OFFICERS BANQUET

DEAN STOUT PRESIDED OVER THOSE ASSEMBLED.

ALMOST FIFTY MEN PRESENT

Commandant Parker Outlined the Duties of an Officer—Letter From Old "A" Company Captain Was Read.

The first annual dinner given by the Cadet Officers' Association was held Friday evening at the Lindell Hotel. It was a big success. There were about fifty men present, which included both present officers and many of the alumni. This dinner was given in honor of the new officers who were given commissions this year.

The tables were placed like the Greek letter Pi. They were decorated with red carnations and fern leaves, the speakers' table being lighted with candles.

Dean O. V. P. Stout, '88, was toastmaster of the evening. The first talk was given by Carl J. Lord, '13, who gave the greetings of the evening. The response was given by Lieutenant Cobert. He was followed by Col. W. Kirk Fowler, who, in his toast, welcomed all of the new members into the association. "Reminiscences" was the subject of the toast given by L. C. Oberlies and a very interesting toast it was. Lieut. S. M. Parker, U. S. A., was the next one on the program, using as his subject, "The Duty of an Officer." In this he gave many very strong and excellent ideas for all of the officers, both old and new, to use in their work. The program ended with a talk on "The Opportunity of an Officer as a Leader," by Chancellor Samuel Avery. Every toast was very interesting to all of the members and much was to be gotten from them.

The toastmaster called upon Capt. A. H. Dinsmore, secretary of the association, for a reading of the constitution, so that all of the new men would

UNIVERSITY YELLS STILL IN DEMAND

Everybody Get Busy and Earn That Five—Write One That Will Defeat Michigan Aggies.

There has been considerable discussion in school lately on the subject of football yells. Some people have said, "Let's have new yells which do not sound like a high school yell." If some of the same people would sit down and try to figure out a good, peppy yell they would see the difficulty of keeping away from the high school article. Besides this, if you would chase way back into the rusty corners of your career you will remember that the old high school yells of other days were modeled largely upon those of Harvard, Princeton and Yale. This is altogether natural, inasmuch as these schools have had yells as long as such things have existed and ought to almost know how to frame one up. Let's have some yells that are go-getters, but let's don't expect to set the world afire all in a bunch.

Minnesota Officers.

During the second semester the Military department will offer a course in tactics, in which an extensive study of field service regulations, and especially the sanitation of camps, will be studied. The care of camps in the present European war will be dwelt upon a great deal and form both an important and interesting factor in the course.—Minnesota AdDily.

WOODSMEN APPOINT POW-WOW COMMITTEE

Swan to Lecture on Utilization of Waste in Sawmills—Pow-wow Will Be Held on Field Day.

The students in the department of forestry have appointed their committee for the annual pow-wow, or field day, giving them full power to act. The interest in this big forester event is livelier than usual this year. At the Pow-wow the freshmen foresters are initiated into a few of the mysteries of the life of a forester, and the evening winds up with a feast around the campfire. The committee has made no definite statement yet, but is laying plans for the best Pow-wow in history.

O. T. Swan, 1904, in charge of the Wood Utilization Office of the Forest Service, in Washington, D. C., will be here the latter part of the month to deliver several lectures upon "The Utilization of Waste in Sawmills."

Walter F. Goodman, who has been working in the United States Forest Service as a ranger, will return next semester to continue his forest studies.

JANE ADDAMS AT AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

Chicago's Foremost Woman in Lincoln—Will Lecture in Behalf of Suffrage Cause.

Miss Jane Addams, affectionately called "America's Greatest Citizen," will address a mass meeting in the auditorium this evening at 8:15. An enormous crowd is expected.

Miss Addams is first vice-president of the National Woman Suffrage Association and has come to Nebraska to aid in that cause. She became world famous by reason of her magnificent work in founding and developing "Hull House" in Chicago, which stands foremost, both for achievement and significance, among all the settlement houses in America. The object of Hull House is to provide a center for a higher civic and social life, to institute and maintain education and philanthropic enterprises, and to investigate and improve conditions in the industrial districts of Chicago.

For many years Miss Addams has been a constant worker in Chicago for municipal reform and social betterment. She has become famous as a member of the managing boards of numerous national philanthropic organizations. She has been especially active in securing factory legislation, civil service laws, the investigation and amelioration of tuberculosis conditions, and in the campaign against the "white slave" traffic.

Miss Addams will undoubtedly give an account of how the women in Chicago have used the ballot.

COSTUME PROGRAM

GOWNS AND GARBS OF ALL NATIONS IN EVIDENCE.

STICK CANDY AND ICE CREAM

Several Hundred Girls Out for the Event—Interesting Program is Staged—Miss Mayhew Spoke.

Approximately 250 girls attended the girls' costume party given in the Armory Friday night. There were many striking and original costumes, and although men were denied admittance, they were present by proxy. Every manner of man was represented—farmers, professors, college sports and parsons. Girls of all nationalities were present, the Chinese and Dutch being particularly in evidence. The features of the evening were the University band, made up of our undignified post-graduates and faculty members and the cadet squad of the physical education normal students.

Miss Edna Froid had charge of the program and introduced the following numbers:

Selection by U. of N. Pajama Band. German ditty, "Johnny Smoker," by Alpha Chi girls.

Selection by band, led by Miss Munson.

Jig by Ruth Whitmore. Helen Johnson assisted in the encore.

Miss Mayhew in costume—a demonstration of Chinese manner of using chop sticks.

