COLLEGE ANNUAL EDITORS TO MEET

Their Idea Is to Organize a Permanent "College Annual Publication Association"

Managers and editors of college annuals in the vicinity of New York City, believing that it would be for the betterment of college annuals, have decided to call a convention of the incoming business managers and editor-in-chief, and their associate staff, to be held in New York City on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, June 14, 15, and 16. Their idea is to organize a permanent "College Annual Publication Association."

Dean Bouton, business manager of the 1917 Columbian, has been selected as temporary chairman, with headquarters established at room 708, 10 East 43d street, New York City.

Arrangements have been made with one of the hotels whereby the managers and editors will be able to secure a due bill in return for a page of advertising in their annuals. This due bill will be good for all charger on the hotel, and will be good to use at the convention.

The committee had in mind, in view of the fact that nearly all of the national advertisers in college annuals are located in New York City and the vicinity. Therefore, if these men could stay for two or three days, they could secure these advertisements. The committee are arranging to have several prominent men in printing, engraving, binding and advertising deliver short talks. They believe, however, that the men will be able to get more out of it by the free discussion of their respective annuals. The committee is now working on the program and expect to be able to announce the same within a few days.
