WILL BE HELD AT THE LINDELL HOTEL THIS EVENING

MANY TICKETS LEFT TO SELL

Every Loyal Cornhusker Urged to Come and Honor His Team—C. C. Quiggle Will Be Toastmaster.

The big Cornhusker Banquet is coming off tonight and a bunch of loyal rooters are expected to be present. It would be a good show of school spirit if every man would come out on this memorable occasion and show our championship team that they are with them heart and soul. This is beyond doubt the greatest team Nebraska has ever had, surpassing even the days when Temple and Shonka and the other old-time stars were on the Nebraska eleven. Indeed, this may be called the honor team of the institution, and will be one that will be hard to duplicate in the years to come.

The tickets are still being sold, and more can be accommodated at this big feed if the tickets run out. The committee in charge of selling the tickets, however, is anxious that a great many more tickets be sold, as they still have a goodly number on hand. It is their desire to make this the biggest and best of all banquets, past or future.

A fine toast list is prepared, with C. C. Quiggle, president of the Commercial Club, as toastmaster of the evening. The members of the team will make speeches and also the coaches. Beyond doubt this will be the best banquet yet, and every loyal Cornhusker owes it to the team to be present tonight and cheer the team of teams now that the season's battles are over and the victors can receive their well-earned dues.

Every Cornhusker out tonight.

BRIDGEMAN TALKS ON MAKING OF CONTRACTS

Addresses Professor Martin's Class in Business Organization—Gives Amusing Personal Incident.

Professor Martin's class in Business Organization was treated yesterday morning to a lecture by Professor Bridgeman of the Engineering department. Professor Bridgeman discussed the making of contracts and the general rules to be observed by contractors in carrying out their business agreements. He illustrated the lecture with interesting incidents taken from his own experience as a small boy, and later as a construction engineer.

The one incident related by the speaker that was most loudly cheered was the description of his first and best contract. It was an agreement to clear a certain cornfield of cockleburrs. The professor maintains that he was not at that time a very keen bargainer, for his calculations, made long before the last burr had been disposed of, showed that he had already more than earned his money.

Several members of the class were heard to express themselves as believing that an occasional lecture of this sort adds more interest to the regular classroom work.

DR. HAY STARTS FOR EAST.

Has Been Taking Notes on Morrill Geological Collection—Special Attention Paid to New Fossils.

Dr. O. P. Hay of the United States National Museum, after spending several days in studying, measuring and making notes on the fossils in the Morrill geological collection, left for the east last Monday. Dr. Hay paid especial attention to certain remarkable new fossils found during the past summer, especially a large mammoth jaw found at Crete, Nebraska, and upon an extraordinary mastodon found in Cherry county.

FRESHMEN COACHED IN ART OF FUSSING

Colorado to Try Plan—Seeking to Secure Results in Parlor and Class Room.

In order to systematize the fussing among their freshmen and get the best results in both class room and parlor some of the fraternities have been discussing a card system similar to that employed by the A. S. U. C. in regard to the men taking part in intercollegiate athletics.

The plan as discussed was to have neat cards printed on which would be a line for the length of time spent in fussing each week, name of the girl, and a space below for the signature of the girl. The entire center of the card will be given over to remarks by the girls. On this space it is hoped to have noted the worst defects, suggestions for remedy and possibly the improvement shown by the victim.

The system will be given a tryout and the results will be compared with the scholarship cards of the youthful fussers and a nicety of balance between these two essentials of education will be sought. Beginning immediately after the Thanksgiving holidays the cards will be issued each week and the results watched with interest.—Colorado Daily.

FINAL FOOTBALL GAME WEDNESDAY

Seniors and Freshmen Will Clash for Class Honors—Seniors Have Picked Out Sweaters.

The final class football game between the Freshmen and Seniors will be played on next Wednesday afternoon. This game is already a subject of much interest, especially among the Freshmen, who think that their team can not be beaten by the upper classmen. To show the confidence that the Seniors have, however, it has been rumored that they have already picked out the sweaters which it is customary to give to the winning class team. The Seniors will be without the services of one of their star men on account of injuries received during the Junior game, but nevertheless they say that the Fresh will be easy pickings for them.

