

The Daily Nebraskan

VOL. XIV. NO. 79.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, LINCOLN, FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, 1915.

PRICE 5 CENTS.

NEW STAFF CHOSEN

TWO MEN AND TWO WOMEN ELECTED TO FILL PLACES

BEARD ELECTED NEW EDITOR

Chatt, Arnold and Slater Win Other Positions—456 Votes Cast Out of a Possible 700—Sixty-One by Mail

Editor-in-Chief John Beard, Managing Editor Orville Chatt, and Associate Editresses Doris Slater and Ethel Arnold will compose the editorial staff of the Daily Nebraskan next semester. Two hundred and twenty-nine votes were necessary to decide the winners, but only in the race for managing editor was the decision given on first choice votes.

The election was an innovation in the method of selecting the editors. The matter was formerly in the hands of the election board, but reported dissatisfaction influenced the change. The board is gratified at the interest shown by the subscribers, as out of a possible 700 votes, the number recorded totals 456. So close was the fight on the managing editorship that the out-of-town ballots decided the winner.

The first Nebraskan under the new management will be issued a week from Tuesday. The successful candidates are enthusiastic over their duties and they give the assurance that they will work to the best of their ability.

Staff Serves Well

The retiring editors have served the paper faithfully. The opinion on the campus seems to be that the Daily Nebraskan this last semester has been more like a real newspaper than in any previous semester. There seems to be no doubt in the minds of the readers of the paper that the editorial policy of C. A. Sorensen was good and clean. So far as criticisms upon his column are concerned, they no doubt are very few, as everybody received fair treatment at his hands.

As acting managing editor, the general opinion is that Dick Koupal filled the position faithfully and well. The Daily Nebraskan always seemed to be uppermost in his mind, and the time he took from his college work to devote to its columns certainly should not go unmentioned here. It is not certain that Mr. Koupal's efforts to make the Daily Nebraskan a good, live paper will be discontinued, but if he decides to devote his spare time to other interests, the paper will lose a good man.

Managing Editor-elect Orville Chatt also put forth untiring efforts upon the Nebraskan. Like every other member of the staff, his work is to be highly commended, and it seems to be gratifying to the students that he will continue in a position of responsibility.

Staff May Not Change

As far as is now known, the present reportorial staff will act in the interests of the paper next semester. Each reporter has undoubtedly done everything in his power to make the Daily Nebraskan what it is at the present time. When interest of this kind can be obtained, it augurs well for the spirit at the University.

FOUR LUCKY ONES MAKE DRAMATIC CLUB

Of the twenty who tried out in the Dramatic Club try-outs Wednesday night, four were elected to membership. Elizabeth Erezim, Darrel Lane, Clara McMahon and Helen Brainard. The results of the try-outs were considered unusually good, but as usual only a few of the very best could be chosen.

DAMROSCH ORCHESTRA SECOND MAY FESTIVAL

One of the Few Stops Made on Way to California Exposition Will Be at Lincoln

The Damrosch Symphony Orchestra of New York has been engaged for the California Exposition. It will make very few stops, but one of these will be Lincoln. If the University chorus is large it is hoped that it may be arranged for it to sing with the orchestra in the Ninth Beethoven Symphony. This would make a fitting climax to the symphony program. Some choral work of high value will be given in any case.

Members of the chorus obtain free admission to the May Festival.

UNIVERSITY MIXER

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO HAVE CHARGE NEXT SEMESTER

STUDENTS MEET FACULTY

Event Will be Staged on Saturday Night, January 30—Third Mixer Will Have Variety of Entertainment

It will be welcome news to all that, as a fitting end to the works and pleasures of the first semester, an efficient committee has been chosen to take charge of an all-University mixer to be held in the Armory, Saturday night, January 30, at 8:30. The students are requested not to come until that hour since the Armory cannot possibly be obtained until then, owing to the fact that it will be in use for registration up to 6 o'clock, and for a basket ball game at 8:30.

This will be the third all-University mixer of the year and, although there

HOWE ADDRESSES CLASS IN INSURANCE

Mr. R. F. Howe of Omaha, state agent of the New York Underwriter Agency, addressed the class in fire insurance Wednesday morning. His address took the form of answers to questions from a question box prepared and submitted by members of the class and covered a wide range of interesting and knotty problems involved in fire insurance.

MR. PARKS OF Y. M. C. A. TALKS ON SALESMANSHIP

Audience Composed Mainly of Members of the University Commercial Club

Mr. F. W. Park, educational director of the City Y. M. C. A., spoke last night in the Mechanical Engineering building before a representative body of the University Commercial Club.

The theme of Mr. Park's talk was "Salesmanship," and the subject-matter was brought forcibly to the minds of those present through the use of lantern slides.

The University Commercial Club is planning on more talks of a similar nature for this coming semester.

CORNHUSKERS WIN

GET FIRST GAME ON THEIR SOUTHERN TRIP

NEBRASKA 26--KAS. AGS. 19

Slow Start Followed by a Fast Finish Brings Victory to the Invading Ball-Tossers—Score Tied at End of First Half

By H. I. Kyle.

The Cornhusker invasion of the Southland is proving a decided success from the standpoint of the invaders. The first skirmish happened Wednesday evening at Manhattan, Kansas, where the Nebraska quintet mixed things with the Kansas Aggies. The Northerners took most of the first half in which to get started, but when they did the Farmers were "left at the pole" (election term, or phrase, meaning out of the running). The first half ended a tie, the score being 11-11, but the visitors came back strong in the second period, and brought home the bacon by a count of 26 to 19.

The Huskers played the short-pass game in which Stiehm has been drilling them for the last two weeks, and it was a noticeable fact that this style of play proved a source of much worry to the opposing five. The guarding of the Cornhuskers was gilt-edged, scarcely a goal having been thrown by an Aggie while uncovered. Shields played a strong, steady game throughout the contest, securing five of Nebraska's twelve goals. Hawkins, at guard, and Meyers, at center, also played spectacular ball.

Following is the line-up:

University of Nebraska—26:

Referee—Guy S. Lowman, director of athletics, Kansas State Agricultural college.

The same teams play a second game Thursday night, and on Friday and Saturday the Cornhusker team will take on the strong Jayhawk five for a couple battles. We leave it to our successor to tell you the results of those encounters.

NO SWIMMING

On Account of Examinations There Will be no Swimming For the Girls on January 27

There will be no swimming for girls on January 27, owing to the fact that it is examination week. The last two classes will be held on February 3 and February 10.
