TUESDAY, APRIL 13, 1915

The attendance at the Gymnastic Meet was an unpleasant reflection upon our school. We muster a nine thousand crowd at a football game where only twenty-two men take part and when when we have a big meet to which the large universities of the West send from ten to fifteen men to participate we turn out a crowd that wouldn't do justice to a good dog fight. There is something vitally wrong with the sporting spirit at Nebraska. Just what the difficulty is, it is hard to determine. But it would seem that there is a tendency to support football to the exclusion of other sports. Football is rightly the leading sport and probably always will be. It deserves the support and attention it now receives. But the men who attain proficiency on other lines are as deserving of attention, advertisement and support as are the men in football.

Football should be supported, but because it is the big sport and is the best from the commercial standpoint is no reason that everybody should lay down on the job as soon as that season is over. We need a spirit at Nebraska that recognizes mental, moral, and physical development wherever it is found and encourages such development by its support.

MILE MEN PICKED

the interest of building up the squad and filling up some of the places which are as yet rather sparsely populated, a big meeting for everyone interested in track—first year men as well as varsity eligibles—will be held at eleven o'clock this morning in Law 101. The program includes, among other things, a short talk by Coach Reed, explaining the situation and the remedy; and the making of plans for the organization of freshman track.

Hot Off the Bat

One of the interesting events happening on the trip of the Road Show was a game of basket ball between the Osceola High School and members of the troupe. The line-up was as follows: Phil Warner, "stationary" forward; Phil Southwick, "stationary" forward also; Jimmy Allison, "stationary" center; Ralph Northrup, "stationary" guard; Dick Rutherford, "running" guard. When four of the Osceola men were keeping "Dick" down, the other four troupers would try to keep the ball away from the rest of the Osceola team. Phil Warner retired early in the first half with a scratched shoulder but returned to his "stationary" guard later in the game. Fouls were constantly called upon Mr. Northrup because he would insist upon throwing his arms around his opponent's and crying, "Give her to me, give her to me." The exact score, because of inefficiency of office equipment of the high school, is not exactly known.

Prof. Scott, speaking to manager Northrup of Road Show: "Did you find out about those acoustic properties?"

Northrup, trying to act just as if he had: "Sure, the manager said that some cheap actors took them with them a couple years ago."

Bryson and Harkson corporation have purchased a machine the make of which is a Ford, the body of which will be stripped and two bucket seats will be inserted. The owners promise to have the car in running order before the spring fussing season is under way.

Faculty Men With Guilty Consciences Please Step Forward

In a recent issue of the Tribune, under the caption of "Little Aids for Cupid," appeared the following letter and answer. It is just a little too good for the college public to miss altogether. The letter follows as it was published:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:
"I am a freshman University student and have become quite friendly with one of my younger unmarried instructors. I am a member of a good sorority and said to be popular. He is quite handsome and of good family. During the winter he has called on me rather often. Is it proper to receive his attentions? Do you think I ought to consult my parents before I become more friendly? My friend did not give me very high marks on the recent examination, but that may have been simply because he did not care to show partiality—and he has not been less intimate and cordial since."
"BRIGHT EYES."

The following is the answer:
"So far as I know it is all right for you to accept his attentions. However, I hardly think I would go with him to the exclusion of all others until he had declared himself. He is wise to keep the personal element out of school relations. As to taking your parents into your confidence, that is always a wise plan."—Minnesota Daily.

SPRING ATHLETICS
OFF AT FULL SWING

Five Baseball Teams Are Being Organized in Various Colleges—Track and Football Progress

Now that the spring weather has opened up spring activities are getting into full swing. Our track team is fast getting into shape, spring football practice is well under way and the baseball teams are being organized.

A meeting was held in the Law College this morning organizing their team. Vic Halligan has charge of the law team and is fast getting their material together to get them out for practice.

The Arts and Science College will form two teams, one team for Freshmen only and one for the upper classmen. Those wishing to join one of these teams are expecting a meeting in the near future and look forward to organizations that will be winners.

Those in the Engineering College are singling out their good material and will form their team in the near future. The engineers seem to have some good men. One imagines an engineer as figuring out some clever work—it might be well for the other teams to watch them closely.

The Agricultural College is forming a team and if they have any of the material left from last year's team it will be a good one.

There will be but five teams organized this year assuring plenty of good material for each team and some correspondingly good and interesting games. Each team will play every other team two games making eight games in all. The first game will be scheduled soon in order that the last matches will be played off in four or five weeks time.

Spring is here and all the "pep" that goes with it. Interest is being taken in baseball in general, the boys are getting a line-up on the big league teams and are themselves getting into form. What can you do for your college team?

Athletic News From Other Colleges

The University of Illinois track squad, 20 strong, departed last week for Berkeley, California, where they will meet the State University team April 3. This is the first time in the history of the Western Conference that one of the members of that organization has sent a team to the Pacific coast.

Virgil Rector, '16, of Omaha, Neb., has been elected captain of the Dartmouth basketball team for next year. He played center the last two years and is an all-around track athlete.

The Michigan football schedule for 1915, as announced recently, contains but six games. The list is as follows:

- Oct. 9—Case School of Applied Science at Ann Arbor.
- Oct. 16—Mount Union at Ann Arbor.
- Oct. 23—Michigan Agricultural College at Ann Arbor.
- Oct. 30—Syracuse at Ann Arbor.
- Nov. 6—Cornell at Ann Arbor.

Every intercollegiate record holder will compete in the annual Pennsylvania U relay games to be held in Philadelphia, April 23. It will be one of the greatest gatherings of athletes since the Olympic games.

Among those entered are, Howard Drew, the negro sprinter from California, Baranick, the Chicago U flier; Ted Meredith, Hoffmire, Speiden, Kelley, Beatty the shot champion, Braun, the hurdler, Oler, the jumper and Nordell, the broad jumper.
