are directly responsible and who will do the work themselves can be depended on where a large committee who is not used to taking care of such matters will not do the work. The result in the latter case is a large deficit such as the two upper classes faced last year. These are the arguments advanced by the proposers of the executive council, or board of managers plan.

GIRLS' RALLY A SUCCESS- PLENTY OF SPIRIT DISPLAYED

"Pep" Displayed Leads to Conclusion That Girls Are Most Active Rooters.

The rally yesterday morning went off with a spirit and enthusiasm showing that it is no farce, but that the co-eds are really interested in football and all that will tend to help the Cornhuskers win.

Miss Gladys Bunt, president of the Black Masques, was in charge of the rally. Under the direction of Mrs. Raymond "The Cornhusker" was rendered with a vim.

Guy Reed commended the girls on their general interest and the wholesome feeling that exists between the men and women of the University. He further urged the girls to deprive the men of their company and go in alone to the games, saying a better spirit would be created by this method.

Miss Graham mentioned what progress has been made in furthering interest in athletics among the girls in a short time, and as rooting is not always a startling success when undertaken by the girls, suggested the plan of each girl carrying a banner of the colors and displaying them at all opportune times. How to tell when such times occur was discussed by Miss Ina Gittings, who said each girl should become acquainted with the game and its rules so she will be able to support her own team and not through any mistake boost for the opposing squad.

For Thursday afternoon Coach Reed has arranged a practice game and invited the girls to be witnesses. They can also practice the discharging of their enthusiasm at well spaced intervals. It is hoped that many girls will go to the field Thursday afternoon after the college tea in Art Hall. Or Saturday afternoon all who wish may meet at the gymnasium and with Miss Gittings go in a body to witness the game with the Kansas Aggies.

was cast, a total of 338. Green caps abound at the polls throughout the day, the first-year men picking up the rudiments of the game quickly enough. Practically every one who passed Memorial Hall, whether professor or student, was solicited by a green-capped youngster to vote for his man.

Class Scrap at Polls.

Not a little excitement was caused during the afternoon by an attempt of the sophomores to keep the first-year men back of a line fifty feet from the Armory entrance. They were at first successful, but the frosh refused to stay put, and kept swarming back until the older men gave it up as a bad job and allowed them to canvass for votes. A large crowd gathered within a few moments to see the fun. Beyond a few torn clothes and scratched faces no damage resulted.
