CORNHUSKERS TO BE ON SALE WEDNESDAY

Last Chance Given Tardy Ones to Order Annual—Price of Leftovers Goes Up.

Cornhuskers will be on sale tomorrow on the campus at regular prices. Manager Swift has had so many calls for the big book that he has arranged for an additional number of the books. Many were unable for one reason or another to buy them when on sale several days ago. The deposit required will be the same as before: one dollar for the Standard, and one dollar and fifty cents for the De Luxe edition. Tomorrow is, however, positively the last chance that can be offered. The late ones must prod themselves a bit if they are to get in "under the wire." If there are any more books after this sale, the Standard edition will sell for three dollars instead of fifty cents; but there will be no further chance to order De Luxe books, since it is necessary to know at once the names to be placed on each copy.

The following students will take subscriptions: Ruth Squires, R. V. Koupal, Karl Janouch Russell Swift, Reed Dawson, Joe Ferris, Waldo Hahn, Merrill Reed, "Mike" Potet, Elizabeth Hyde, Gladys Bunt, Cornhusker office.

HALLIGAN WAS CHOSEN
CAPTAIN YESTERDAY

1900. The second man to captain the team two successive seasons was one of the greatest football heroes ever turned out by old Nebraska. The name of John Westover is too well known to say more. "Twister" Bender led the team in 1903. What memories that name recalls. In 1904 Maurice Benedict piloted the team. Charles Borg led in 1905, and by John Glen Mason in 1906, and John Weller in 1907. James B. Harvey was captain in 1908. Orin Betzer in 1909, Leroy Temple in 1910, Sylvia Shonka in 1911, Ernest Frank in 1912, Leonard Purdy in 1913, and Victor Halligan for 1914.

RECEPTION HELD FOR SENIOR GIRLS SATURDAY

Given by the Association of Collegiate Alumni—Interesting Entertainment.

A large number of senior girls were entertained Saturday afternoon by the Association of Collegiate Alumni at the home of Mrs. A. W. Field. Miss Edith Lucile Robbins gave a recital of English poets in song. The selections consisted of short poems of Browning, Moore, Stevenson and Tennyson. Mrs. G. W. Taylor told briefly of the work of the association and pointed out the benefits to be derived from membership in the organization. The association has established many fellowships and has raised the entrance and graduation requirements of many colleges and universities.

It also forms a social center for the college women who are away from home, any by its organized effort is a powerful factor in educational reform movements. No membership uledges were requested at this time, as another entertainment will be held later for the senior girls.

California.

Last Saturday morning saw the defeat of California's two crews in the tenth annual rowing contest. Although the men fought hard up to the finish, they were unable to stay with their more experienced foemen. Washington, the winner of the contest, beat Stanford by five lengths, and California by eight lengths. The time of the winner was 19 minutes and 58 seconds. This is an increase over last year's time, but the tide was against the men, instead of with them.

The "Annual Letter" of the Alpha chapter was given out after the banquet. This publication contains letters from each of the chapters and from the alumni members of the Alpha chapter. Besides letters from the states of New York, California, Texas, Idaho, Nevada, Pennsylvania, and Oregon, word from J. C. Stevens, now in Spain; from D. L. Cramer, Burma, India, as well as letters from British Columbia and the Republic of Panama were contained in the "Annual Letter."

The next meeting place of the national conclave of the Sigma Tau fraternity will be decided by the individual chapters and announced later. The two days allotted for the disposal of the regular business were not more than half long enough for many matters of importance were only touched upon.

After having had a picture taken at St. George's Studio the visitors were taken on a sight-seeing tour on the downtown campus Saturday afternoon.

At the initiation held Friday afternoon William Kirk Fowler, Jr., and Alvin C. Smith were taken into the local chapter.

GEOLOGY CLASS SPENT TWO LAYS ON THE MISSOURI.

Studied Rock Formations and Plant
Growths—Spent Night in Barn of Pleasant Farmer.

The field class in physiography, under Professor Bengston, assisted by Professor Gilmore of the State Historical Society, spent Friday and Saturday studying land forms along the Missouri river. The party, twenty-nine in all, proceeded the first day from Union, near the mouth of Weeping Water creek, northeast about ten miles.

Besides the study of physiography, the forests, the rebeaceous plants, and the Indian history of the region were explained in some detail.

The party spent Friday night in the haymow of a kind-hearted farmer, where hay, instead of blankets was used to keep out the chilly air. Before retiring a portion of the party built a fire on the bank of the Missouri—to warm the water, they say—and enjoyed a plunge in Old Muddy.

The second day brought an unpleasant change in weather, but disregarding bodily feeling the studies and the like were continued to the northward. A tired, muddy, though not unhappy crew wandered into Plattsmouth during the afternoon and boarded the train for Lincoln.

Missouri.

Last Thursday night the University of Missouri and the University of Colorado held their annual debate in the University auditorium. At the same time another team from Missouri spoke against the University of Texas at Austin. The subject of these debates is, "Resolved, That a literacy test along the lines of the Dillingham-Burnett bill, vetoed by William H. Taft, when president of the United States, should be required of all im-
