GIRLS HOLD RALLY

ATHLETIC SPEECHES TO AROUSE INTEREST IN CLASS GAMES

PREPARE FOR TOURNAMENT

Boys Are Urged to Attend—Prominent University People Will Speak—First Girls' Rally of the Year

A girls' athletic rally will be the program at tomorrow's convocation. Chancellor Avery will deliver the first oration, followed by Miss Graham, Guy Reed, Genevieve Lowry and Miss Beghtol. The meeting will be in charge of Norma Kidd, a Black Masque.

This is the first girls' rally of the year and it remains to be seen whether they have as much enthusiasm, when by themselves, as they have when having a rally during football season. The girls have taken a very active part in all rallies this year and it is expected that they will have some real new features in tomorrow's rally.

While the program is chiefly for and by the girls, no mere man will be barred from attending on account of their sex. In fact, the girls stated that all the boys are urged to come and bring their feminine friends.

The rally is to promote interest among the girls in athletics in general and in the class basketball tournament in particular. The tournament will start Friday evening. The different teams, as announced in yesterday's Daily Nebraskan, are working hard and each team is confident of final victory. Those who were so fortunate as to witness the different games last year will not miss the entertainment Friday evening.

JUNIOR PLAY CAST IS NOT YET CHOSEN

Rumor About the Campus that Lead Has Been Refused by "Jack" Elliott

The cast for the Junior Play has not yet been selected. The tryouts were held about two weeks ago, but the authorities have been unable to agree upon the cast. It was understood last night that "Jack" Elliott of Kosmet fame had been offered the lead, but had refused. Who will next be selected is still uncertain, and meanwhile the Junior class is wondering if there is going to be a Junior play at all or not.

STUDENTS FAIL TO SUPPORT THE STAFF

Editor of Cornhusker Says the Lack of Student Co-operation Will Make Early Edition Impossible

The plans of the Cornhusker staff have been foiled. L. W. Samuelson, editor-in-chief of the Cornhusker, says that carelessness on the part of the students has made an early Cornhusker impossible.

The Cornhusker staff have found much cause for complaint because students fail to support them. The editor says that all Fraternity and Sorority pictures not received before Thursday night will not be given space. He further states that all Junior and Senior pictures that have not been paid for by Wednesday night will not be published and the money paid down will be forfeited.

RIFLE TEAM SECOND

MADE GOOD SCORE AGAINST THREE TEAMS

YALE WON BY SMALL SCORE

Sharp Has Best Record—Made Perfect Record in Match Against Michigan—Armstrong Has Two Records of 99

The Nebraska Rifle Team ranks second in class C, according to the fourth report received from Washington, D. C. It has defeated Lehigh, Mississippi, and Idaho by a good score, and lost to Yale by only a very small margin. Yale's score was 914 and Nebraska's 906. Yale leads the class by nine points.

The match with Lehigh was shot January 7. Nebraska scored 901. Lehigh failed to turn in the records of its shoot, so the match was given to Nebraska by default. The score by individuals was:

	Standing	Prone
Abbott	88	89
Abel	80	90
Armstrong	71	82
Dailey	86	88
Line	89	83
Total	901.

Mississippi lost the match held January 14 by a score of 827 to 795.

	Standing	Prone
Sharp	95	98
Hall	88	98
Abel	91	88
Southwell	89	88
Gribble	77	94
Total	906.

	Standing	Prone
Chaffin	174
Leggett	169
Smith	159
Day	183
Raney	157
Total	795.

The match with Idaho also resulted in a victory for Nebraska. Score, 902-843. The individual score for the Idaho team has not yet been received. Nebraska met her first defeat at the hands of Yale by the close score of 914 to 906.

The reports from the match with Michigan have not reached here. However, in this match Nebraska scored 919, the highest yet made in the class, so it is reasonable to suppose that the contest goes to Nebraska.

CASES TO BE TRIED IN THE LAW COLLEGE

Students Permitted to Attend Mock Trials Held Each Week in Law Building

Two cases will be tried in the District Court of the College of Law this week-end. Cases are tried every week by both the Senior and Junior classes. The cases docketed for this week are: Loomis vs. Neighbors & Miller, Friday at 2 o'clock, in Court Room, and Foe & May vs. Eckerson & White, at the same hour in Law 201. The first case involves a question of partnership, while the latter deals with the law of sales. Judges Foster and Ledwith will have charge of the cases. Students are welcome at these trials.

