UNIVERSITY PAGEANT

WILL BE GIVEN ON AFTERNOON OF MAY FIFTH

PROFESSOR SCOTT IN CHARGE

Several Faculty Members Will Help With the Work—Will Help Entertain Returning Graduate Students

The University Pageant to be given the afternoon of May 5th is one of the greatest attempts at entertainment which has taken place at Nebraska. The success of the feature is assured because of the experienced leaders in the work. Professor Scott has charge of the pageant as general director; Miss Betty Park and Miss Charlotte Whedon have charge of the dancing and the allegorical scenes. Mrs. Raymond is working with the chorus; Miss Hayden has designed the costumes, and Miss Branson has made several beautiful posters which will be on exhibition Wednesday. Guy Reed has charge of the business end of the work.

The pageant opens with the Adventures being led westward by the Spirit of Progress. They are enticed to remain on the plains by the Sprites of the Prairies.

The Indian scene shows the redmen coming to Salt Creek and making their little settlement on its banks. The next scene is the choice of the site of Lincoln, June 29, 1867. Three commissioners—Governor Butler, Secretary of State Conard, and Auditor Gillespie—are sent westward to look over Lancaster, Yankee Hill, Ashland, and others. On August 14, 1867, the site of Lincoln was chosen and proclaimed. A general celebration follows.

The fourth scene is a medley of University life centering around an old cow. General Nebraska spirit is suggested and college songs add "pep" to the scene.

The last scene is the "Grasshoppers and Afterwards." The most beautiful costumes are in this scene. Wheat, corn, grasshoppers, bluebirds, and Golden Hopes all appear in gorgeous costumes. The Golden Hopes are little children under seven years of age.

The pageant is a part of the extensive program to entertain returning graduate students. Several other features will be announced later.

He is head of the Psychology department at Illinois and is director of the Psychological Laboratories there. Professor Bentley was a Bachelor of Science at Nebraska and a Doctor of Philosophy at Cornell. Delta Win the First Division—Defeat the Kappa Sigs by Large Score

Delta Tau Delta won the championship of the first division in the Interfraternity Baseball League by completing the schedule with a percentage of 1000 when they defeated Kappa Sigma on the athletic field Saturday morning. On account of the high wind the Deltas piled up a big score, which the Kappa Sigs were unable to overcome. The game was called in the fourth inning.

The second division contest has not yet been decided. The Phi Deltas are the only team with a clear record, but they still have to play the Sig Eps. As soon as the division championships are decided the two winners will play for first honors in the league. MEET TO GOPHERS

MINNESOTA TAKES LAST DUAL MEET 86½ TO 30½

"ZUMMIE" AND SHELDON OUT

Missed Connections and Could Not Compete Saturday—Events Staged in Heavy Rain—Varsity Will Meet Freshmen and Old Stars Wednesday

The last dual meet on the 1915 track calendar went to Minnesota when the Gopher athletes, on their own field and in a driving rain, outpointed Nebraska 86½ to 30½. The Huskers were minus the services of Captain Zumwinkle and Sheldon, who, through a series of mishaps, failed to reach Minneapolis.

The 440 and relay were Nebraska's only firsts. Deering was declared winner of the 440 when Ritter of Minnesota was disqualified for blocking. The Husker relay team, composed of Bates, Scott, Deering, and Clark, circled the muddy track a good distance ahead of the Gopher four.

THE MAY QUEEN

SCHOOL OF DRAMA

WILL PRESENT ANNUAL PLAY DURING COMING WEEK

IBSEN'S "GHOSTS" TO BE GIVEN

Essie Jones and Maurice Clark Will Play the Leads—Play Will Be Staged at the Temple Theatre

With the presentation of "Ghosts" the School of Drama is taking a long stride toward the type of play that a university school of drama ought to produce. This is one of the epoch-making plays of the century, and one which, at the time it took all Europe by storm, undoubtedly exerted more influence on modern drama than perhaps any other one play. So different was this play from any other that had ever been presented before its time that George Moore, writing of its first presentation in Paris at the Theatre Libre, said: "The simple truth sought by Ibsen casts upon the scene so terrible a light, so strange an air of truth, that the drama seemed to be passing not before our eyes, but deep down in our hearts in a way we had never felt before." Of the storm of criticism that passed over Europe, chiefly adverse, there is little to be said today. Ibsen's own answer in "An Enemy of the People" silenced most of that. The fact remains that now this work stands out as one of the strongest plays from the acting standpoint Ibsen ever wrote.

There are but five characters in this play, and every one is important. The cast has been spending a great deal of time on this production and are prepared to give a very thorough as well as artistic piece of work. Miss Howell feels that she has placed the best possible talent in this play and is determined to make it the big dramatic event of the School of Drama year.

Essie Jones, who is taking the part of Mrs. Alving, is well known to University audiences and has been doing splendid work at rehearsals. Maurice Clark, who will play the part of Oswald Alving, is also a familiar figure in local theatricals. He has rehearsed the part before and ought to be able to do some excellent work. Miss Louise Dobbs has the difficult part of Regina. Harold Campbell will play Pastor Manders, and Fred Babcock will play Engstrand.