GIRLS TO CELEBRATE TONIGHT AT ARMORY

The Grand March Will Start at Eight O'clock—Admission of Ten Cents.

The girls will all remember that tonight is the night of the big Cornhusker party which, by the way, is a party and not a banquet. Admission is ten cents. It is also to be understood that it is not a dance—but a "good time" party, with novel entertainment of every sort. Don't forget! The grand march begins at 8 o'clock, so all must be there.

JACK CLARK ON CAMPUS.

Just Returned From Alaska—Was Employed in Topographic Work There.

J. E. (Jack) Clark, ex-'07, renewed acquaintances in the Engineering College yesterday. His home is in Lincoln, but last summer was spent three hundred miles inland in Alaska, where in all probability the foot of white man never trod before. He was in company with a small party doing topographic work in the service of the U. S. Geological Survey.

UNIVERSITY CHORUS AIDS THE SUFFERERS

Twenty-Four Pounds of Medicated Cotton Sent—To Arrive in Vienna About Xmas.

At University Chorus rehearsal, November 20, Wm. G. Shepherd's appeal to the American public to send medicated cotton to Vienna for the wounded Belgians, was read. Mr. Shepherd is the United Press correspondent at Vienna, Austria, and is thoroughly acquainted with the conditions prevailing there. The appeal described the general situation, but the predominating thought which it conveyed was the misery and death caused by lack of cotton. Few of us have realized that cotton is so essential in the care of wounds. Few have known that even a slight wound causes a man's death if medicated cotton with which to dress it cannot be procured. The reading of this appeal led the members of the University chorus to decide that money spent in this way would be well spent.

A motion was passed unanimously that all money in the Chorus treasury, and all the individual contributions from any person handed in to any member of the committee be used for this purpose. The committee has reported that twenty-four pounds of cotton was mailed at the Lincoln post-office yesterday. It should reach Vienna just before Christmas according to postal authorities.

The Chorus committee will be pleased to receive money for this purpose from any University students. Several have already made contributions.

BASKETBALL STARTS

THINGS LOOK BRIGHT FOR THE VARSITY TEAM

SIX OF VETERANS ARE BACK

State Farm Has Fifty Men Out—Aggie Team Has an Eye on State High School Championship—Beat Lincoln High Last Year

By H. I. Kyle. "Ring out the old; ring in the new." King Football his hibernated; let him hibe. For the next four months King Basketball will occupy the throne of Sportdom. From noon till bed-time the old gym resounds to the thud of many slipped feet, etc., etc. (Ten more lines in the same tenor.)

About twenty men are out for the varsity squad these days, including six letter-men from last year's squad. In fact, Captain Haskell of last year's team is the only veteran not back. He graduated. However, with Captain Hawkins, Rutherford, Seven Meyer, Hugg, Howard and Shields to depend on, Coach Stiehm is worrying very little. He has more than a mere nucleus in sight.

Although no regular games will be played until after the Christmas vacation, the men are spending two hours a day, six days in the week, in polishing up on shooting baskets and passing the ball from impossible positions. Captain Hawkins has an ambition to lead his team to victory over the Wesleyan Coyotes, who handed the Huskers their only defeat last year.

The Coyotes were the acknowledged champions of the Missouri Valley region last year, notwithstanding they lost their last game to the Cornell, Iowa, team. They met the Cornhuskers three times, and won twice.

Coach "Skinny" Hiltner, of the Ag School, has an army of fifty neophytes on the gym floor three nights in the week. (Continued on page 2)

DAWN GIVES FIRST LECTURE ON ART

Eighty Tickets Now Sold for Exhibition—Paintings Will Be Here for Three Weeks.

The first lecture under the auspices of the Nebraska Art Association was held Wednesday in the Art Gallery, and a large number enjoyed the evening. Professor Dann gave an informal talk on the paintings and explained the features of each. Throughout the three weeks in which the paintings will be in Lincoln lectures will be given by different speakers on pertinent topics. Professor Fling will speak Monday night.

Eighty tickets have already been sold and it is expected that a larger number will be disposed of this year than ever before. The exhibition this year is the twentieth one held at Nebraska, and while the others have attracted considerable attention, this one bids fair to excel all others in the interest taken. The directors of the association hope to be able to buy several of the paintings out of the profits of the exhibition.