Miss Morris—living model, showing Chinese bride's costume.

Selection by clown girls—"In the Crust of the Old Apple Pie."

Miss Dodge—Three readings, which were loudly applauded.

Clown girls—The Sad Fate of John Brown.

Mr. Jack (Beth Stults)—Reading. Motion song—Gamma Phi Beta girls. Cornhusker.

Awkward squad drill, Captain Marie Clark.

Miss Mayhew closed the program by giving a brief outline of Miss Coppock's work in China.

The girls were invited to go into the fortune teller's booth and to join in the games.

BERSTEIN GIVES NEBRASKA SONG

The Call for Yells Brings in a New Song—Dedicated to the University of Nebraska.

The request for a good Nebraska yell has brought forth not only numerous yells, but a new Nebraska song. The song is called "Nebraska" and is dedicated to the "University of Nebraska" by Nathan Bernstein, its composer. Mr. Bernstein has been connected with the music department of the Omaha High School for some years and, recognizing Nebraska's need, has come forth with this number. It is rumored that several other new songs are about to put in their appearance, so the market ought to be well supplied.

Establishes Night Courses.

Pittsburg, one of the great centers of engineering, is planning to become a center of engineering education. The University of Pittsburg is now offering an evening course in engineering for graduates of reputable colleges. Students who meet certain requirements will be eligible for a regular engineering degree.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS FIRST MEETING

Met Friday Evening at Temple—Faculty Members and Students Give Lively Talks.

The University Commercial Club held its first meeting of this school year in the Faculty Hall of the Temple, Friday evening. Thirty-five men from the School of Commerce, besides the professors of the department, were present. A goodly number of first year men turned out for this affair, which goes to show that the commerce department is live and has some coming live ones enrolled in it. An interesting program was given. President O. E. Taylor called the meeting to order and introduced the following speakers, who gave snappy, interesting talks: Professors LeRossignol, Virtue and Martin; Messrs. Koupal and Filippi. An explanation of the origin and purpose of the organization was given for the benefit of the new men. The evening was wound up with music and refreshments of an elaborate nature. Everybody got acquainted with everybody else and it is suspected that most everybody had a good time.

PRE-MEDIC SMOKER DECIDED SUCCESS

Will Have Speeches From Prominent Physicians in Near Future—Hundred Medics at Nebraska.

The pre-medics held a smoker at the Delta Upsilon house Friday night and turned out a good-sized bunch. A short business meeting was held. V. Dackin was elected treasurer. The Pre-Medic Society was organized with twenty-two charter members and membership cards issued. An evening of good old stunts followed, with Oden at the piano. Refreshments—cigars and aqua pura—followed. President Updegraff then gave a short speech welcoming the freshmen into the ranks of the society. A trip and meeting at the Orthopedic Hospital, with a lecture by Dr. Orr, was promised in the near future.

The society faces a banner year, with a hundred medics at Nebraska. The calendar takes in lectures by seven of the most prominent professors and physicians of Lincoln and Omaha. A medic dance, picnic, a medic week, and a trip to Omaha all loom up in the coming year. The medic pins will soon appear on the campus and Nebraska College of Medicine promises to rank with the best.

A Joke.

Dean Hastings is inclined to take exceptions to the statement in the Daily Nebraskan, namely: "A stitch in time saves the whole sock." The Dean admits, however, that a stitch in time may save a more or less holey sock.

NEITHER SIDE SCORE

NEBRASKA'S IMPREGNABLE DEFENSE SAVES A DEFEAT.

DICK RUTHERFORD THE STAR

Cameron Outplays the Venerable Potts—Herb Potter Is Out Again for the Quarter-back Position.

(By H. I. Kyle)

They came, they saw, they won, what did they do? We might say they tried mighty hard, but their efforts availed them naught. They played the grand old game in all its phases, and they played each phase with variations. For years the cunning Coyotes have been preparing the soil, selecting the seed, and otherwise making ready for the feast that they fondly hoped was to be theirs, when next they met the stalwart Cornhuskers. For two months they have been cultivating the crop and rehearsing the harvest scene, but, alas, they reaped a measly goose-egg.

Truth compels me to admit that we shall have to appease our own fierce appetite for the flesh of the coyote with a similar diet, but we rather fancy that our fowl-fruit has the better flavor.

Two goose-eggs. Each takes one. Fair enough.

Nebraska fans have every reason to be hopeful from the way the Huskers handled themselves Saturday. The old Nebraska defense, the ability to "hold 'em," when a failure to "hold 'em" meant a score, was there with the gilt edges on it. And when the rooters rose from their seats and begged the team to "block that kick," which would have meant humiliation and defeat if it had not been blocked, the desperate Cornhuskers tore through the strong Coyote line as though it didn't exist, and actually did block the kick.

Most Important Class Meeting of the Year—Minor Officers and Olympics to Be Discussed.

The most important freshman class meeting of the year will be held in the Armory tomorrow morning at eleven-thirty. All matters of interest will be discussed. Minor officers will be elected and plans for the Olympics will be considered. Freshmen caps will be the main topic of conversation. All members of the class seem to be enthusiastic in regard to this matter, as this will be a means for them to get acquainted with one another and give them a chance to get organized for the remainder of the year. The caps this year will be sold on the campus, instead of by one of the downtown stores. The date of distribution will probably be Thursday of this week, but will be announced definitely later. Freshmen are urged to get together and make this meeting a big event.
