MONDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1914

Of course we are all going to attend Convocation tomorrow.

We will all agree that General Kluck hasn't had much of an opportunity to crow.

Sorry, Washburn, but we had to do it. You know how it is. You are a nice bunch, though, and you "blue devils" are hereby given our permission to beat Kansas.

And now the question is, Will "Vic" prove as invincible in the election tomorrow as he was on the football field Saturday?

THE BUSINESS OF BEING A STUDENT.

(From the American Educational Review.)

Being an undergraduate student in the twentieth century university or college of the United States is quite as much an undertaking, in its way, as that involved in the career-making responsibilities of the great actual business world.

The young man entering college is fired with ambition to do things, and opportunity opens for him her doors immediately upon matriculation. He finds himself at once listed in a race which is to be won or lost from countless standards. The competition is keen in scholarship, keener yet perhaps in character weaving and reputation making. Instinct beckons him to contest, and he goes out for athletics. He may aspire to leadership, social or religious. Whatever his bent, he goes out for it, if he is earnest, and he makes a business of it.

Devotion of a collegian to the task of making his varsity football eleven becomes a drudgery which would ap-pal the contemporary youth in the world of every-day business. The adherence to a prescribed diet, the hard practice every day, the remorseless hours of early retiring, the relentless espionage of faculty scholarship requirements, the whole program of the prospective gridiron hero is exacting to the point of harshness. And yet he makes it his business.

The bookish student finds himself, perhaps, to every activity outside the classroom, the study and the libraries, and before all else he places the Phi Beta Kappa key, the badge of scholarship honor. It is his business.

THE FORUM

To the Editor of the Daily Nebraskan: In an account of the meeting of the University Howell Club, we learn that there are twenty-five "Wilson Republicans" in that organization. The existence of a Wilson Republican is as plausible as that of a white blackbird.

President Wilson represents the highest form of Democracy. The legislation carried out by the present Congress is in strict conformity with Democratic principles. It has been opposed at every turn by the majority of Republicans. The attitude and policies of President Wilson have been under the fire of Republican criticism since the beginning of the administration. Even the Mexican policy (both at the times of interfering and staying out) came in for scathing rebukes from the Republicans in Congress and the Republican papers. The Republican party declares for principles that are directly contrary to those of President Wilson.

Whoever repudiates the Democratic party repudiates its President. Whoever endorses the President, endorses the party and principles for which he stands. A Republican endorsement of President Wilson is as inconsistent as a Prohibitionist standing for a free and unlimited distribution of "booze." Only a true Democrat can be for Wilson.

We therefore conclude that certain members of the Howell club have no existence. We hope the others are more fortunate. A. M. EMLEY.

GIRLS' CLUB GIVES RESULT OF CONTEST

Whites Win by Twenty-Four—Both Sides Secure Over Six Hundred Members.

After three days of campaigning, the joint contest of the Y. W. C. A. and Girls' Club ended Wednesday at 6 o'clock with 624 points gained. The White side, with Lella McNeerney as leader, was victorious with a lead of only 24 points. The Red side, with Mabel Sterne as leader, received 300 points. Members of both sides worked faithfully and feel well repaid by the increased strength of both organizations. The good feeling existing between the sides was shown at a luncheon given to the Whites by the Reds, Friday noon, at Faculty Hall.

State Uni. Farm Notes

C. V. Williams, principal of the School of Agriculture at Curtis, spent the week-end in Lincoln.

M. W. O'Donnell, extension worker in animal husbandry, will go from Hershey to judge the stock at Wallace.

Miss Maud Cheuvront, secretary to Principal Harry E. Bradford of the University School of Agriculture, has returned from a vacation of two weeks spent in Oklahoma.

Everything is being put in readiness for the opening of the School of Agriculture a week from Monday, October 12. From the inquiry of new students, the indications are that the attendance will be large.

Mr. O'Donnell is a graduate of the Iowa State Agricultural College. He has been associated with his father in the raising of pure bred cattle and hogs and before coming to Lincoln had charge of animal husbandry extension work at the Minnesota Agricultural College.

Dean E. A. Burnett is expected to arrive during the week-end from the western part of the state. On Tuesday night he left for Callaway, Custer county, where he addressed a meeting. While gone he also inspected the experimental sub-stations at North Platte and Mitchell.

An agricultural short course will be held in Hershey beginning Tuesday.
The speakers are M. W. O'Donnell, W. C. Andreas, Ivan D. Wood, agricultural engineering adviser to county farm demonstrators; Superintendent W. P. Snyder of the North Platte Experimental Sub-station, and Miss Mary Rokahr.

A junior agricultural short course was held this last week at Holdrege.
The speakers were Miss Huldah Peterson, Miss Mabel Daniels, Stephen Whisenand, Miss Mary Rokahr, Miss Aural Scott, Miss Pauline Davis, and J. G. McMillan. The course was held under the auspices of the Agricultural Extension Service.

Farmers' institutes which will be held in the northern part of the state during the coming week are: Oakdale on Tuesday, Clearwater, Wednesday; Antelope Creek church, near Clearwater, on Thursday; Bassett, Friday, and Cody, Saturday. The institute speakers of the extension service for these towns are V. E. Shirley, Miss Aural Scott, and C. L. Burlinghom.

M. W. O'Donnell is the newly appointed extension worker in animal husbandry to take the place of H. J.
Gramlich, who gives up his position as assistant superintendent of extension work and in charge of extension work in animal husbandry to give all of his time to instruction in the animal husbandry department and the superintendency of the care of the University Farm. Professor Gramlich was recently promoted from associate professor to full professorship in animal husbandry.

Farmers' institutes which will be held in the central part of the state for the coming week under the auspices of the agricultural extension service, are: Farnam, Tuesday and Wednesday; Wellfleet, Wednesday and Thursday; Dickens, Thursday

JUDGE FROST ON

"PRISON REFORM"

One of Nebraska's Most Prominent Alumni at Convocation Tuesday Morning.

The feature on the Tuesday morning convocation schedule is Judge Frost's lecture on "Prison Reform." Judge Frost is one of the most prominent men who ever graduated from Nebraska. His subject of "Prison Reform," in which he deals more specifically with the smuggling of opium into the Nebraska state penitentiary, and the escape of three convicts, their flight and capture, is one which he has investigated and studied thoroughly.

He is an authority on prison reform, and his interpretation of the significance of the incident at our own state penitentiary is acknowledged to be the best. A large crowd is expected.

GLEE CLUB.

Eighteen Men Present at the Tryout—Outlook Encouraging—Again Tuesday.

The second tryout for membership in the Glee Club was held in the Temple, Thursday night. Eighteen men were present. The committee feel highly encouraged over the material at hand and indications are that the Glee Club this year will be better than ever before. Another tryout will be held in the Temple, in Music Hall, or in the basement, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, and it is important that all wishing consideration be present, as attention will be given to unison as well as solo work.
