WISDOM.

Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore, get wisdom; and with all thy getting get understanding.—Proverbs.

Ownership of the chance to work comes near being ownership of the chance to live.

Attend Convocation this morning and be one of six hundred to hear Judge Lincoln Frost speak.

We have added a Who's Who department to the Daily Nebraskan. Silas M. Bryan is in charge.

The cartoon this morning represents almost ancient history. Hereafter the "Uni Bill Board" will be more nearly up-to-date.

PATRIOTISM AD NAUSEUM.

A son of the Kaiser recently telegraphed his father: "Papa: God has been good to me. He has permitted me to be wounded in the leg in my country's cause."

IDEALISM AND BUSINESS.

It is difficult for us younger men to comprehend the changed ideals of the business world. We can measure it best by comparing the personalities of leaders fifteen years ago and now.

Then the successful railroad magnate was known for his contempt for law, his ability to exploit the public, and his harsh and indifferent treatment of employees.

Today a new idealism is abroad. A spirit of partnership with public and employees. Watch a railroad leader such as Howard Elliott. He tries to obey the law in every particular. He recognizes and practices the doctrine that the railroads are run for the benefit of the public. And instead of treating his employees as so many iron machines to be thrown into the scrap pile when worn out, Elliott seeks their confidence and co-operation.

The conduct of modern business is responding to human ideals as well as to the cold laws of political economy; and who knows but that the new policy, even financially, will be as profitable as the old.

THE FORUM

To the Editor of Daily Nebraskan: I have been a student in the University of Nebraska for over two years and a resident of Lincoln for nearly six. During that time I have attended very nearly all of the football games and a great many of the other athletic contests. Also during those six years I have had the pleasure of visiting several other large schools and witnessing athletic contests of all descriptions. During all of the games that I have witnessed never have I been so impressed, so thrilled, as I was last November at the Kansas game. The thing that thrilled me so was that famous K. U. yell—the Jayhawk chant. It has that wierd, monotonous tone that sinks into you and thrills your very soul. Think of two thousand students rising and putting their whole souls into it. What is it that causes them to do it? Its their school spirit, inspired by that wierd, wild yell.

Have you ever heard that wonderful Princeton Tiger yell? If not, imagine the K. U. yell, make it five times as thrilling and you are beginning to get an inkling of the volume of that yell and the impression it makes upon you.

Now, to come back to Nebraska. What have we here? Two yells that we can use are all we can boast of; and they—what are they? Time-honored yells—no more. Outside of that they are of no value, because they do not portray real Nebraska spirit nor Nebraska environments. The thing that we need is a real, sure enough, wild and wooly Nebraska yell. One that brings us thoughts of Indians in war paint, cowboys, and wild and wooly things in general. Not that we have such things in Nebraska, but we used to have, and many people think we have yet. With a few yells of that type that are novel and awe-inspiring we can create a greater Nebraska spirit and help Nebraska make a bigger mark in the school world.

So let us all enter into this contest for the prize offered by the Athletic Board for the best yell, and let's make it a yell, a real Nebraska yell, one that brings forth thoughts of Indians, and men who are going to do or die. Yours for a greater Nebraska spirit, BEETEE.

VICTOR HALLIGAN.

Editor Daily Nebraskan: Honor ought to be given to those who deserve honor. Victor Halligan is not a politician, but a man who has won honor and fame for the University on the football field. He has fine executive ability and as Senior president would do credit to himself and bring glory to the class. Let's all turn out today and vote for "Vic." P. I. HARRISON.

WHO'S WHO

Dr. Hartley Burr Alexander, professor of Philosophy in the University of Nebraska, was born in Lincoln, Nebraska, in 1873. He received his earlier education here and entered this institution in 1893. During his undergraduate work here he was very active in

Dr. Alexander was editor and contributor to the New International Encyclopedia and to Webster's dictionaries, and is a member of the American Philosophical Society, the Western Philosophical Association, and the Society for Psychical Research. He has published the following books:

student publications and here he began his career as a writer. Upon graduation from Nebraska he received a fellowship in the University of Pennsylvania and later in Columbia University, which institution conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1901.

The Problem of Metaphysics, Poetry and the Individual, The Mid-Earth Life, the Religious Spirit of the American Indian, and the Mystery of Life.

Dr. Alexander has been Professor of Philosophy at Nebraska since 1908 and is contributor to many philosophical periodicals.

NEBRASKA MAN TO FRONT AT STANFORD

Arthur G. Kennedy Instructor in English Philology—Received A. B. at Nebraska.

In a letter to Professor Grumann of this city, we are informed of the success of another one of the many men who have gone forth from this great University of Nebraska.

The man upon whose fortune has smiled this time is Arthur G. Kennedy, of Palo Alto, California. Mr. Kennedy will no doubt be remembered by many former and present university students. After going from Nebraska and finishing his course he left for Leland Stanford University to take up work there. Since his sojourn there he has secured a Ph. D. degree and is at present acting instructor in English Philology at Leland Stanford. He is also assisting Dr. Flugel of that institution in his work upon the Chaucer Dictionary. He is practically assured of a permanent position at Leland Stanford.

Many of Mr. Kennedy's friends will be glad to know of his success. He is one of the host of men who have gone out from Nebraska and brought credit to his Alma Mater and himself. It is from the records of such men that the students of the University can proudly hold up their heads and say, "We go to Nebraska."

KOMENSKY CLUB IS STARTING ACTIVE WORK

Election of Officers and Short Program Held Saturday Evening—Chicago Convention Report.

The first meeting of the Komenksy club was held Saturday evening in Union Hall. It was designed mainly as a reception to new Bohemian students, many of whom became candidates for election to membership or were transfers from other chapters. A short program had been prepared after which were heard interesting reports from the delegates to the biennial convention of Komenksy Clubs held this summer in Chicago. Miss Hrbek and Dr. Brener then discussed some of the Slavic phases of the war.

The business part of the meeting concluded with the election of officers for the ensuing semester. They are as follows:

- President, A. V. Skudrna.
- Vice president, Bessie Strejc.
- Secretary, Hedvic Provaznik.
- Treasurer, Theodore Kubik.
- Reporter, Anna Jelen.
- Sergeant at arms, William Biba.
- Critic, Prof. Sarka Hrbek.

The prospects for the year are bright both in the literary as well as the musical line.

The Nebraska University chapter of the Federation of Bohemian Educational Clubs was represented by the largest number of delegates of all the twenty-seven clubs in attendance at the fifth biennial convention in Chicago, August 28, 29 and 30. Members of the local chapter present were: Prof. Sarka Hrbek, Emma Krisl, Bess Strejc, Louise Dusatko, A. V. Skudrna, Wm. Biba, and Ted Kubik.

Many important resolutions were adopted among which were the condemnation of the part taken by Austria in the present war, the urging of Red Cross subscriptions among the members, and the warm approval of the action of the Regents of Northwestern and Texas Universities in regard to the installation of departments of Slavonic at their respective institutions. The executive committee of the Federation is to be composed of five members, two of whom belong to the local chapter.

Although the headquarters have been moved to Chicago where there are two thriving chapters, the official organ continues to be published in Lincoln and will represent the twenty-seven chapters located in six different states.

From Oberlin Review.

The Oberlin football season will open Saturday afternoon, when Varsity meets Miami University. Warned by past experience with this team, and by reports from the south, Coach Pyle is by no means preparing for a practice game. In all probability the contest will be one of the stiffest of the year, and Oberlin will have to show mid-season style to win.

Miami already has a 40-0 victory over Otterbein to its credit, and the Otterbein coaches are not claiming a poor team.
