of Work Given

From all reports Dan Cupid seems to have spent the summer very profitably among the University faculty. Seven professors from various departments were his victims.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lyndon Pope were married on June 15 at the Second Presbyterian church. Mrs. Pope was Miss Evangeline Long, daughter of the Rev. B. M. Long. Mr. Pope is a member of the faculty of the university law school. The couple are living at 500 South Twenty-ninth street.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hood were married on July 7. Mrs. Hood was formerly Miss Mildred M. Neimeier of this city. Mr. Hood is associate professor of horticulture at the state farm. The couple are keeping house at 1130 North Twenty-seventh street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilbert Upson, the latter formerly Miss Georgia Field, were married on June 16, and are now located in a new home at 3326 W street. Prof. Upson is head of the department of agricultural chemistry at the state farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver H. Gish were married June 9. Mrs. Gish was formerly Miss Edna E. Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Miller of this city. She is agraduate assistant in the department of chemistry. She received her master's degree last spring after working towards that end for two years. Mr. Gish is an instructor in mathematics. The couple are making their home for the present with Mrs. Gish's parents at 2163 South Seventeenth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Holland were married on September 2 at White River, S. D., where the bride had been making her home in recent years. Mr. Holland is an assistant in agronomy at the state agricultural school. The couple are living at University Place, the bride's former home.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wedeking should appear in the group. Mr. Wedeking is an instructor in the German department. He was married to Miss Hettie Williams of Dale, Ind., on June 2. Mr. Wedeking was taken ill with typhoid fever while studying at the summer school of the University of Wisconsin, but is sufficiently recovered to be able to take up his work again. Mrs. Wedeking is agraduate of the music department of DePauw university, Indiana. Mr. and Mrs. Wedeking are living at 1961 Cherry street.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey W. Smith were married at Plattsburgh on June 8. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Emma Mary Falter of Plattsburgh. Mr. Smith is an instructor in physics at the school of agriculture. Their home is at 3421 Starr street.

Charles and Richard Thornburg, of Spokane, Wash., arrived last Saturday for an extended visit in Lincoln. Both are former residents of this city.

PROFESSOR VISITS ALMA MATER

History Professor Impressed with Student Self-Government at Berkeley and Stanford

Professor Guernsey Jones visited the University of California this summer for the first time since he was graduated there in 1891 and says his "Alma Mater has grown like a mushroom. He met many of his old professors and classmates. Many of the old buildings are replaced by new ones, the number of students has increased enormously and the university now ranks second in our country.

Prof. Jones was especially impressed by the student self-government at the Universities of California and Stanford. He says it develops self respect among the students and creates a closer fellowship between professors and students. He recommends its adoption here.

The city of Berkeley increased its population from 15,000 45,000 in two years after the San Francisco disaster. The refugees from San Francisco moved to Berkeley and never returned. So Prof. Jones found the city of Berkeley as much changed as the university.

Prof. Jones visited many other places of interest including Grand Canyon, Yellowstone Park, Creater Lakes and the two expositions. He started for Alaska and got as far as Portland, Ore. Here he found the smoke of forest fires so dense that he decided to go no farther.

U HALL THEME BOX VICTIM

Many Solutions of the Tangle Are Offered—Cigar in Hall Gives a Working Clue—Who Is the Culprit?

What a prosaic and commonplace looking thing is the Freshmen theme box. As one passes it in U hall it is hard to realize that that uncouth looking receptacle is the goal of so many efforts of sons and daughters lately from the soil. It may resemble many things, but how analagous it is to the old box in which we put our precious pennies when we went to Sunday school after having experienced a birthday.

Ordinary as the box may look it is no ordinary affair. How many things of wonder and how many gems of wisdom it could divulge should it choose to break into speech. How many blasted hopes of youthful Shakespeares and orators to be, could it tell of. How many ambitions has it seen seared by a theme reader's most cruel blue pencil. How many tales of mystery could the old box give us and how many University secrets it could give publicity to should that same old box tell all that it has heard, describe all it has seen and state all that it has learned.

