"I TOLD YOU! SO"

YESTERDAY'S ELECTION BEST IN NEBRASKA'S HISTORY.

HASKELL SENIOR PRESIDENT

Schwab Wins Over Wells—Close Races Characterize Contests—All Signs and Omens Fall—Basye the Ivy Day Orator.

Well, it's all over—Haskell, Basye, Reese, Samuelson, Cameron, Schwab, Poteet and Allen. And it was some fight! With one exception, the contest was red hot. Haskell beat Driscoll by five votes, Basye beat Dickinson by three, Schwab beat Wells by six votes, and Cameron beat Lieben-dorfer by six. Reese defeated Baum-an by twenty-two votes, and Samuel-son was elected over Bryan by thirty-two. But the landslide came in the election of business manager of the Cornhusker. Poteet received 110 more votes than did his opponent, Folsom.

Surprises were numerous. And, judging from the size of the majorities, there is little room for "handing it" to any one bunch. Nobody was certain until the announcements came. In fact, most everybody was willing to concede it to the other man. Kavan admitted that Haskell was beaten, and Poteet was sure Folsom had the edge on him. But things didn't turn out as expected. It was certainly a surprised bunch of poli-ticians that heard Registrar Greer read the results.

It was interesting to the observer to see the "machines" in action. As soon as a suspected voter appeared on the scene, from two to twenty persons of both sexes—sophomores, juniors, seniors—would pounce on their unsuspecting victim, telling him just how to vote, and giving him a half dozen cards to clinch their argu-ments. And then, Mr. Voter would vote as he pleased—or as he had been previously directed. Most of the time there were far more politicians than voters at the polls.

The girls were much in evidence. Almost every candidate had his lady friends working in the field. And their efforts in no few instances de-cided the outcome. The men watched with keen interest. They saw what we are to expect when women have "their rights." They saw the girls take vote after vote away from their very grasp. They felt far more like saying, "Votes for Women," than "Votes for Women."

The following is the official vote:
Senior President.

SUFFRAGE AND BASKET-BALL AT CONVOCATION

Special Girls' Rally Center of Attraction for Politics and Athletics.

A good representation of girls came out to the mass meeting at convoca-tion yesterday. The meeting was principally a rally for the basketball tournament, but suffrage made its ap-pearance in the meeting also. Miss Helen Sorenson, who spoke for the senior class, urged that all University girls who believed in equal suffrage should wear the "Votes for Women"

Solution for Chapel Attendance.
The registrar at Kansas University has a plan which he thinks will in-crease the chapel attendance. He pro-poses to have the services twice a week and give one hour's credit for one semester's attendance.

KAPPA SIGS CAPTURE SECOND GREEK SCALP

Percentage Standing of the Fraternity Basketball Teams Up to Date.

Yesterday evening two more games of the series of basketball contests be-tween the Greek letter fraternities were played. Alpha Tau Omega and Kappa Sigma met. The Kappa Sigs were victorious by a score of 20 to 14. Beta Theta Pi was not on hand to play their game with Alpha Sigma Phi, and therefore forfeited. Not as much interest in these games has been exhibited as has been hoped for by those managing the contests and it is hoped that the future games will be more largely attended. Below is given the standing of the teams to date.

UNIVERSITY NIGHT IS POSTPONED—MARCH 27

Committee Preparing Extensive Program for Annual Stunts at the Oliver.

The date for University Night, origi-nally scheduled for March 7, has had to be set forward a month. Through a mix-up in the dates sent out by the New York office, the Oliver Theater dates were juggled out of their origi-nal places, with the result that the University Night date had to be changed. The date has not been defi-nitely set, but in all probability it will be March 27.

While the matter of a date has been under fire, the committee has gone ahead with arrangements for the en-tertainment. Today the sketches of the separate stunts are due. No in-formation concerning them had been given to the committee yesterday, so it is not known what character they will assume.

L. W. Charlesworth of the commit-tee said yesterday that the plans for the event were open to suggestions from any students interested. "This is primarily and wholly a student night," he said, "and it is our desire that any students who are interested in the entertainment shall feel free to offer suggestions. Any thing in the way of new and novel stunts—from vaudeville skits and black-face patter to grand opera selections—will be con-sidered. However, we do not wish to try to enter into competition with the Spharo Styx production, and the pro-gram will be a departure from that style."

WRESTLING TEAM

HUSKY SQUAD CHOSEN TO REPRESENT NEBRASKA.

TRYOUTS HELD YESTERDAY

Ganz, Pasche, Gunther, Kruse and Bais Chosen—Dual Meet With Iowa, Saturday—Hard Match Expected.

Wrestling tryouts for the dual meet with Iowa were held in Memorial Hall last evening.

In the 125 pound class Nebraska will be represented by Pasche, who showed great form for a youngster. The 140-pound class will be defended by Carl Ganz. Ganz is a Junior in the Univer-sity. In his freshman year he won the wrestling event in the Olympics. He also won this event in his sopho-more year. Last year Ganz repre-sented Nebraska against Iowa at Iowa City. The result of the tussel was a draw. In the Western Inter-collegiate Gymnastic meet, held at Madison, Wisconsin, Ganz won third place. Here he threw the contestants from Indiana University and the University of Illinois. He drew his match with his Wisconsin opponent, and lost to Minnesota, the Minnesota representa-tive winning first place. His match last evening was won from Aldrich on points. Aldrich showed class and is a comer.

Fred Gunther, a senior engineer, will wrestle in the 145-pound weight. This is a special weight for the Iowa meet. Gunther will scale in at about 140 pounds. This is his third year on the Nebraska wrestling team. In his sophomore year he represented Ne-braska at a tournament conducted by the Kansas City Athletic Club in Kan-sas City. There he threw the Jay-hawk representative in a little over two minutes. He won second place there, losing on a decision for first to a Kansas City Athletic Club repre-sentative. In the Western Inter-col-legiate of 1912, held at the University of Illinois, he won third place. Last year he lost to Iowa, but came back strong in the Western Inter-collegiate at Madison, Wisconsin. At Madison he threw the representatives from Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and lost to Illinois, who won first place.

Bais, one of the champion football warriors of 1913, will wrestle the 165-pound. Bais is built like a brick and is as quick as a cat. He is a clean sportsman and will give his opponent a merry chase.

Frank Kruse will take on the heavy-weights. Kruse is best known in ath-letic circles by his hurdling ability. He was a member of the 1912 track team. Coach Daily speaks of him as being very promising.
