club are to be held next Tuesday at 7:15 o'clock in the Music Hall of the Temple. There are to be some twenty-five members on the club, and, there being but ten or fifteen old members returning, a like number of places will be open. A meeting of the old members is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock Monday night in the Temple. In the tryouts each man will sing from music which he brings himself. The judges will be Professor Mills, Professor Rosborough and Percy Janes.

Several trips will be taken that will be well worth working for. One concert will be given in Omaha, another in Denver, while an extended trip over the state will be taken during spring vacation. Work will start immediately after the tryouts. Professor Mills was coach of the club last year, but his position for the current year has not been filled.

HAWKEYES NAILED FIRST SCRIMMAGE OF YEAR

Much Enthusiasm Displayed by Student Body.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 26.—Another big crowd of rooters assembled yesterday afternoon to watch Coach Hawley's gridiron warriors chase the festive pigskin on Iowa Field. The spirit of enthusiasm manifested by the student body over the team and its prospects is most gratifying to the coaches and to the individual candidates for the eleven. In previous years the matter of kindling enthusiasm to a burning flame was a process that required two or three weeks' time. This state of affairs now no longer exists, and the student body is exhibiting a hearty enthusiasm over the coaches, team, individual members, and the prospects of the 1913 eleven.

Yesterday's practice was a trifle more strenuous than that which has marked the work of previous afternoons this week. After the customary exercises in passing and kicking the ball and other work of a rudimentary character, two teams were lined up and a short, light scrimmage was added to the bill offered for the delectation of the fans. Perhaps "signal drill" would be a better term than "scrimmage," but nevertheless a few hard knocks were received by both sides. By the close of the practice, things were beginning to wax warm, but the gathering twilight halted the festivities.

The candidates, thanks to the excellent conditioning process administered under the direction of Jack Watson, are in splendid trim physically. This fact has been the subject of much favorable comment by the rooters.
