CHANCELLOR SPOKE

GAVE WELCOMING ADDRESS AT A CROWDED CONVOCATION.

DISCUSSED WAR SITUATION

Presented Hainer Cup to the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity—Commended President Wilson Highly.

Chancellor Avery was introduced by Prof. Grumann and after presenting the Hainer scholarship cup to the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity immediately took up the European situation. He spoke of the new burdens being created by the great conflict and then proceeded to draw several lessons from this warfare.

First he told of the value of good-will as an asset not only to the individual but also to a country. Speaking of the relation of our country to the other powers, he said, "Probably nothing has done more to secure and retain for us the good-will of the nations than the fact that our government has always been free from secret treaties, hidden alliances and clandestine diplomatic negotiations of all kinds. Because American diplomacy has been generally frank and open, we have nothing to arouse the suspicions of foreign lands and little to stimulate their animosity."

Good Will as Local Asset.

"If good will is shown to be a great national asset; it should take no argument to prove that it is a great local and state and university asset. Strife as distinguished from friendly contests between sections of a village or a city, between rival towns, between the capital and the metropolis, between classes and students in the university, between 'frat' and 'barb' is indescribably foolish. I think that the

CADET BAND WILL BE STRONGEST IN YEARS

Many Freshmen Try Out—Most Old Men Are Back—Will Play at Aksarben.

In a recent conversation with one of the reporters Mr. Cornell, director of the band gave the following information:

More and better men have appeared in the tryouts this year than ever before. Enough Freshmen have tried out with their various instruments to form a complete band. Besides these, almost all of the old men have returned, and are on the job. The new men will drill with the Freshmen for two weeks, then on the recommendation of the director, subject to the approval of the Commandant, they will be transferred to the band.

With such a line-up of old men and the new material, the director thinks the band ought to show a spirit never before reached. Already big things are being planned; a two days' engagement at the Aksarben will be one of the "joys of the band boys." Other plans along with the names the members will appear in a later issue.

Polliteness has been well defined as benevolence in small things.—Macaulay.

STUDENT DIRECTORY GOES TO PRESS SOON

Tables Will be on Sampus Thursday and Friday—Everyone Urged to Give Correct Address.

Manager Charlesworth of this year's student directory, announced yesterday that on Thursday and Friday tables would be stationed at various points on the campus for the purpose of getting the proper addresses and phone numbers of the students.

"The publication goes to press Monday," said Charlesworth, "and if any student did not register his address properly during registration week or neglected to register his location or phone because of not knowing his exact place of abode for the future, he will be given an opportunity upon either of these two days to rectify the address and phone given the registrar."

Fraternity, sorority and members of others organizations have the privilege of registering their affiliations as well as their street and phone numbers.

It is the ambition of both Editor Hewitt and Business Manager Charlesworth to have a most complete student directory in the hands of the students at the earliest possible date and they say that, "only with the cooperation of the student body can such an ambition be realized."

AWGWAN LAUNCHES FORTH ON BIG YEAR

Old Prominent Men Back—Cartoonists Galore—More and Better New Features.

The Awgwan is fortunate this year in having an excellent staff. Peanut Hill and W. F. Noble have both signified their intention to contribute to "Awgwan." "Peanut Hill" is well known to old Nebraskans for his brilliant work as Senior Editor of the 1912 "Cornhusker" and as Associate Editor of the Nebraskan. He will take a prominent place on the "Awgwan," writing a page to be known as "Hither and Yon." Mr. Noble is especially valuable as a member of the staff having had a year's experience with the "Dartmouth Jack O'Lantern," one of the most famous of eastern college magazines of humor. There are several other new members of the staff who promise to make the Awgwan interesting. Mr. Anderson of Peru, a brother of Edo Anderson whose clever cartoons were the feature of the 1911 Cornhusker, will cartoon for the "Awgwan." Errold Misko who has had a year of Commercial designing in a Chicago art school and who has done professional work as a cartoonist, is another of the new Awgwan artists. Lyman Thomas, whose cartoons in last year's "Cornhusker" displayed such originality is another of the staff. Mr. Ball, C. O'Dean, and Updegraff, who cartooned last year will again be members of the staff. L. E. Slack needs no introduction to University students. His clever cartoons have made his name well known at Nebraska. He will be assisted by the following members of last year's staff: Ralph Northrup, Bert Taylor, Glen Ruhy, Ernest Graves, Ruth Odell, Lucille Leyda, and "Noah Lot."

The prospects for an excellent line-up of features has never been better in the career of the Awgwan.

FROSH INITIATIONS

KICK OFF FOR GAME THROUGH UNIVERSITY CAREER.

BAND TO PLAY GOOD MUSIC

Big Speakers on the List and Not a Freshman is Expected to be Seen Outside of Memorial Hall.

Last night while some of the world was asleep the Innocents planned one of the biggest events ever scheduled for the incoming Nebraska freshmen. The event is freshmen initiation to be held in Memorial Hall on tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. This active organization is more than anxious to make this the rousing feature of the school year because no little comment has floated over the campus in regard to the exceptionally fine lot of young fellows, the University has been so fortunate in adding to its ranks during the past registration.

The University Cadet Band will thrill the young fellows with that spirit which every loyal Cornhusker can not help but acquire when he stands in the presence of fellow students and listens to those good old strains of the band. Immediately after the band has played the introductory pieces of "pep" inspiring music all of the fellows will find their way into the convocation hall and stand if necessary rather than leave a stone unturned in the success of this one big event which means, who knows how much, to the incoming and future big men of the University of Nebraska.

