SUMMER SCHOOL

CATALOGUE ISSUED FOR COMING SESSION OF SUMMER SCHOOL

SPECIAL LECTURE COURSES

Will Commence June 8 and Close July 31—Large Range of Subjects Provided—School of Superintendence.

Summer school will commence June 8 and will close July 31. The complete catalogue has been published and can now be obtained at the Registrar's office by any who are interested in the course. On the whole, the general plan of this session will be much the same as its predecessors, but of course will be subject to some changes and improvements.

The summer session is primarily intended to meet the needs of the teachers of the state. A large number of students, however, take advantage of it to secure special work and make up credits. A large range of courses has been provided and preparations made for a course of special lectures and convocations which will be open to all who have registered. Those in charge of the Summer School by this means hope to supply the broader cultural needs of teachers and students.

Class work will commence June 8, but registration will be postponed until a week later. This delay is caused by Commencement, which commences June 8 also. Students will report to classes Monday in the regular manner without registration.

Subjects Offered.

The agricultural courses, which will be given at the Farm campus, include four courses in agronomy, two in animal husbandry, and two in home economics. Among the courses in education are four in pure education—child study, hygiene, two in secondary education, and strong courses in educational theory and practice. In the school of fine arts courses in painting, public school art work, and other subjects will be given. In the regular academic courses a complete schedule

Y.W.C.A. MEMBERS MET IN HONOR OF VISITORS

Forty-five Are at Supper in Faculty Hall—Toasts Called for by Miss Finney.

Forty-five members of the Y. W. C. A., including the girls of the old and new cabinets and the executive board, met at a supper in Faculty Hall to do honor to Miss Taft and Miss Blanchard, who are visiting the association this week.

The guests were seated at small tables, which were beautifully decorated with red tulips. The place cards were dainty hand-painted Chinese flags.

The menu consisted of braised tongue with tomato sauce, hot buttered rolls, potato salad, hot chocolate, strawberries with whipped cream and angel food cake.

Toasts were called for by Janet Finney and dealt with the work of the Y. W. C. A. in China. Special tributes were paid to Miss King, who is at work in China at present as a special representative of Nebraska and Iowa universities.

On the toast list were Miss Taft, Miss Blanchard, Miss Fannie Morris, Miss Graham and Esther Bennett.

Texas.

The first copy of a new college paper, "The Blunderbuss," was published at Texas University on April 2, and it is now a question whether it will not also be the last issue. Some of the prominent members of the class and the faculty loudly denounced the paper. Some of the main contentions were that malicious articles had been printed in the issue. The matter is now being taken up by the faculty discipline committee. The future of the paper will depend upon its reception by the students.

BUSINESS MEN TO DISCUSS DEPARTMENT STORE

C. H. Rudge, president of the Rudge & Guenzel Company, will speak before the class in Business Organization this afternoon at two o'clock in U 102 on the subject "Department Store Specialization." Although this talk is to be given before a class of the Commerce department, it is the desire of Professor Martin to have all men interested in the work of a department store attend.

BEGINNING OF THINGS BY BARBOUR TONIGHT

Talk Will Be on Biblical Times—The Chairman Looks for Record Attendance.

Professor Barbour will speak in the University Temple tonight at seven o'clock on the subject, "The Beginning of Things." The professor will deal with the geology of the first chapter of Genesis and the chairman of the committee in charge of these Thursday evening meetings expects an exceptional attendance.

SENIOR INVITATIONS PUT ON SALE TODAY

Committee Selects Classy Invitation—Prices Are Reduced This Year.

A combination of artistic beauty, neatness and individuality of style, the senior invitations this year are in a class by themselves. They will be put on sale today and tomorrow. All the material will be sent in to the publishers in a few days and this will undoubtedly be the last sale. Seniors are advised to purchase early.

There will be two kinds—one with a dark gray leather cover and the other with a brown paper cover. The front of the leather cover is decorated with "Nebraska" embossed in a copper mounting and the Nebraska seal.

The inside of the invitations will contain two views of campus scenes, the Ivy Day program, senior poem, and a list of the graduates.

The committee announces a reduction in the price this year. The leather invitations will be sold at 25 cents apiece and the paper ones at two for 25 cents. The engraved announcements will be sold at 5 cents apiece. The proceeds will be turned into the class treasury.

California.

Tennis has been going for some time and a great amount of good material has turned out. The 1914 team has been selected and it is supposed to be the strongest team that has ever represented California. They are to meet Stanford in the near future and they are confident that they will be returned the victors. Five matches are to be played—three singles and two doubles—and the championship will go to the winner of the three matches.

NEBRASKA BASEBALL

OLD TIME PLAYER DISCUSSES SITUATION WITH REPORTER.

ADVISES DEPARTMENT TEAMS

Ag College Has Good Team Started—Plenty of Material for Nines From Law, Engineering and Other Colleges

"Do you want me to give you a hunch for your newspaper?" said an old time ball player to a reporter yesterday. The invitation seemed like a bid to heaven or the next big formal to the hungry ears of the scribe. He lingered long and listened with a zeal.

Young cub got out his bat, gave the old timer the signal, and this is what he spun:

"Since Nebraska has decided that they don't want a regular ball team we fellows around here who like to throw the pill around a little get pretty itchy about this time of the year. There's something in the air that seems to haunt you and visions of a hot day with a crowded bleacher occasionally steal across your home plate.

"I think that we ought to have some baseball here at Nebraska right now. I have been talking it over with some of the fellows and we came to the conclusion that the best solution to the problem is to establish a league with a team from each department college. The Ags are planning on having a hummer of a team and have commenced work already. The Laws have Haskell, Flory, with many other equally famous players; the Engineers, Medics and other colleges have just as promising material. It isn't the absence of material which is putting the damper on this baseball proposition—what we need is some one to start something and work up an organization.

"The benefits of such a league would be manifold. The main benefit it would donate to the University would be to keep college baseball players in shape so that if Conference rules

MANAGER FORTUNATE IN SECURING CORNHUSKERS

Sale of These Extras Will Be Held Early Next Week—Prize Announcements Soon.

Manager Swift of the Cornhusker returned yesterday from a trip to Omaha, where he had made arrangements for the printing of two hundred more books, fifty of which are de luxe. The reason for this action is due to the fact that many unfortunate students, those who were not on the campus during the days of the sale and those not having the ready cash, might secure copies for their libraries. The sale of these books will be held some time next week.

In response to the question as to why he has not announced the winners of the Cornhuskers offered the first morning of the sale, Manager Swift smiles and says, "I've just simply got too many things on my mind now, but before long I'll be ready to make the announcement."
