

IN EVERY department, certain equipment is required which, to meet the approval of the heads of the departments, must come up to a certain standard of excellence. This, like many laws, can be, and is, evaded by the unscrupulous. However, such evasion of a standard cannot but reflect upon the integrity of a student or the dealer who works off "seconds" upon the student without the student's knowledge. Those who register for subjects requiring the purchase of equipment should look to the selection of that equipment with utmost care.
