Postmortems and Prophecies—By H. I. KYLE.

Both sides have "nothing" to be proud of.

Old Man Potts was no match for the youthful Cameron, notwithstanding his experience. Cameron begins to look like an all-valley center already.

According to Vidal, the Coyotes expected to clean up the Cornhuskers with comparative ease. He was astonished, he said, at the strength of the Nebraska defense.

The Coyotes play the Minnesota Gophers next Saturday, and Notre Dame a week later. Yes, they have their nerve, but they have some little old team to back it up with.

The "big" man of the South Dakota team is "Tony" Vidal, who plays a half-back position. Vidal spent the second semester of last year at Nebraska, but returned to his old love this fall.

THE ILLUSION OF WAR.

A subscriber hands in the following poem. It is well worth reading:

War
I abhor
And yet how sweet
The sound along the marching street
Of drum and fife, and I forget
Wet eyes of widows, and forget
Broken old mothers, and the whole
Dark butchery without a soul.

Without a soul, save this bright drink
Of heady music, sweet as hell;
And even my peace-abiding feet
Go marching with the marching street—
For yonder, yonder goes the fife,
And what care I for human life!

The tears fill my astonished eyes,
And my full heart is like to break;
And yet 'tis all embannered lies,
A dream those little drummers make.

O, it is wickedness to clothe
Yon hideous grinning thing that stalks,
Hidden in music, like a queen
That in a garden of glory walks,
Till good men love the thing they loathe.

Art, thou has many infamies,
But not an infamy like this—
O, snap the fife, and still the drum,
And shows the monster as he is.
—Richard Le Gallienne.

Free Buttermilk for Students.

Lest the students at the Nebraska University Farm forget that they are really on the farm while studying, a large glass container has been placed in the dairy building where the thirsty lad may refresh himself without cost between classes with buttermilk. To insure sanitation, fibre drinking cups have been placed next to the fountain.

ARMSTRONGS HOLD BIG STORE OPENING

Many Students Attend Thursday and Friday Evenings—Decorations and Orchestra.

Last Thursday and Friday evenings The Armstrong Clothing Company held their opening in celebration of the remodeling of their store building. Labor and expense were not spared in their efforts to please the public. The decorations were beautiful and an orchestra aided greatly in affording the visitors a pleasant evening. Many University students attended the opening and were loud in their praise.

BABY BEEF BULLETIN.
The Nebraska Experiment Station

Fair Harvard had both hands full, Saturday, winning from W. and J. by a single point, the final score being 10 to 9. Harvard still has Princeton, Michigan and Yale to meet and defeat before she can claim the championship of 1914.

Ames scored a touchdown on Minnesota, Saturday, but lost the game, 26 to 7. The Iowa farmers have a habit of scoring on their opponents, regardless of whom that opponent may be.

For a time, Saturday, it looked as though South Dakota's trip to Lincoln would have to be merely for pleasure, for when Coach Stiehm found that South Dakota intended to play Potts, and refused to play otherwise, he assured them that it would have to be otherwise then. However, the members of the Cornhusker team prevailed upon the coach to let the Bowwows have their way, rather than call the game off, which the coach finally did.

has just issued Bulletin 143 on "Feeding Baby Beef" at the North Platte Sub-station. This bulletin gives the results of fattening five lots of calves on different forage and grain rations during the winter of 1911 and 1912 and a duplication of this test during the following winter. The roughage was alfalfa, prairie hay and silage and the grain was corn and cottonseed cake. Alfalfa corn and silage formed the most satisfactory ration tried, with alfalfa and corn second. Cottonseed cake was not a profitable substitute for alfalfa but was a profitable feed when prairie hay and corn or prairie hay, corn, and silage formed the balance of the ration. This bulletin may be secured free of cost by addressing the Director, Experiment Station, Lincoln, Nebr.

WAR NEWS FROM ILLINOIS.

Two fair freshmen co-eds of the University of Illinois have registered for military drill. It is feared that these young ladies will be the cause of the disruption of the regiment as is shown by the following extract from the Daily Illini:

As soon as the news was whispered around the armory, a bitter contest arose among the senior officers as to who were to be the ones favored by having the misses in their companies. In some way, perhaps by the judicious placing of boxes of cigars, Sergeant Post was induced to assign Miss Barry to Company A, Second regiment, commanded by C. L. Riffs, and Miss Rankin to Company B of the same regiment, under command of F. F. Davis. Sergeant Post, when interviewed by an Illini reporter, refused to be quoted as to whether they had yet been measured for uniforms or whether they would be compelled to wear trousers. Neither of the parties concerned could be located up to a late hour last night, so no statement from either of them could be obtained.

It is feared that so much friction has been created among the officers by the question who is to instruct the young ladies in the mysteries of military tactics, that the only solution will be to require them to drop military and thus avoid any suggestion of partiality. Two other solutions have been offered, one that all have an equal chance to instruct them by initiating them as honorary members of Scabbard and Blade. The other and perhaps more feasible one is that the officers be allowed to take turns at giving them individual instruction in the booths at Harris' or while sitting out dances at Bradley's.