Fred M. Hunter, the man we all will not take the new man long to become acquainted with, will make the introductory speech—and then the thing is on. Would you, could you miss this, you, Mr. Freshman? Guy Reed assisted by Captain Halligan of

CHORUS REGISTRATION STILL REMAINS OPEN

Men Finding Afternoon Hour Inconvenient May Take Evening Work Seven to Eight O'Clock.

Registration for University Chorus, M., W., F., 5 p. m., is still open. One hour credit each semester is given for the work. All men who find the 5 o'clock hour inconvenient or impossible may substitute M., 7-8 p. m., for Monday and Wednesday at 5. A large chorus is especially desired—an account of the May Festival. Last May the chorus won considerable praise from the Minneapolis Orchestra for the quality of its work. This year the Damrosch Orchestra has been engaged and the Nebraskans are anxious to show the New Yorkers that their western University actively supports broad cultural interests.

The program of work outlined for this year will be ready for publication in the near future.

"One of the great advantages of chorus work," says Mrs. Raymond, "is that it enables the student to become intimately acquainted with the great works of musical art. No student interested in music should miss such an opportunity."

MATTERS OF ELECTION BEGINNING TO MOVE

Halligan, Football Captain, Has Announced Himself—Harley May Speak Soon.

Considering the nearness of election, there has been little interest shown as to the candidates for the office of president in the various classes for the ensuing semester. Most of the men who last year hinted that they would come out have been laying low. Now is usually the time for all candidates to begin electioneering. "Vic" Halligan, of football fame, has announced himself as a candidate for senior president. "Bob" Harley is considering coming out for the same office. The freshmen and juniors have nobody lined up as yet. Frank Hixenbaugh, a member of the Delta Chi fraternity, has announced that he will be a candidate for sophomore president. Last year Frank was prominent in all school affairs.

Ohio Freshman Caps.

"All freshmen must wear caps this year," says Edmund N. Yantes, chairman of the student council cap committee at Ohio State University. A vigilance committee of sophomores is to be appointed by the student council to see that the caps are worn at all times.—The Oberlin Review.

CONVOCATION FOR FRESHMEN GIRLS

In the Temple at Eleven—Prominent Classmen Will Speak—Chancellor Listed for Talk.

Thursday morning at the Temple a special convocation will be held for freshman girls. The girls of the senior society, Black Masque, will have charge of this convocation, and a splendid program has been prepared. Miss Graham, the dean of women, will talk on subjects of especial interest to freshmen girls, and Chancellor Avery will give a brief speech. Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond will lead in the singing of college songs, and also talk on the plans of the Chorus for this year. Then the following Black Masque girls will give speeches: Genevieve Lowry, "The Girls' Club," Esther Bennett, "The Y. W. C. A.," and Mable Sterne, "Football." The president of the Black Masque, Freda Stuff, will preside. All freshmen girls are urged to come out to this convocation.

To Get Value Out of Books.

This is an age when the tendency to bolt and not digest our material as well as intellectual food is very prevalent. Personally it has taken me many years to learn the lesson that merely to read good books and put them aside may almost be regarded as a waste of time. A book worth reading at all should be made part of yourself, and that is the value of owning it.—Winston Churchill.

Missouri Enrollment.

The University enrollment at the end of the fifth day was 2,334. At the close of the fifth day last year the enrollment was 2,213. The total enrollment for the regular session last year was 2,225. The increase this year will be about 125 or 130.—University Missourian.

FOOTBALL "MOVIES"

DR. CONDRA MUST HAVE EVEN MORE FOOTBALL PICTURES.

HALLIGAN, RUTHERFORD POSE

Temporary Line-up Plays Before the Clicking Machine—Even the Tackling Dummy Played a Part.

(By H. I. Kyle.)

At 3 o'clock yesterday H. S. Chenoweth appeared on the gridiron with his motion picture camera. Forthwith the sixty and over, prospective "Ns" were guided through various wierd and apparently meaningless operations and tactics by the coaches while the camera clicked. Five full teams were mobilized and sent scurrying through signal practice before the searching eye of the "jit show" maker. Punts were kicked and returned, passe were made and returned, the ball was fallen upon countless of times, the tackling dummy was jerked from his moorings till his foolish head swam, and lastly the twin terrors, Halligan and Rutherford, were photographed in a peppery little dialogue stunt. Altogether the picture man wound up about two hundred and fifty feet of film, which will be sent to various picture shows over the state.

Coach Stiehm lined up a tentative varsity eleven, which he put through a snappy signal practice before the camera. The line-up was as follows: Center—Cameron. Guards—Shields and Abbott. Tackles—Corey and Norris. Ends—Capt. Halligan and Balis. Quarter-back—Howard. Half-backs—Rutherford and Wilson. Full-back—Chamberlain.

Of course it is much too early to pick the team but this line-up gives some idea of the possibilities.

CAMPAIGN STILL ON FOR ANOTHER DAY

The Club Offer of Nebraskan and Awgwan Takes Well—Results Encouraging.

The promising list of features which Awgwan offers for the year, and the reduction of the subscription for two semesters from a dollar and a quarter to one dollar have caused a rush of subscriptions to pour into the office. The business manager is enthusiastic and says:

"Our subscription campaign is coming along better than ever before. It is possible, however, to put out a magazine of this character at such a conservative price only when a large percentage of students are subscribers."

"Awgwan hopes to accurately voice the sentiment of the Cornhusker. We invite the frank comment and criticism of every student. We want every student of literary aspirations to submit his serious or humorous contributions, cartoons, to the editorial staff."

There is one more day of the subscription campaign and the management looks forward to an even bigger business today.

No man can hold off from affairs and count himself a faithful citizen of the Republic.—Woodrow Wilson.
