COMMERCE SCHOOL MAKES BIG STRIDES

Head of Department Greatly Pleased—
Students From Other Universities
Come Here to Get Course.

Prof. LeRossignol announced yesterday that there were between 150 and 200 enrolled in the School of Commerce. This large enrollment is an excellent response to the efforts of the professors who have worked hard in building and arranging this branch of the University. The courses given are ones which appeal to every one upon the campus because of their thoroughness and direct bearing upon after life. Many students are realizing that the professions are overcrowded and that there is plenty of room for all in the great business world. They are consequently taking advantage of the opportunity which they have of getting the work they desire.

While particular attention is paid to these branches of work which a business man meets every day in practice, nevertheless the culture side is not neglected.

Much attention is paid to rhetoric, economics, philosophy, etc., so that a broad education is the result.

The School of Commerce gives a three years' course in accounting. There are over 100 enrolled in the first year class in elementary accounting. The second year is spent on advanced accounting and the third year is devoted to auditing. This course thoroughly prepares a man to take the examinations of certified public accountant.

In the classes of commercial and industrial geography there are also over 100 enrolled, the class in business law is again under Prof. Robbins of the Law College, who made such a success of the work last year. This course has been changed this year from a two-hour class to a three as it was found last year that the work could not be satisfactorily carried on in two hours.

Nebraska may well boast of this branch of our University because it is the only school of its kind in the Valley. Chicago has a School of Commerce and Minnesota gives the same class of work as Nebraska but she has no particular school.

There are several students enrolled from other states who have come here especially for this work.

We Certainly Got Smart Young Dresser
Headed Our Way By "Coming Across" With

"Matched-Back" Suits

You very particular dressers who insist that every detail in the style, fit and quality of your clothes there must be "just so"—you would never have selected a more desirable feature than now makes "Stratford" Clothes the most desirable suits ever created for young men.

*Clothes That Match Perfectly in the Back,
The Newest Discovery in Modern Tailoring.*

Only a few of the leading stores in America were able to secure this feature for fall, owing to the inability of "Stratford" tailors to supply every city the first season. Matching clothes in the back requires the highest tailoring skill; that's why

STRATFORD CLOTHES LOOK BETTER, FIT BETTER AND GIVE LONGER SERVICE

than any other ready-to-wear clothes. We want you hard-to-please young men to see these equal-to-custom-tailored clothes. The little expense we have here enables us to offer these suits

New Instructor.

Mr. Silvester of Princeton is the new instructor in the men's physical educational department. He comes directly from Erie, Pa., where he had charge of the playgrounds during the summer. Mr. Silvester takes the position of Mr. Reynolds who is now in business in Chicago.

Kansas Enrollment Jumps.

Enrollment has been increasing rapidly from the first day. On Friday evening 2,107 students had registered, an increase of 124 over Friday's total last year.

The plan of enrollment is entirely new this fall, and is proving very satisfactory. It was formulated by the enrollment committee, of which Miss Jessie Machir, registrar, is the chairman.—The Kansas State Collegian.
