Just Before the Battle, Mother
By Col. E. T. Lee

Just before the battle, mother,
I am buckling on my splints,
While the surgeon on the side lines
Fixes arnica and lint.

On my head's my helmet, mother,
On my shoulder is a pad;
Rubber bandages and nose guard
Shield from ill your six-foot lad.

Just before the battle, mother,
I am thinking some of you;
Still I can't forget that full-back
Whom I've sworn an oath to do.

I am going to paste him, mother,
I shall put him in a trance;
See, even now at my suggestion
They have brought the ambulance.

REFRAIN:

Farewell, mother, you may never
Recognize me any more;
But that full-back will be missing
When the battle cries are o'er.

NEWS FROM OTHER COLLEGES

Simplified Spelling Gains in Favor
Sixty-seven universities in the United States are using simplified spelling, according to the report of the simplified spelling board. Several state universities have adopted this method. Missouri leads with nine such institutions.

Campus Model at Exposition
A model of the University of Illinois campus, fifteen feet long and eight feet wide, which has been made at the cost of $1,000, will be sent for exhibition at the San Francisco Exposition.

Put in Cooler for Playing Marbles
Two Wisconsin seniors were recently arrested for playing marbles on the sidewalk. The charge against them was disorderly conduct. Where marble playing involves disorderly conduct is a debatable question, but perhaps perfectly logical to a Madison policeman.

Illinois Wins Championship
Twelve victories and no defeats was the record won by the University of Illinois basketball five this season. This fine showing gave them the championship in the Middle West, with Chicago second.

But Two Free Colleges in U. S.
Washington State University was recently added to the universities charging fees, when the state legislature passed a bill providing for a $10 tuition. The University of Idaho and the College of Hawaii are the only remaining free institutions in the United States.

An Early Spring Cold Wheeze
One of those early spring colds has inspired the following spring poem in the Drake Daily Delphic:

Spring tibe has cob
Likell, Likell,
For joy we sig
Likell, Likell.

Courses Offered in Woman Suffrage
Plans are being laid to establish a school to prepare women for the responsibilities of the ballot—when they get it. Courses will be offered which will lead to an understanding of how to attain and how to use the vote. This school is to be established at the University of Missouri.

George Washington a Yale Alumnus
On Alumni Day at Yale an exhibition was shown of correspondence between President Stiles and George Washington, showing that Yale had conferred on Washington in 1781 the degree of Doctor of Laws. The fact that Washington had been so honored by Yale, it was pointed out, while a matter of record, was not generally known.

Tiger Coach Picks Collegiate Team
Coach Luehring, of Princeton, picks the following all-collegiate basketball team:

Forwards—Brown, Cornell; Kinney, Yale.

Center—Lee, Columbia.

Guards—Haas, Princeton; Arnold, Yale.

As a maker of programs Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra, stands unequalled among the men of his profession. Naturally good conductors are born, not made, and the man who can wield his baton over an orchestra in a manner which will make his men do exactly what he wants them to do is a born conductor. This is but one branch, however, of the art of giving symphony concerts. It is necessary likewise to arrange a program with the proper proportion of light and shade.

If there is to be a soloist his or her part of the program must not overbalance the rest. If a number is especially tragic, a gayer one must follow. It is in matters of this kind that Walter Damrosch is a past master.

Mr. Damrosch has arranged many special programs, one recalled was devoted to "the family," whose basis was a performance of Richard Strauss' "Domestic Symphony," in which papa, mamma, and the baby are portrayed in tones; another devoted to the great composers in their lighter moods included Haydn's "Kindersymphony," and the men in the orchestra played on toy whistles, drums and other miniature instruments.

Music lovers will be delighted to know that Conductor Damrosch and the entire New York Symphony Orchestra will appear at the Auditorium on the afternoon and evening of May 6th.

The University of Kentucky is going in for prohibition. A campaign has begun which will include the taking of a census of the university for the purpose of ascertaining the position of every student in regard to prohibition.

The University of Kansas boasts that it has the biggest department of Economics in the United States. The four members of the department faculty average more than six feet in height and each tips the beam at more than 200 pounds.

Seven Ages of Athlete
Jack Moakley of the Cornell University track and field team, is working on a chart showing the seven ages of the athlete. Moakley names baseball, football, track and field athletics for the youth and men between the ages of 18 and 25. From 25 to 30 the athlete should begin to drop the more strenuous pastimes for those of less exhausting effort. For men between the ages of 30 and 40 the Cornell coach strongly recommends tennis. For 40 onward he prescribes golf.

Why be a Crab?
If some young freshman speaks to you,
And starts some foolish line of gab,
Just answer him in his own way.
Omit your hauteur for a day.
Don't be a crab!

If some old "prof" surprises you,
And gives you "D" in shop or lab.
For reasons that you cannot see,
Be glad you didn't get an "E."
Don't be a crab!

If father gets a little wary,
On expenses keeps close tab,
Do not languish in dismay;
You may treat some other day.
Don't be a crab!

If some fair maiden here or there
Gives to your heart a ruthless stab,
Accept your lot, and don't be sore,
For such is life the wide world o'er.
Don't be a crab!
—Rose Technic.

The editor of the Vermont "Cynic" says that one thing a person can never learn at Vermont is promptness. The habit of arriving late at class, at rehearsals, and at all meetings and appointments is becoming so prevalent, that class room doors are now locked against tardy entrants. In spite of this, the editor predicts that the University will soon be running an hour behind scheduled time.

Flattering.
"Say, ma, that new lady in the house next door gave me a piece of pie."
"I hope you thanked her very politely for it?"
"Yes'm."
"What did you say?"
"I said I wished pop had met her before he got 'quainted with you.'"
—Drake Delphic.

Ima Nut—Does your fountain pen leak that way all the time?
Soami—Oh my, no! Just when I have ink in it.—Widow.

Strictly Modern—Kind Stranger.
How old is your baby brother, little girl?
Little Girl—He's this year's model.
—Chicago News.
