NEBRASKA VS. WASHBURN.

Nebraska opens its intercollegiate football season this afternoon with a game on the home field. Washburn, the Topeka, Kansas, college, is sending one of its best teams in several years to Nebraska. From the results of this opening game it will be possible to begin "doping," figuring on the prospects before us on the gridiron this year. Nebraska goes into the game with an untried squad, meeting an unknown opponent. The first game of the season is likely to uncover both weaknesses and points of strength in the team, and both schools are going into the game with open eyes. More can be said after the game.

If there are any descendants of Diogenes living, and if any of them happen to be looking for a true sportsman, we would advise him to come to Minneapolis. The true sportsman is here in the person of Mr. Brackett, the Minneapolis business man who has so kindly guaranteed the expenses of the band on its trip to Madison. Mr. Brackett is a true sportsman in every sense of the word, and nothing said in his praise can be put too strongly.

Like all true sportsmen, Mr. Brackett is overly modest and requested that the band boys keep his name a secret, but it has gradually leaked out who the "sportsman and follower of Minnesota football" is, and, contrary to his wishes, he is beginning to get due credit for his unselfish act. The band controversy was a serious matter in our university athletics. Carried out, the mutiny might have had a disrupting effect on the support given to the team this fall. The situation was developing into a crisis when the "follower of Minnesota football" stepped in and settled the difficulty "forthwith." What might have been concerns us no longer. Thanks to Mr. Brackett the question is settled, and every one is happy. The Daily extends to Mr. Brackett the respect and admiration of the entire university.

FOLIAGE ABOUT CAMPUS
CHANGES WITH CURRENT STYLES

Many Striking Fashions Set By Prominent Men of School

A great revolution in the mode of dress and personal appearance has arisen in the campus the last week, due in large part to the style set by "Dude" Cornell and "Single-thought Krause." This pair set the pace with their side-burns, Van Dyke's, and mustaches. In regard to mustaches Krause seems to be leading the school as his hair is slowly but surely leaving the top of his head and sprouting forth in a soft down on his upper lip much like that used by our grandmothers in making comforts. The rage for mustaches seems also to have drawn some of our learned professors into its clutches and a few of them have gone farther and are carrying gold-headed walking sticks.

Can you imagine Dean Engberg wearing a tight fitting, shepherd plaid Norfolk, a blue hat and low heeled English walking shoes? Or Dean Stout in an English cut black and gray diagonal, tight trousers, and carrying a toothpick cane? Or better still "Doc" Maxey with a pair of shaving brushes on the sides and a crop of down on the front of his map? 'Tis sad to think of but such seems to be our fate if this disease which is now in our midst, is not cured soon.

wold or Grosse. The other positions are practically settled. The lineup to start the game will be about as follows:

Thompson, c; Abbott, rg; Bailis, rt; Mastin, re; Ross, lg; Heller, lt; Beck, le; Towle, q; Purdy (Capt.), rrb; Rutherford, lhb; Howard, fb.

The Washburn team was expected in last evening but up to the time the forms closed they were not to be found. Hence the absence of their lineup.

The Kearney club meets in the Y. W. C. A. rooms of the Temple this evening.

The Tegner society has a meeting in Faculty hall (Temple) at 7:30 this evening.

It has been decided that all third and fourth-year cadet musicians will receive two hours' credit for their work.

Messrs. Spafford and Smith have returned to Lincoln from their summer's work on the state soil survey and are back in the University as students and assistants in the department of geography.

October 18th

NEBRASKA vs. MINNESOTA

Do you get that? We're going to "clean-up"—if we have enough confidence. That's all that's needed, and it gets the bacon "every time."

Take our business--it's our everlasting confidence in believing we know just what you young fellows want, that "brings us the bacon."

We know just what you want in that new Suit, Overcoat, or perhaps a Sweater or Mackinaw. Anyhow, it don't cost to look--come on in.
