GIRLS PROPOSE SUPPORT-ING FOREIGN MISSIONARY

Expense Will Be $1,500.00—Many Other Schools Support Several —Nebraska Next.

A new and important undertaking was launched by the University Y. W. C. A. cabinet a few nights ago at a supper held by the cabinet and the advisory board. Miss Frances Taft, Y. W. C. A. secretary from Shanghai, China, and Miss Blanchard, a national student secretary, were the guests for the evening. Miss Taft gave an extremely interesting account of the response of the Chinese women to the association plans and work. She described the way in which they organized, financed and directed the associations in the great cities. In Shanghai the advisory board, consisting entirely of Chinese women, undertakes a budget of more than six thousand dollars, employing three Chinese secretaries, renting the buildings, etc. In Shanghai and elsewhere the Chinese women stand ready to do all this for themselves, but they appeal to this country for the leadership and training they themselves are not yet able to supply. Miss Taft was sent out by her own college, Wellesley, three years ago, and has witnessed the marvellous changes of these years in China. Buddhist, Mohammedan, Taoist and Confucian women are joining the Y. W. C. A. classes, and are becoming members of the Bible classes and are attending the religious services. Foreign leadership is a necessity in the early stages of this work for many reasons, but the demand far outruns the supply. Miss Taft is in this country to arouse American women to this crisis in China.

A Nebraska woman, Miss Grace Coppock, a graduate of our State University in 1905, has been placed at the head of all the Y. W. C. A. work in the Chinese empire. She has shown such remarkable ability in many directions that she has been rapidly advanced to this position of great responsibility. Miss Taft suggested that it would be a great thing for the University Y. W. C. A. to undertake Miss Coppock's support.

Miss Blanchard then spoke of what other universities were doing in the foreign field. Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Oberlin support their own missions. Wellesley maintains three secretaries, and proposes to send out a fourth. Vassar provides for the training of native workers in this country. Michigan sustains an entire station in Arabia, and Chicago has her secretary, Miss Melcher, in Calcutta, and so on. When the university body finds the right kind of a graduate to put into an important place there is much enthusiasm in raising the necessary funds.

Miss Finney then called for an expression of opinion about the support of Miss Coppock by the University of Nebraska Y. W. C. A. Miss Graham, dean of women, and Mrs. Hinman were asked to speak for the advisory board. They recognized that this was the biggest proposition ever brought before the association, but they appreciated that it was a great opportunity in many ways, and sure to meet with a wide response. A general discussion of the project by the cabinet was then opened, and one speech followed another in rapid fire. All the speakers were enthusiastic over the possibility. No dissenting voice was heard. Its practical phases were freely considered, and many excellent suggestions were made. All the speakers agreed on two points: that it would be a splendid thing to do, and that the University girls could do it. "What Nebraska girls undertake to do they put through." The entire sum to be raised would be $1,500, including salary ($800), house rent, traveling expenses, printing, etc., medical care, insurance, etc. Miss Esther Bennett was called to the chair, and the motion was formally presented that the University Y. W. C. A. assume the support of Miss Grace Coppock for the coming year. The motion was seconded and was unanimously carried.

People We Know.

Dr. J. H. Gain, animal pathologist of the State Farm, received a fractured foot Friday forenoon when a horse which he was treating rolled over on him. The accident occurred north of Lincoln.

The alumni of the Ord High School met with Rosalie Williams last night at 835 South Fifteenth street.

Ethel Ollis of Kearney is visiting in the city. Miss Ollis is teaching domestic science in the Kearney Normal School.

SENIOR INVITATION SALE NOT UP TO EXPECTATIONS

Only as Many as Students Order Will Be Sent For—Invitations Are Classy.

The sale on invitations was not as heavy Thursday and Friday as had been expected. People seemed short on finances and lacking in the knowledge of how many relatives and friends they possessed. Consequently one more chance will be given, and in the meantime all who desire, or think they may later desire, invitations, had better be busy in determining their wants. On account of the deficit in class finances this year, the committee is making a strenuous effort to clear a good sized amount of money. Consequently no risks will be taken. Just so many invitations will be ordered by the committee as are ordered in the receipt books. There will be no "last day" sale. According to the present outlook, if another day's sale brought as much profit as Friday's, a respectable amount might be cleared for the class. The invitations are meeting with pronounced satisfaction this year. They are different from anything presented heretofore by the classes. They sell in other colleges, in exactly the same style, for 30 cents. So appreciate the opportunity of something extra fine for a nominal price. The engraved announcements are a convenient and reasonable means of notifying your friends of commencement without the high cost of the more elaborate invitations. Watch the bulletin boards for notice of a future sale.

INSTALLED TODAY

Bell, a graduate of Iowa University and member there of Kappa chapter, at present continuing his work at Nebraska. After the installation the new members will gather for a dinner, there to make plans for the rest of the year.

Sigma chapter, the Nebraska addition, is the eighteenth to be established of Sigma Delta Chi. The fraternity was founded at De Pauw University in 1905, and since then has had a rapid growth among the universities of the middle west and the coast. It is confining its extension to those universities where journalistic courses are given, or where strong student publications are put out. Indiana petitioned about the same time as Nebraska, and the Indiana Rho chapter was installed last week.

The charter members of the new chapter are Chandler Trimble, Ernest Graves, John Cutright, Ralph Northrup, C. N. Brown, Fred Babcock, Charles Epperson, Frank S. Perkins, R. F. Clark, Kenneth Snyder, Richard Lyman, Leon Samuelson, M. V. Reed. Babcock will not be able to be present, owing to the serious illness of his mother.
