DEBATE TOMORROW

SEVENTH ANNUAL INTERCLASS CHAMPIONSHIP DEBATE

SOPHOMORES AND JUNIORS

Professor M. M. Fogg, Professor Caldwell, and Mr. O. K. Perrin Are Chosen for Judges—Juniors Will Defend Negative

The seventh annual debate for the interclass championship will be held tomorrow—Phi Beta Kappa Day—at a special Convocation beginning at ten o'clock, when all classes will be dismissed. After the debate the names of the Seniors who have won honors will be announced.

The question to be debated is the live one of the export of munitions of war: "Resolved, That the government of the United States should prohibit the sale of munitions of war by citizens of this country." The contest will be between the Juniors, who, on the negative, unanimously defeated the Seniors on March 2, and the Sophomores, who, on the affirmative, by a three-to-nothing decision, overcame the Freshmen on the same date. The Juniors will be represented by August C. Krebs of Friend, Samuel C. Zimmerman of Lincoln, and Guy C. Chambers of Sidney; the Sophomores by Axel R. Swenson, Oakland; Robert B. Waring, Geneva, and Anton H. Jensen, Blair.

This is a debate that can be followed and appreciated by every person who reads the daily papers; it is not a dry, out-of-the-way subject, but a fine chance to gain an insight into the neutrality policy of the government and to understand something of the trials of President Wilson and Secretary Bryan have to contend with. The team members have been working hard for about two months. An interesting and instructive discussion is certainly in store for the audience.

Professor M. M. Fogg, Professor Caldwell, and Mr. O. K. Perrin have been chosen judges. At the close of the preliminary debate the two teams shook for sides. The Juniors won and chose to defend the negative, on which they had defeated the Seniors.

Mr. Swenson will open for the affirmative, followed by Mr. Jensen and Mr. Waring. The order of speakers for the negative will be Mr. Krebs, Mr. Zimmerman and Mr. Chambers.

The members of the Freshman team, whom the Sophomores defeated March 2, were George Grimes, Omaha; William Cull, Oakland, and George Craven, Lincoln.

The Seniors who went under to the Juniors were Joseph A. Filippi, Clarkson; Walter B. Sadilek, Wilber.

TENNIS CLUB TO START ACTIVITIES

Courts Are in Prime Condition to Be Rolled—Must Be Attended to at Once

The Tennis Club is about to come out of its winter quarters. A visit to the courts yesterday revealed the fact that they are now in prime condition for rolling, but if neglected the children in the neighborhood will soon have the ground all tracked up and cause no end of trouble.

LECTURE SLIDES IN A LOCKED BOX

Prof. Lucile Eaves Was Unable to Unlock the Box Containing Slides for Illustrated Lecture

Prof. Lucile Eaves received a box of slides yesterday for the illustrated lecture which she will give as the opening number of University Week, Friday evening. No key came with the box, however, and she was at a loss to know how she was going to open it. She took it to the University locksmith, but he was unable to fit a key. Dean Engberg saved the day when he suggested trying a pin, which unlocked the box at the first attempt.

LETTER IS RETURNED AFTER YEAR'S TRAVEL

Letter Mailed a Year Ago Returned With Six Cents Postage Due—"Awgwan" Paid Postage

After being in the mails for a year, a letter was returned to A. H. Dinmore yesterday marked "Postage Due Six Cents." It was mailed to Charles Wohlford, Cadet Officers' Association, last March, and since that time has been traveling along the circuit of Uncle Sam's mailing routes. Mr. Dinmore refused to pay the six cents, as he claimed the letter would be of little use to him in its decayed state.

The "Awgwan" paid the postage later. They intend to cut one or two of the popular jokes of that ancient period from its pages to use in the next edition of their magazine.

SIXTH SYMPHONY FOR CONVOCATION

Large Audience Enjoyed Beethoven's Melody by String Quartet, With Mrs. Raymond at the Organ

The growing popularity of the musical entertainments at Convocation was manifested again yesterday morning when a large audience heard the Sixth Symphony by Beethoven played by the String Quartette, with Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond at the organ.

Probably the idea of the theme can be best got from the secondary titles given the different movements by Beethoven, which may be taken as authoritative hints of what thoughts the composer intended to convey by the music. The sub-heads follow:

Allegro ma non troppo. Awakening of Cheerful Feelings on Arriving in the Country.

Andante molto mosso. Scene at the Brook.

Allegro. Merry Gathering of Peasants.

