A SHATTERED ROMANCE.

"Oh, Hello, Alice, did you have a good time at the dance last night?"
 "Gee, perfectly swell. You know, I went with Bill. I had two bids for that night, too. George called me up and asked me to a subscription dance."
 "George! Why, he asked me, too, for that same night, called me up Tuesday. When did he phone you?"
 "What do you know about that? He called me Wednesday."
 "Well, I'm glad I had another date. I hate to be second-choice, any-day."
 Both girls to new-comer:
 "Kate, where were you last night?"
 "Oh, I went to that hop. George asked me to another dance, too. He's such a peach. I was so sore about it."
 Chorus—"George! He did! When!"
 "Oh, sillies, he called me up Wednesday. Said he'd been trying to get me all week."
 Chorus—"He asked both of us."
 He did? Beast, he's a spoofer, anyway. I can't give him much."
 All three to approaching girl.
 "What are you grinning for, Mary?"
 "Oh, I've just been talking to George. He's such a kidder. Took me to a subscription dance last night and said he sure was lucky to get the one girl in school he really wanted to. Do you know I believe I could get a case on him?"
 Crowd disperses in a hurry. Chilly atmosphere felt.

FINAL REHEARSAL TODAY.

worldly Bishop of Lancashire, gives new life to the vicar; softens the wife; reclaims the ways of the drain man, who has discovered the reason for the non-attendance of the church members, in the breaking of a drain under the church; and unites father and daughter.

It is a play that is somewhat daring in conception, yet its scrupulous care in its construction and the reverent spirit in which it is acted, makes it stand out as one of the most worthy dramas of today.
