INSPECTION OF THE CADETS DELAYED

Military Inspection Postponed Because of Illness of Officer Detailed to This Section

The commandant is gratified to note that the weather is becoming favorable for the opening of spring drill. Monday and Tuesday evenings due to the inclemency of the weather under foot, drill was held in the Armory. However, drill outside is scheduled for this evening. The department had received notice of the proposed inspection by one of the board of four army captains who constitute the supervisory board of inspection of the military stations of the country. However, they later received notice that the officer detailed to this section was taken ill and that he was sent to a section farther west for his health.

The inspection of the division is postponed indefinitely. For the present, however, though inspectors may come and inspectors may go, drill goes on forever.

THE HIGHWAY OF LIFE

I plucked a lovely mountain flow'r
From among the rocks one day.
Transplanted it within a vase,
Because it was so bright and gay.

Many a passerby would stop
To look upon the highland flow'r,
And every one who beheld it,
Exclaimed, "Tis from some shaded bower."

To the velvet petals they touched their lips,
And breathed its wild perfume,
Then spoke of it in glowing words
As they would leave my room.

But soon the flow'r began to fade,
As though 'twere pining for decay.
And e'er its petals had been curled
Its very charms had passed away.

For old time's sake I left it there
That passersby might see
The dainty works of God's great hand
From death are never free.

But no one stopped his hurried pace
To pine the flow'r's decay.
But hurriedly moved on along
Each one a flow'r on his way.

Like the flow'r is life's deceit
When youth is ever gay.
But those who flatter turn to seek
A lovelier flow'r along the way.