Allegro. Thunderstorm.

Allegretto. Glad and Grateful Feelings After the Storm.

The theme has to do with the joys one meets upon gaining the open country—the songs of the birds and the various nature sounds. The listeners are then carried to a brook and the murmur and babble of the waters is distinctly audible. Next comes the peasants gathering for a dance. This movement opens with a jig-like melody that transports one to the festivities.

The dance is interrupted by a thunder storm which breaks up the fun and sends the dancers to seek shelter. As the storm subsides and the birds again start singing, comes the shepherd's song after danger—a simple lyric with a touch of the formal devoutness of an ancient hymn. With this pleasing melody the music ends.

CHANCELLOR SPOKE OF UNIVERSITY WEEK

Students Who Will Go to Give Entertainments Reminded of Responsibility and University Standards

Chancellor Avery spoke yesterday to students who are going away Extension Week. He reminded the students that they were responsible for impressions given concerning University standards. As individuals they are free to play pool, but as representatives of the University they must refrain. The legislature and the inhabitants of the towns visited will all be friendly, but critical.

The Chancellor commented on the altruism of the performers, saying he did not doubt they would catch the spirit of the project and do full credit to the University.

LEGISLATORS STUDY TUBERCULOSIS LAWS

Thirty-Two Legislatures Considering Different Laws Along This Line—Number of Bills Up

Bills dealing with tuberculosis are now being considered in thirty-two state legislatures, according to an announcement made today by The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

In six states, Alabama, Arizona, California, Iowa, Tennessee and Washington, bills are being considered which call for the reporting and registration of all living cases of tuberculosis. Alabama, Connecticut, Iowa, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia are working for laws which will require that consumptives who refuse to observe sanitary regulations and are a menace to others may be removed and detained in hospitals. In Alabama, Arizona, California, Illinois, Maine and Missouri, legislation permitting the establishment of county or local hospitals for tuberculosis are being discussed, and in California, Illinois, Iowa, Maine, Missouri and New Hampshire state subsidies of $3 to $5 per week per patient are being asked for such institutions. A more or less complete reorganization of the state health work is sought in several states, especially Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, Texas and Arizona. In Indiana and Alabama bills providing for full-time county and city health officers are being considered.

As an aid in furthering these and similar bills, the National Association has issued a pamphlet entitled "Tuberculosis Legislation," which contains a digest of existing laws in this field with comments and comparisons of some of the most important ones.

UNI FUNDS REDUCED

HOUSE COMMITTEE SLASHES THE MAINTENANCE BILL

MAKE REDUCTION OF $145,000

Bill Will Probably Receive Sanction of Legislature—Taylor's Plan of Itemized Appropriations Not Adopted

The special house committee on university and normal schools has slashed into Nebraska's share of the General Maintenance Bill, and, if their action is sanctioned by the legislature, the university and also the normal schools, will receive smaller appropriations in the next two years.

The university is cut from $1,325,000 allowed it during the past biennium to $1,180,000 for the coming two years. This is a reduction of $145,000 in the provision for university support. In addition, the university is allowed, the same as in the past, to use its cash fund receipts estimated at $500,000 for the two years. It will also have the customary use of several hundred thousand dollars received from the United States government.

In dealing with the four normal schools the special committee has cut down their total appropriation by $186,500 as compared with two years ago. In the 1913-1914 biennium the amount at the disposal of the normal board was $722,000. For the ensuing two years, the committee allows $535,500 for all purposes. The reduction is affected entirely by cutting out new buildings.

The Extension Bill

The third bill, covering university campus extension, appropriates only $300,000 out of the three-fourth mill levy to be used of the three-fourth mill. This is in accordance with the guaranty given two years ago by Lincoln business men that the cost to the state for additional land to enlarge the down town campus would not exceed $300,000. The remainder of the three-fourths mill levy for campus extension, or rather 93 per cent of it, will be available for buildings and improvements. The total proceeds of the levy for six years are estimated at $2,000,000, so that approximately $1,700,000 will be available for buildings and other improvements.

The main university appropriation of $1,180,000, which will be made up of the regular 1 mill levy and money taken from the state general fund, is divided into just two items. These are $750,000 for salaries and $430,000

A copy of "Old Penn," the weekly review of the University of Pennsylvania, was received at the Daily Nebraskan office yesterday. It is a magazine somewhat resembling the "Mid-west Quarterly," and contains all the important news from its university. It also contains an alumni column and the scheduled events for the week following publication.