Senior Societies Will Entertain

The Black Masques and Innocents are planning to give a Senior party some time in the near future. The date will probably be March 12. Judging from the good time enjoyed by the girls at the Senior girls' parties given by the Black Masques earlier in the year, the event will be a memorable one in the history of the class.

This party is not to be confused in any way with the annual Black Masque reception usually given later in the year.

THE PIANO RECITAL PROGRAM ENJOYED

Professor Arvid Samuelson Played Before Students at Convocation—Encore Numbers Appreciated

Professor Arvid Samuelson, teacher of piano at the University School of Music, and well known to the student body at Nebraska, again favored the convocation attendants with one of his musical programs at the Temple yesterday morning.

Professor Samuelson's programs are always highly enjoyable, but it is the opinion of many of those in attendance last Tuesday that the program was one of the instructor's most brilliant efforts. After the regular program, Mr. Samuelson gracefully responded to a vigorous encore, which was duly appreciated by the audience.

Following is the program as carried out:

Etude, D flat.....Liszt
Sounds from Vienna Woods.....
.....Strauss-Schutt
Papillons.....Rosenthal
Rhapsody, C major.....Dohnanyi

Doctor Bessey Worse

Doctor Bessey suffered another attack of the heart yesterday afternoon and his condition is worse than at any time during his illness.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA HERE ON MAY FIFTH

New York Symphony Orchestra, Conducted by Walter Damrosch, Will Play in Lincoln on May Fifth

The New York Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Walter Damrosch, has been secured for the May Festival. The entertainment will be given in St. Paul's Church because the seating capacity there is greater than in any building on the University campus. The date of the Festival is May 5. Numbers by the University Chorus and by several soloists will contribute to the program.

A Lincoln engagement of the New York Symphony Orchestra is made possible only by the fact that it will at that time be on its way to the coast.

Work for Students

An extensive movement is on at this time in the University of Illinois for the placing of students in positions whereby they may earn enough money to allow them to stay in school. The Y. M. C. A. has charge of the work and because of the early spring the request is being made that housecleaning work, lawn raking and other jobs of like nature be given to the students.

SHIELDS MAY PLAY

HUSKER CENTER MAY GET INTO COYOTE GAME SATURDAY

SCRUBS OUTPLAY VARSITY

Trim Regulars 22-21 in Yesterday's Workout—The Return of Shields Boosts Hopes of Huskers—Coyotes Win From Peru

Paul Shields, regular center on the Cornhusker quintet, was out for practice last night for the first time since his injury in the Wesleyan game, several weeks ago. Coach Stiehm stated that there was a bare possibility that Shields would be able to get into the game. His knee is still very weak, and bothers him a good deal, but if it gets into working condition by Saturday, Nebraska's chances to hold the Coyotes will be greatly improved.

Practice last night was a miserable affair as far as the varsity were concerned. The scrubs outplayed the regulars in their regular set-to, and came out ahead with a 22-21 score. Shields played center for the scrubs, Jim Gardiner and Sheldon, guards, Thiesen and Campbell, forwards. The regulars played slow basketball, and could not locate the basket with any consistency. The teamwork of the regulars was below form, which, combined with their inability to shoot baskets and their jerky floorwork, spelled victory for the scrubs. The two scrub forwards, Thiesen and Campbell, hit the hoop with deadly accuracy. The combination Shields to Gardiner to Shields to Ehiesen to Campbell to the basket worked with astonishing regularity against the varsity men. For the regulars, Rutherford and Hugg played nearest their usual form and, with Kelfer, did most of the varsity point-making.

The Coyotes defeated the Peru Normalites Monday evening 28-8 in the Wesleyan gymnasium. Wesleyan is playing wonderful basketball, and had little trouble in disposing of the school teachers, although they are one of the strongest teams in the state. Johnson, Hughes and Vifquain were the stars of the Wesleyan lineup. With the Peru game past, with everyone in tip-top condition, and with no further chances for injuries, except the remotely possible ones of practice sessions, the Coyotes are settling down to put on the finishing touches for the Nebraska contest.

FIFTH SYMPHONY AT NEXT CONVOCATION

One of the Best Known of Beethoven's Symphonies—Usual Lecture in Art Hall on Saturday

The Fifth Beethoven Symphony will be given at convocation next week Tuesday. The attendance will undoubtedly be even larger than for the Fourth, as this symphony is much better known and the favorite one of many people. The second movement is one of unusual interest and beauty. Saturday at 5 p. m., in Art Hall, students will be given a last opportunity to become acquainted with the symphony before it is given.
