UNIVERSITY FRESHMEN

WIN FROM HIGH SCHOOL

ing from the South Omaha High School debating team in a thoroughly interesting debate on woman suffrage. Though the three judges decided against the local team, the high school boys acquitted themselves in a very creditable manner. Favoring suffrage in Nebraska, the local team found difficulty in meeting the numerous arguments against "votes for women" of the champion team of the State University.

The University was represented by A. J. Covert, A. R. Swenson and E. D. Kiddoo.

On the South Omaha team were Merle Curti, Frank Faux and Garwood Richardson.

The judges were R. C. Hunter, E. R. Burke and H. H. Baldrige, all of Omaha.

That the school boys know something of politics at the present time was clearly shown in the debate last evening. Arguments for and against suffrage that showed a wide range of political study came thick and fast, as one after another of the debaters spoke. National politics and the political situations in various localities were discussed by the young debaters with an aptness that astounded many older people in the audience which filled the auditorium.

Anti-Suffrage Argument.

The University boys in a logical manner proved that there is a fundamental differentiation between a man and a woman. This the affirmative was forced to admit. The justice argument of the affirmative was met by statistics showing that thus far where women have the ballot it has simply doubled the indifferent vote. This showing was one of the hardest blows for the affirmative. The negative further argued that men make laws for the entire community and not for men alone, and therefore the women really are represented in the lawmaking bodies of the country.

Taken as a whole the debate was one of the most interesting and entertaining that has been held in the local high school auditorium.

STEEL PIPE INDUSTRY

EXPLAINED BY BART

Entire Process From Ore in Mine to the Finished Product—Films and Slides Used.

Through the activity of the A. S. M. E. and Prof. J. D. Hoffman, the engineers were fortunate in hearing B. F. Bart of the National Pipe Company, Thursday night, on the subject of "Steel Pipe." It was one of the most instructive meetings of the year and of the 150 that were present, both members of the Engineering College and the Engineers' Club of Lincoln, all were well pleased. Mr. Bart, after being introduced by Dean Stout, took the visitors through the manufacture of steel pipe from the mine to the finished product. By means of the three reels of pictures and the many instructive lantern slides that he had, one gained a very concise conception of this great industry. He first took his listeners through the process of locating the ore, which they find in northern Minnesota. This is the work of their geologists.

Owing to the fact that the ore has to be transported by boat on the lakes, large ore bins have been constructed of structural steel to store the ore in during the time that the lakes are not open to transport. The mechanical features used in the handling of the ore are of the most modern and interesting types. The work is all done mechanically, not requiring any great amount of labor. Lake whollers as large as the ocean-going vessels, can be loaded in forty minutes. The largest of these boats are about 600 feet long. In unloading the boats an automatic scoop is used which does not require the presence of a man in the boat, thus eliminating a great element of danger.

The speaker followed the ore through the process of smelting, converting, blooming, and finally, rolling into sheets, which are then rolled and the seam welded by either the butt or lap-weld.

Mr. Bart requested that any one could ask questions regarding any points which were not clear. This opportunity was taken advantage of by many and this added interest to the meeting.

On the whole, the meeting was one of the most interesting of the year and those who missed this meeting are the losers.

SOPHS ENTERTAIN FRIENDS AT CAPITAL BEACH BALL

White Pants and Fancy Summer
 Gowns Arrayed—Hot Weather
 Only Drawback.

The Sophomore Hop held at Capital Beach last Saturday night proved to one of the terpsichorean hits of the season. Balmly spring weather, smart dressed dames, dreamy music, and a fine gathering of young men were the important elements in the success of the evening.

Jack Emley, with Miss Ethel Hollingsworth and Irving Frost with Miss Lelabeth Farrell led the grand promenade and the other important society lights of the sophomore and other classes followed in quick succession.

The "loop-the-loop" and other circus attractions were lighted for the occasion and were used successfully as a means of cutting undesirable dances.

Although "rawther warm," all enjoyed themselves and pronounced it as one of the important dates in tango history.

COMMITTEEMAN BANQUET TO BE HELD IN TEMPLE

Governor Morehead to Head Speaking List—Wind Up of Plans for Next Year.

A committeeman banquet has been arranged by the social committee of the University Y. M. C. A. for next Wednesday evening in the Temple banquet hall. Governor Morehead is the guest of honor and heads the list of speakers. Professor Hoffman is to preside and State Chairman E. J. Simonds will give an appropriate talk.

This will be the last meeting of the committees and University men for this school year and this meeting, with those they have been having during the past few weeks, will leave the men in excellent shape for the campaign which will commence with the opening of school next fall.

OLUS

Turn Your Shirt Tails Into Drawers
 WHAT GOOD ARE SHIRT TAILS
 ANYWAY?

In OLUS the outside shirt and under-drawers are one garment. This means that the shirt can't work out of the trousers, that there are no shirt tails to bunch in the seat, that the drawers "stay put," to say nothing of the comfort and economy of saving a garment. Olus is coat cut, opens all the way down—closed crotch, closed back. See illustration. $1.50 to $10

For golf, tennis and field wear, we recommend the special attached collar OLUS with regular or short sleeves

OLUS one-piece Pajamas for lounging, resting and comfortable sleep. Made on the same principle as OLUS Shirts—coat cut, closed back, closed crotch. $1.50 to $8.50.
