played up to old-time form. Only once during the game was a Hawkeye within the Nebraska 15-yard line. Shaw and Corey, at tackles, opened big holes for the backfield and were demons on defense. Otopalik again proved the fact that he is a comer, for he played a better game Saturday than he has ever played. Brodie Proctor played a wonderfully strong defensive game, and was a consistent ground gainer. Cook and Caley, alternating at quarter, displayed almost parallel ability at returning punts and handling the Husker attack. Cook showed symptoms of developing an attack of "Twister" Banderism, and Caley sped between onward sweeping ends in electrifying style.

The seven points registered by Iowa came early in the second quarter, and were scarcely more than a fluke. Johnny Cook fumbled a nasty spiral on his own 20-yard line. Fosdick recovered the ball, and with no one between him and the goal, ambled the remaining distance for a touch-down.

Little Gross was the only Hawkeye who could do anything with Nebraska's defense, but the midget quarter lived up to all advance reports, proving to be a whole show by himself. Many times he squirmed through the Husker line or darted out from a wall of interference, behind which he seemed to be completely hidden for long and breath-taking dashes. He, too, was playing his last game, and Nebraska rooters were inclined to forget his tactics when he appeared for the first time in Lincoln—three years ago. The little wonder had all kinds of pep and fought hard to the very last. In the line, Captain Barron at center was the mainstay. He is a man of all-western ability. Nebraska made few gains through his vicinity.

Walter Eckersall, Chicago authority, and chooser of what is usually recognized as the official all-western football eleven, was on the field Saturday in the capacity of umpire, and it was apparent that he was keeping his adjudging eye open for prospective timber. He expressed himself after the game at being surprised at the improvement the Nebraska machine had made since the Notre Dame encounter. It was his opinion that the Stiehm Roller was easily the equal of any team in the west.

THE GAME IN EUROPE

Contest for Title of Continent Bitterly Fought on Ancient Gridiron—Wilhelm's Daschunds in Flashing Offense—Game in Detail

First Quarter
 "Germany kicked off to France, the ball going out of bounds into Belgium.

Belgium was there as a spectator, but was an old-time player and was itching to get into the game on the winning side. Instead of dodging the ball, Belgium caught it and started a brilliant return. Belgium made several clever plays, but could not hit the German line effectively, and was soon thrown for a loss and lost the ball on a steady march for the goal line, Paris. Germany relied on straight football, using old-style mass formations. The allies tried a number of forward passes, but they were broken up by the heavy German offense. Germany reached the 10-yard line before it could be stopped, but there the allies got the ball and executed a clever wing shift. They were unable to hit center, but circled the left end for several good gains, carrying the ball back to the 40-yard line. Germany then took to playing the open game, executing successful forward passes to Antwerp and Ostend. Both sides are alleging unnecessary roughness. The score at the end of the first quarter is 0 to 0.

Second Quarter

"The second quarter opened with the allies' ball on their own 10-yard line. They were forced to punt, and Joffre kicked a beautiful spiral. Von Hindenburg caught the ball, but was downed in his tracks. The Teutons made their downs, and gained many yards through the Russian line. Germany gained Warsaw, but fumbled and ball was recovered by Russia on their 40-yard line, but owing to their lack of experience and training they lost the ball on downs. Germany gained consistently with the Howitzer play and Quarterback Hindenburg should be given credit for his great knowledge of the game. He tried a number of forward passes, but they were broken up by the speedy Cossacks. The field was particularly slippery here and Germany was forced to resort to the Howitzer again. She was advancing by means of this play when King Winter called time for the first half. Score 0 to 0. During the intermission, the referee announced that the Cornhuskers had passed through another season undefeated and the Kaiser sent Professor Fling back home to scout on Jumbo Stiehm's proteges.

Third Quarter

"When the whistle blew Russia kicked off and Von Kluck recovered, but here, too, the field was very muddy and he failed to return. The winter had given each time to strengthen their lines and develop new plays. With the ball in the hands of Germany on the allies' 10-yard line, each resorted to the new trench play. The ball went to the allies, but they were forced to punt. Russia caught the kick, but failed to make a return. Time was taken out for Lusitania, who had been hit by a German player. Russia lost the ball on downs. The Teutons gained consistently on short passes to Austria, but were forced to punt when Serbia was substituted. The ball went out of bounds near the Dardanelles and Turkey was substituted for Germany. There was much roughness at this stage of the game, and Fullback Armenia was put out of the game permanently. Both teams fought hard without any material

England made a short pass to Russia and time was called for the third quarter.

Officials:
 Referee—United States.
 Field Judge—Dr. Maxey, International Law Expert.
 Linesmen—Holland and Switzerland.

Substitutes—For the allies: Russia, Serbia; for Germany, Austria, Bulgaria, and Turkey.
 Time of quarters—Six months.

Notes on the Game
 Greatest game ever staged; teams well matched and outcome still a question.

At present there is a squabble over whether Japan is eligible under conference rules.

Germany is warming up her substitute, Greece, while the allies are ready change in positions."

United States is seriously considering whether the Cornhuskers will be able to defend their title in case the winner should challenge us.

Mexico has gone football crazy, and
