DISCUSS NATIONAL DEFENSE

Professor Caldwell and Some of His Friends Consider President's Proposed Policy

Prof. H. W. Caldwell invited some of the professors and students to his home Sunday evening to discuss the national defense problem of the United States. The following points were discussed:

1. Is it true that there is any powerful nation that has any desire or reason to make war on the United States? If so, what nation? What advantage would there be to gain?

2. Is it true that there is any nation capable of making a successful attack on the United States? Is it true that we are not reasonably well prepared now to defend our country? Is it true that in the last fifteen years the United States has spent $2,000,000,000 on its navy and now has no efficiency? Does not our remoteness from other powerful nations make our defense relatively easy?

3. Do present day world conditions increase or lessen the probability of any nation desiring or being able to attack the United States? What will be the sentiment of the masses of the European nations in regard to starting a new war at the close of the present struggle? Will any great nation be in a financial or industrial condition to turn at once against the United States? In brief, is there the remotest probability that any power will desire or be able to attack such a great nation as the United States?

4. How can the United States spend its wealth so as to make itself most powerful? Is it in mere militarism or in developing its transportation systems, in giving scientific training, in working out the problems of health and in giving efficiency through universal education of the highest type through solving the problems of unity of action and spirit between the employer and the laborer?

5. Finally, does preparation to use force tend to develop civilization and to secure what most Americans desire—universal peace and national good-will and co-operation? Are reason and justice to be ignored in the main and moral influence to be set aside? Is it true that America was right a year ago when it said that military preparation was a factor in causing war? Or are the views of the the troubled brains of today more logical and more reliable? Is it true or is it not true that a large part of those who are organizing for increased military power are either materially interested or psychologically overwrought?

After considering these problems for two hours the majority of those present voted for the following statement:

"Resolved, That the proposed program for increase of the army and navy may be postponed for at least one year in order to give time for ascertaining all the world facts bearing on the questions and for exercise of deliberate popular judgment thereon."

Komensky Club Play
The Komensky club will put on a three-act play entitled "Grandmother's Photograph." A definite date has not been set for the staging of the play as yet, but it is thought that it will be put on some time in November. The play is a dramatization of the story of the same name and was written by Eliska Krasnohorska, a graduate student of English and Slavonic literature at the University.

TEAM LEAVES FOR AMES ON FRIDAY

BIG PARADE TO ACCOMPANY THE TEAM TO ROCK ISLAND

BAND TO LEAD SNAKE DANCE

To Be Similar to Torchlight Parades of Previous Years—All Huskers Urged to Have Caps and Pennants on Hand

A big parade will accompany the football team to the Rock Island station tomorrow afternoon. It will leave the east entrance of the Armory at 3 o'clock wind up and down on Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, then to O street, and end with a snake dance and a march to the station.

The conveyance for the team will lead the procession, followed by the band and the students. It will be very much like the torchlight parades of previous years, with yells and songs led by the cheer leaders and music by the band.

All Huskers are urged to come out with caps and pennants and lots of spirit to give the team a send-off for the Ames game.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

T. A. Williams, of the Office of Student Activities, Makes Publication —Football Only Paying Sport

A financial statement of athletics for the last school year has been published in pamphlet form by T. A. Williams. It is the official itemized account of all sports at Nebraska and contains interesting data of the receipts and expenditures of this department. Football, as usual, is the only paying sport in the list and is credited with a gain of $3,630.92. The other athletics show losses varying from $36.88 to $719.45. Track shows the largest deficit.

The largest receipts were for the Kansas game, with gate receipts of $9,714. The Morning Side game is credited with $334, outside of season tickets, of which 60 per cent, or $2,434.80, is allowed to football.

The largest single expenditure was the share paid to the Kansas University athletic board, which amounted to $5,017.29, leaving us $4,696.71, and the Iowa game brought us only $2,229.80. The second largest expenditure in a single item is to Spaulding for equipments, amounting to $3,162.48.

The balance on hand at the end of the year is $1,813.15, compared to $2,094 last year. The total receipts this year were $28,851.67, and the total expenditures, $29,133.20. Permanent improvements and old bills paid amount to $1,642.24, so that the condition is really better than last year. The account has been audited and accepted.

Japanese Secretary Here

The Japanese secretary for promoting friendly relation among foreign students, Dr. Katsuji Kato, will be at the University of Nebraska Friday of this week. The international committee of the Young Men's Christian association is sending him on a trip among the universities and colleges to confer with the Japanese students.

Messrs. Yoshimatsu Yoshia and Tom Ejiro Maruyama are the only Japanese students in the University this year. The former is a Freshman in the A. & S. college, the latter is a special student.

Sigma Delta Chi Pledges

To Address Engineers

J. G. DeRemer, of the American District Steam company, will address the Senior engineers in M. E. 204 on Thursday, October 28, at 9 o'clock, on heat production and transmission. Mr. DeRemer is a graduate of the California university, and is in the city making investigations at the traction company's power plant.

Delinquent Military Drill.

Two hours' extra drill will be given to all cadets who fail to report on Friday evening in "Squad X" to make up unexcused absences. Sudden calls home on a Friday afternoon train or an inordinate interest in what Stiehm is doing with the Cornhuskers excuses no man from making up his work. To impress this fact upon verdant minds the Military department has adopted this stringent measure.

SOCIAL SERVICE LEADERS CHOSEN

DR. WARD OF BOSTON TO SPEAK TO UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

WAS ESTES PARK SPEAKER

Represents Federal Council of Churches—To Speak Monday Evening and Tuesday in Convocation —Noted as Direct Speaker

Harry F. Ward, Ph. D., secretary of the Methodist Federation for Social Service, is to be in Lincoln Monday and Tuesday of next week, chiefly for addresses before the students. He will speak at convocation Tuesday, November 2, and in the Temple on Monday evening, November 1.

Dr. Ward represents the social service movement, not only in the Methodist church, but in the Federal Council of Churches. He represents the principles and program of 17,000,000 people. He speaks with a background of broad experience and a long study of social and industrial problems. He is one of that group of pioneers who are preaching the gospel of social Christianity, the religion of everyday life, its application to business, industry and politics.

As a speaker Dr. Ward is very direct, and secures and holds attention by his marshalling of facts rather than by any emphasis on delivery. The "Labor World," in speaking of one of his addresses, said: "Dr. Ward wasted no time on 'bunk' and piffle and maudlin sentiment, but dug into the very vitals of the economic and social questions, like a steam shovel shoveling away at a bank of sand."

Dr. Ward was one of the speakers at the Estes Park conference this year, and the men in the University who were there are very much gratified to know that he is to be with us for these two days.

John Loder President

At a very boisterous meeting yesterday, the Junior Laws chose John Loder as president. Mr. Loder made a very interesting speech, but the uproar was so great no one heard it.
