THE TENNIS PETITION

The criticism is often made that the students at Nebraska are never united—that their efforts are seldom concentrated. In a large degree this criticism is just. The result is that there is no unanimous student opinion that can be called a power in our college community. But we believe that fully eighty or ninety per cent of the men and women attending the University are anxious that we have more tennis courts, whether they play tennis or not. The only way that we can get an expression of that desire in such a form that it will be of any effect is by putting our names down in black and white. The petition to the Board of Regents is being circulated today. By signing your name to it you can exert more influence than if you talked a year in favor of more courts. This is a place where actions and not words count. If you believe we need more courts, act immediately and put your name on the petition before the day is over.

The unpaid Nebraskan subscription accounts will be placed in the hands of a collector if not settled by Thursday of this week. Over $100.00 is being carelessly or maliciously withheld by student and faculty readers who have signed cards promising to pay and received the Nebraskan all year on the strength of these promises. Prompt attention to this matter will

GERMAN PLAY MAKES RECORD AT HASTINGS

Production, "Der Neffe als Onkel," is Presented by German Dramatic Club of University

The fame of the German Dramatic Club is spreading abroad. Last Tuesday the principal characters of the cast of "Der Neffe als Onkel," together with the coach, Prof. Amanda Heppner, went to Hastings and presented the play there in the evening. The play was the same which was given at the Temple Theatre, April 30. The following extract from the Hastings Daily Republican shows its success:

"The German play, 'Der Neffe als Onkel,' presented at the Kerr Opera House Tuesday night by the University of Nebraska German Club, with two Hastings young people prominent in the title roles, proved an entertainment of rare significance and interest to Hastings people. The opera house was almost filled with an audience that frequently manifested its genuine interest and appreciation of the many excellent features of the program.

"Miss Selma Kauf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kauf of this city, in the leading role interpreted her lines and part with a grace and brilliancy that won high merit and praise.

"Theodore Frank, son of Rev. Mr. Frank, former pastor of the German Lutheran church here, carried a leading part with a dash, spirit and ability that did him much credit. The stage settings were very pretty and thoroughly appropriate and the occasion of favorable comment."

The "Schauspieler" were so well entertained at German homes in the city that they found it difficult to part from Hastings in time to get back for the Ivy Day celebration.

Komensky Picnic

The annual picnic of the Komensky Club was held Saturday at Crete. About thirty members, chaperoned by Miss Hrbek, had a very enjoyable time playing picnic games, boating and dancing.

At the Magnet

The Magnet program for this week is one of the most elaborate ever shown at a local picture theatre. Beginning Monday and Tuesday with Laura Sawyer in "A Daughter of the People," originally produced on Broadway. The basis of this stirring and dramatic play is the eternal struggle between mass and class, and the self-redemption of a man whose God is money.

Wednesday and Thursday, "Rule G," the greatest railroad picture ever produced, with the co-operation and assistance of one of our greatest railroads, who gave men leave of absence and loaned engines and cars for the express purpose of playing in this film. A picture approved by prominent railroad men and officials, none of whom receive less than $20,000 per year, and who actually posed for this picture.

Friday and Saturday, Elsie Janis, the queen of comediennees, in pictures. The name of Elsie Janis is a lure in itself, but to add that this is her first appearance in moving pictures and that her comedy, "The Caprices of Kitty," is written by herself, and that she is supported by an all-star cast, including Courtenay Foote, Herbert Standing, Myrtle Stedman, Vera Lewis and Martha Mattox, doubles the attraction.

It is better than the first night of a successful Broadway production, because it embodies all the attractions of the stage in one brilliant idea. As many as possible are strongly urged to take advantage of the matinees and early evening performances and avoid the crowds.

Commencement Number to Be the Feature Issue of the Year—No Duplication of Cornhusker Beauties

A special feature of the Commencement number of Awgwan will be a full page devoted to the cream of Nebraska's most beautiful girls. It will be somewhat of a consolation feature in that Awgwan will not make its choice of the Cornhusker's belles, but will render judgment without regard to previous choosings. This will be a big thing and will undoubtedly attract a great deal of attention in that no girl chosen will be notified of the fact until she sees her features reproduced in the Commencement number. In addition, reasons will be published under each picture explanatory of Awgwan's ideals. Awgwan will stand as an impersonal judge, but behind his name are a capable and competent staff of worshipers at the shrine of beauty who possess no personal affiliation with any of the honored co-eds.
