Seventeen "Cuts" One Minus Hour.
 Seventeen cuts, and you lose an hour of credit in two divisions of the University. The College of Arts and Science and the School of Law have adopted the following regulation in regard to absences:

"A student shall receive one negative credit hour for each total of seventeen absences during a semester; absences amounting during one semester, to ten or more but less than seventeen may be carried over into the next succeeding semester."—University Missourian.

and his unswerving sincerity, progressiveness, wisdom and courage in meeting the problems of political campaign. The students of the University would never have reason to regret, he said, having helped to make such a man governor. As governor, Mr. Howell would usher in a new day in the politics and administration of the state.

John Gilligan, an old time democrat, told why he is not supporting Morehead. I have always been a progressive, he said. In the last thirty years the banner of progress has been carried sometimes by one party, sometimes by another. In 1896 William J. Bryan forced progressiveness upon the democratic party. In 1904 the elements, now in control of the democratic party in Nebraska carried the party for Parker and reaction, and the republicans under Roosevelt became the progressive party. In 1912, Bryan forced the nomination of Wilson, a progressive democrat, in the face of the opposition of Senator Hitchcock and the men now in control of the democratic party in this state. When the next democratic state convention met these anti-Bryan, anti-Wilson democrats demanded that Bryan be rebuked for nominating Wilson. One of the leaders in this demand was the same H. B. Fleharty of South Omaha who was at Havelock Thursday night urging the democrats to support Morehead for the sake of Wilson.

The renomination of Morehead, said Mr. Gilligan, and the nomination of Howell, gives the progressive banner again to the republicans. The democratic party in Nebraska is now as reactionary in its control by the Fannings, Hitchcocks, Bryans, Mullens and Moreheads as it was when Bryan revolted against the democratic bosses twenty years and more ago, said Mr. Gilligan. As a progressive democrat he could consistently do nothing less than support R. B. Howell with all his might. There are 20,000 other democrats like him in Nebraska, he said, and there is no doubt of Howell's election.

The club expects to obtain a membership of over five hundred within a few days.

THE FIRST VICTORY

ground gainer, but marred his record by several costly fumbles. The old war horses, Halligan and Rutherford, were in splendid form, gaining at will and backing up the inexperienced ends beautifully. Cameron and Abbott were stellar performers in the line, each playing his position with consummate skill. The ends, though putting up a grim and determined struggle, showed a sad lack of experience.

On the whole there is no need for Nebraskans to feel downhearted over the result of Saturday's contest. It must be remembered that Washburn is no weak team and that they expect to win the championship of the State of Kansas this year. Against this strong team of experienced veterans Nebraska put up a game that emphasized the fact we have the material for another championship team. All the men need is practice in playing the positions which are new to so many of them.

Now, if ever, must Nebraska fans show their spirit and loyalty. It is up to us to stand solidly behind the coach in his effort to weld the splendid material before him into a team that will maintain the glorious record set by preceding elevens. CHEER LEADER.

Taylor, Harkson and Oberfelder Have Places Practically Cinched—Others Later.

Final tryouts for the position of varsity cheer leaders were held Saturday at the Washburn game. The announcement of positions had not been made up to a late hour Saturday, but the positions of Taylor, Harkson and Oberfelder are all practically secure, inasmuch as four or even five men may be used in some of the larger games. Watch the Nebraskan for a final statement as to these positions.