This has ever been so. Yet more forcibly is it brought to ones' attention just at present, for that humble and innocent Freshmen necessity is laboring under a dark suspicion. It is to come before the supreme authority for indictment on a charge of most dastardly and indiscreet action. Of course, the box cannot be said to have been "particeps criminis" in regard to the matter, but like the newspaper correspondent Archibald, who carried incriminating dispatches and evidence without knowledge of the fact, it has been made us of in a way which is inconsistent with the environment in which it is placed. This disclosure has become necessary because of the butt of a ten-cent cigar which was found one morning recently resting peacefully on top of the old chest.

A number of theories have been advanced as to the perpetrators of the atrocity. One of the most plausible is that the accused is remaining silent probably, to protect some one else more closely connected with the cigar, than itself. Assuming that this far the theory is correct, the next thing to ferret out is, who was the co-conspirator. In regard to this question a number of theories have also been advanced. One is that he must have

A meeting of the board of directors of the Nebraska Art association was held last Saturday evening, at which time preliminary arrangements were made for a big mid-winter exhibit.

The board decided to offer fifty free scholarships for instruction in drawing to the pupils of the Lincoln schools and fifteen to pupils in the high school.

This instruction is to be given in the Art Gallery on Saturday afternoon, under the direction of Miss Munly, assisted by advance students in the School of Fine Arts.

Tickets can be secured free of charge at Guy Reed's office any day next week between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock.

The commercial club's idea is to make this one of the best dances of the season. Elaborate plans have been laid which include a 15-piece orchestra and many innovations as to decorations and order of dances. The list of patrons and patronesses will be announced later.

HUSKER PROSPECTS KEEP PERKING UP

CHAMBERLAIN AND MOSER IN LINEUP YESTERDAY

RACELY WANTS MORE MEN

Freshmen Mentor Issues Call for Additional Material—Preparations
Being Made for Largest Opening Game in History

Things looked good at yesterday's practice, held at M street park. And not only the spirited exhibition put by the Varsity against the first year squad was responsible for this appearance; the presence of two new huskies in the regular lineup was responsible in large part for the happy expression which onlookers wore. The said huskies were Chamberlain and Moser, the former at left end instead of his old place at half, and the latter in the pivot position.

The scrimmage, which was of short duration, was of a conservative nature in the view of the hard grill given the men in the Varsity-Freshman game Saturday. The Freshmen were given the ball on the Varsity ten-yard line, and exhorted to put it over in ten downs. They accomplished this feat the first time in five attempts, but when they attempted to repeat, were compelled to relinquish the ball after ten futile attempts against the impregnable Carsity defense. The Varsity were then sent against the Freshmen, and succeeded in piercing the first year defense for long and consistent gains.

Chamberlain loomed up in old time form, stopping every Freshman play which came his way and demonstrating his prowess as a ground gainer. There was little comment when the big man was placed at end, and it is thought probable that he will start the game against Drake at the wing position, with Reese and Gardiner alternating at right half. He demonstrated his ability as a defensive half last fall, and nothing need be said of his offensive work. Coach Stiehm isn't peddling any advance information, and it is therefore only a matter of conjecture as to whether the change is made with a view to permanency.

If the Drake Bulldogs are coming to Lincoln next Saturday with ambitions to repeat the performance of the South Dakota Coyotes last fall, they will find a very appropriate setting, for preparations are being made for the biggest opening game crowd Nebraska ever had. State officials and Omaha and Lincoln executives have been invited, and the season will be formally opened by Gov. Morehead and Mayors Dahlman and Bryan. As to the ability of the Des Moines eleven to make good their intentions, there seem to be few in the Nebraska camp who are inclined to make light of Drakes' ability, but fewer still who think her capable of seriously endangering the Husker's chances.

The turn-out of new Freshmen material during the last few days has not come up to expectations of the first year mentor, and he is urgently calling for more men. The squad at the present time totals about forty—less than have turned out at sev-
