GAMES PLAYED AT HOME

GOVERNING BOARDS REFUSE TO REPEAL RULE AGAINST FOREIGN FOOTBALL CONTESTS.

EVERY IS ELECTED PRESIDENT

Nebraska Chancellor Given Signal Honor as Head of Missouri Valley Conference.

There will be no Missouri valley conference football games next year in Omaha, Kansas City, or any other city which does not contain one of the competing universities. This was the decision reached yesterday by the representatives of the governing boards of the various members of the conference.

The representatives, in session at the Lincoln hotel, voted unanimously against repealing the rule which prohibits games on other than college ground. The movement to repeal the rule was led by Missouri and Kansas alumni at Kansas City. Nebraska alumni at Omaha, who have in former agitated the matter, did not make a fight at this meeting. With the Kansas governing board divided and Chancellor Strong undecided, the attitude of the Kansas delegates was not known before the vote was taken. Nor is it known now. Both the Kansas delegation and the Kansas Agricultural college delegation refused to vote.

Chancellor Avery of Nebraska was elected president of the conference and Vice President E. W. Stanton of the Iowa state colleg at Ames, was chosen secretary.

Freshman Not to Complete.

The proposition of allowing freshmen of the various institutions to participate in intercollegiate athletics voted down. The matter of permitting a man to complete upon more than two athletic teams was referred to the faculty representatives of the conference, with power to act. As the rule now stands, no man can receive more than two major sport letters in one school year. Several other matters of minor importance were discussed, with no action taken.

Those present were: President Hill, of Missouri university, who presided; E. W. Stanton, vice president of the Iowa state college at Ames; Ed T. Hackney of Wellington, Kas; president of the Kansas board of administration of educational institutions; Frank Strong, chancellor of Kansas university; C. W. Hoch of Marion, Kas; and Mrs. Cora G. Lewis of Kinsley, Kas., G. C. Parish, G. L. Zurich of St. Joseph and Charles E. Yeater of Sedalia, Mo., curators of the Missouri university; Walter Edward McCourt of St. Louis, president of Washington university; D. W. Morehouse of Des Moines of Drake university; Chancellor Avery and Regents William G. Whitmore and V. G. Lyford of Nebraska.

The Tegner society initiated the following new members Saturday evening: Lydia Solgren, Marjorie Odman, Astred Kjelson, Christine Hanson, Daisy Hall, Axel Swenson, Constantin Odin.

A COMPLETE WALKAWAY FOR STIEHM'S PROTEGES

Cornhuskers Have Little Trouble in Defeating Cotner Bulldogs, 56 to 11.

Cotner was defeated by Stiehm's Huskers Saturday evening by a score of 56 to 11. The victory was a complete walkaway and at no time was the issue in doubt.

In the latter part of the game Stiehm gave the scrubs some practice by substituting Nelson for Hanslick, Nefsinger for Haskell and Howard for Hawkins. Myers and Hugg stayed in the game. In the last few minutes Cotner spurted and marked up eleven points.

Myers played a brilliant game at center, registering twenty points from the field. Hanslick also showed up well, marking up fourteen points in the first half. On the whole the basket shooting was excellent, but the passing rather poor.

Friday and Saturday of this week the Cornhuskers meet the strong Wesleyan team and inasmuch as the Wesleyan team took the state championship in 1911 these games promise to be more than mere practice bouts.

STYX FUN FESTIVAL AT OLIVER SATURDAY

First Production of Spharo Styx Minstrel Encounters Soggy Weather and Listless Crowd.

Spharo Styx, the yearling minstrel club, presented its first entertainment at the Oliver theater Saturday to a fairly well-filled house. It was a student audience, even to the small gathering in the "roost," and the play was written to catch the eye and whistle of a student crowd. A threepart program of vaudeville, minstrelsy, and dancing was the bill, with skits and music written by home or student talent. However, while some of the acts "got across" the footlights, the audience on the whole was not enthusiastically responsive.

"The Spirit of the Evening—a jester in caps and bells—hustled Father Time off the right of way and opened the entertainment by beckoning the "Sextette from 'Lucia'" to the footlights. Miss Aldrich and Mr. Austin in a short playlet, followed, in turn yielding the center of the stage to Tamzon Manker and T. Earle Keefer in a short vaudeville sketch which gave the gallery gods occasion to tune up. "Romiet and Julio," Samuelson and Wheeler, was a take-off on the spirit of the time. The first part closed with a German team, and "Bluebeard and his four wives—Turkey trot, Adelaide, Tango and Bunnyhug.

The absence of about half the Glee club was a serious loss to the effect of the second part. The musical numbers, by H. V. Harlan, were catchy tunes, and the Glee club got a real touch of college spirit into the act by just "acting natural."

Quoting from the State Journal however:

"The Bluebeard dancing the closing tango revel and some of the vaudeville stunts were not in harmony with the things the university stands for. Why they did not win the enthusiastic applause of the gallery—which so often voices its independence of thought and judgment in the song to the effect that the gang is all present and is quite indifferent to criticism—is a mystery. Something was clearly the matter with that gallery. It did not give a single university yell during the evening.

Perhaps the whole performance limped because the young people went too far out of their real character. The student body is made up of the finest folks in the world. Give them straight plays and music and real college fun and they almost invariably get it over the footlights with success. When they try to become vaudeville stars and Bohemians and public tango dancers all at once they lack the brass and vulgarity that sometimes can be made to take the place of experience. The failure of some of the acts they

CHURCH DAY A SUCCESS

STUDENTS TURN OUT IN LARGE NUMBERS TO SERVICES SUNDAY.

METHODISTS REPORT OVER 700

Leading Denominations With Presbyterians and Congregations fighting for Second Place.

The All University Church Day, both from the standpoint of attendance and moral inspiration, met every respect of the committee's in charge. At the morning services of nearly every church in the city special addresses and music had been prepared for the special interest and benefit of the students. And in support of this interest shown in them, the university student body responded in large numbers.

The Methodist denominations were foremost in attendance:

St. Paul, 400; Grace M. E., 150; Emmanuel, 60; Trinity M. E., 40; Total 775. Sixty men enrolled in the Bible school classes, mostly affiliated with the St. Paul church.

The First Presbyterian church reported 160, the Second 100, and the Westminster 15; total 275. A large student Bible class enrollment was also reported but no figures were given.

At the First Congregational church there were 160, present; Plymouth Congregational, 60; Vine Congregational, 60; total, 270. The Bible school enrolled 24 new students.

The First Baptist church reported 100; the East Lincoln Baptist, 40; total, 140.

CABS TO THE DISCARD—FORMALS TO COST LESS

Inter-Sorority Council Puts Ban on Expensive Social Customs—House Rules Also Considered.

At the Pan-Hel sorority council held Monday evening resolutions concerning cabs, formals and house rules were passed. The girls voted to request that cabs be abolished except in inclement weather. They also voted to keep the expense of the sorority formals down as much as possible.

House rules were also discussed. Certain rules submitted by the national council will be considered. These rules must be accepted or else a set of reasons stating why they were rejected must be sent to the national council.

Rushing was discussed but nothing definite determined. Some favored returning to the old system of rushing during registration week. Further action on the matter is to be settled at the next meeting.

put on last night is therefore a matter of satisfaction to people who feel that the production of Orpheum stars is not desirable in a higher institution of learning."
