UNIVERSITY MEN TO JUDGE

Question Deals With Regulation of the Trusts Instead of Dissolving Them—University Band First on the Program.

The seventh annual state debate of the Nebraska High School Debating League, numbering about seventy schools, will be held in Memorial Hall this morning, beginning sharp at ten o'clock. Twelve contestants, representing the schools that in the district contests during February-April won the first honors in the twelve districts into which the league is divided, will discuss the league question for the year, "Resolved, That the policy of regulating trusts is preferable to the policy of dissolving them."

The judges will be Dean W. G. Hastings of the College of Law; Prof. George N. Foster, Law, and Prof. G. A. Stephens, Political Economy. Prof. Edwin Maxey, Law, and C. L. Rein, '13, Law '15, will keep time. Prof. M. M. Fogg, professor of rhetoric, president of the league, will preside.

The University Cadet Band will introduce the program, and Mrs. Carrie Raymond, director of University music, will render organ solos while the judges are conferring.

Bion J. Arnold Honored by Sigma Tau
B. J. Arnold, the Chicago engineer, who was in Lincoln last week as toastmaster of the Engineers' banquet, was entertained at an informal luncheon at the Commercial Club Saturday noon at the guest of Dean Stout. About twenty-five were in attendance, including members of the engineering faculty and prominent engineers of the city who were acquainted with Mr. Arnold.

At the close of the luncheon the president of the local chapter announced Mr. Arnold's election to membership in Sigma Tau, the honorary engineering fraternity, and presented him with the emblem of the order.

GREAT BENEFITS TO THE STUDENTS SAY REGENTS.

Fine Arts Should Be Cultivated Think Professor—People Now in a Critical Stage.

The Board of Regents, in placing their financial support back of the May Musical Festival, is embarking on a course which will prove of inestimable value to the University as a whole and especially to the student body. A prominent professor remarked recently that the School of Fine Arts, if permitted to develop to its highest possibilities, would be of more benefit to the state at large than any other department of the University. The reason for such a statement is not hard to find. Students who develop along highly cultural lines are always keenest in acquiring technical training. Contact with the highest thinkers of the world, whether in music, art, or literature, produces a type of mind which is by all odds superior to that of the man of the street or even to that of the technically trained man.

In the realm of music, for instance, an appreciation of the works of the masters means a type of mind which is in the first place receptive, plastic. Furthermore, it is an index of the broad-mindedness of the individual for music speaks in a language which is best understood when one understands humanity.

We are at a critical stage in our national music. Shall we permit ourselves to develop musically along the line of the primitive, sensuous type indicated by our present dance music, or shall we follow a more intellectual trend and listen to the thoughts of the master minds? Our own lack of appreciation of good music is probably through lack of opportunity of hearing it. There is plenty of variety in high-class music to satisfy the cravings of any individual without deadening the intellect by being submerged in a mass of chaotic sounds and rhythms. That our university public is appreciative of this better class is indicated by the fact that the symphony programs which have been given during the year have always been attended by crowds which packed Memorial hall. So, in bringing the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra to us the Board of Regents is starting a movement which may mean the ultimate regeneration of our attitude toward music.

STUDENT COUNCIL QUIET.

Adjourned Shortly After Assemblage Thursday—Future Meetings and Work Very Indefinite.

The student council convention adjourned immediately after assembling on Thursday morning, inasmuch as there was not a quorum present. The meetings have been postponed indefinitely, as there seems to be little interest in the subject of a student council for Nebraska.

PERSONNEL OF THE STATE BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

Daniel J. Killen, President, Beatrice.
Orel Jones, Treasurer, Oconto.
L. W. McConnell, First Vice President, McCook.
Samuel Ewing, Second Vice President, Creston.
J. Earl Harper, Secretary, Clearwater.

All prospective pharmacists are profoundly interested in the "State Board," because it is either a stumbling block or a stepping stone to success. It is a barrier which we all must pass, without its official stamp we may not call ourselves pharmacists. Every practicing pharmacist is deeply interested in the members of the board, because they set the standard of the men who are admitted to the profession.

Outside the "quiz" rooms the members of the board are really nice fellows, polished and genial as all pharmacists should be.

Dan J. Killen, the senior member of the board, hails from Beatrice, where he has conducted a store for several years. The only criticism we can find to inflict on Mr. Killen is that his political duties have become so heavy that we are in constant fear of losing him.

Mr. Harper of Clearwater is a busy, conscientious business man. He represents a class of men that never fail, no matter where duty may call them. During his term on the state board he has made it his personal duty to see that there should be no grounds for criticism.

Mr. Orel Jones of Oconto tends the money end of the deal. "Jones pays the freight," and he does it every time. He is a good Indian, and doesn't care what you call him.

Mr. L. W. McConnell of McCook is one of the oldest druggists in the state. He came to McCook in the early days and has grown up with the country. He is respected and well liked in his community. He has acquired a reputation of keeping nothing but high grade stock and his customers feel confident that goods bought at his store are up to standard. With this end in view he has built up a substantial business and has reaped his just reward.

Mr. Samuel Ewing is the latest addition to the board. He represents the progressive spirit of the time. He stands for higher education and a higher standard for pharmacists. Through the efforts of men of his calibre the pharmacy profession is gradually being lifted up to the top of the pedestal of professions where it rightfully belongs.

All in all, the members of the board are a type of men that we are glad to have in our midst.

KUBIK BROTHERS BUY STUDENT SUITORIUM

Business Has Been Run by H. G. Hewitt During Past Year—Purchasers Are Well Known.

Ted and "Lod" Kubik of Clarkson have purchased the Students' Sutorium at 510 North Fourteenth street and will conduct the business next year. This firm does work exclusively for University men. It was stated started two years ago by D. D. Marcellus and H. G. Hewitt, and this year has been operated by the latter, who was a member of the victorious debating team against Minnesota last fall. He has brought the business to a high state of efficiency and leaves it only that he may have more time for other activities next year.

The new proprietors are well known. Ted Kubik won second in the half-mile at Ames, Saturday, and will be a freshman law next year. "Lod" will be a sophomore in the Arts college. They will continue the business along its present lines, retaining the Royal Tailor agency. Plans are being considered for the addition of machinery to handle ladies' work.
