FOURTH MIXER PROVES A DECIDED SUCCESS

Gymnasium Again Crowded—Students Stay After Athletic Events and Mingle With Fellow Students

The mixer which followed the athletic events in the Charter Day program was a complete success. Immediately after the relay race a force of men mopped the rosin from the floor and cleared the room. Scott's orchestra took their place in the orchestra pit and the ceremony started. The number of those present, the spirit, the informality, and, indeed, all the characteristics of the former mixers were present yesterday afternoon in abundance. Everyone enjoyed themselves. This expression is the reason why the mixers at Nebraska have proven such a distinct success. The students have long felt the need of a common meeting ground where fraternity and non-fraternity students, where agriculturalists and engineers, medics and laws, may meet and discuss the few things which they have in common.

It was again demonstrated that Nebraska's small gymnasium was inadequate. If a suitable building could be built the number of students attending these functions would be doubled. It is hoped that when the complete plans of the architects are turned in they will contain the plans for a Union Building.

War Effects Enrollment of University of Pennsylvania

The University of Pennsylvania attributes the loss of 63 men from its foreign enrollment to the war in Europe. At present there are 203 foreign students attending that University. Out of 44 countries represented, Canada, Italy, the Philippines and Russia were the only countries to increase their number of students.

The purpose of such proposed courses of instruction is to train and equip physicians to serve as health officers. The institutions are asked to incorporate such a course immediately and to include subjects relating to contagious diseases, municipal hygiene, bacteriology, water purification, sewage disposal and health laws. The course is similar to that which has been established by Dr. F. M. Meader, former city bacteriologist, at the College of Medicine of Syracuse University.
