

REGENTS ORDER MORE EQUIPMENT

Heating Plants on Each Campus to be Extended.

The board of regents have authorized the expenditure of approximately $15,000 for extension of the heating plants on the city campus and at the state farm.

The power plant will get a new boiler to replace the old one that has already outlived its usefulness. The new one will be much larger. It has been sorely needed for some time past.

A tunnel will be built from the boiler plant to the new Bessey and the new Chemistry buildings. On the farm campus a tunnel will be constructed from the heating plant to the new Dairy Husbandry building.

Employment Bureau Busy

The recently organized students' employment bureau has had a marked increase in the number of positions secured. Fifty-seven places have been filled during the first two weeks in February. The demand for students for different kinds of work has been filled except that for stenographers. The bureau requests that students who can write shorthand or use a typewriter, register their name and address immediately.

WILL SELL FOOD ON HONOR SYSTEM

Midnight feeds delivered to your very door! At last the problem of "how to get something to eat" along about 11 o'clock has been solved. Every night, between the hours of 10 and 10:30 o'clock, baskets containing pies, sandwiches, chocolate and fruit will be delivered to all the fraternity houses in the city. A price list will be in the basket and anyone may help themselves and leave the change in the basket, which will be collected promptly at 12 o'clock.

James H. Barker, '19, E. L. Lieben-dorfer, '17, and John Cejnar, '18, are the men who are starting this new enterprise. It is an innovation in the university and promises to become a very popular form of "luxury."

In the near future the same service will be extended to the sororities.

To Form American Club

All loyal Americans, regardless of political affiliations, who are interested in upholding the hands of the president of the United States in his effort to maintain absolute neutrality in the European war situation are invited to attend a meeting to be held in Law 106, tonight at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a political club. Although this organization will of necessity be political in nature, its primary object is to develop a spirit of patriotism in the University of Nebraska and to arouse sentiment favorable to the "America First" idea.

Two More Warm Days

There is no cold weather in sight for at least two days, says G. A. Loveland, director of the United States weather bureau. The present warm wave will melt all the snow that has covered the ground for the past few weeks. It will also give a rest to a good many "much worn" overcoats. There is nothing like the smile of Proserpina except perhaps a "rare day in June."

STUDENT TO BE PRIME MINISTER

Emil Hurja, Ford Peace Delegate
Writes of Influence of University
Youths in Government

University of Washington, Feb.—Scandinavian students are a tremendously serious lot, according to Emil Hurja, of Fairbanks, Alaska, who went with Henry Ford's peace propagandists to Europe and who is now publishing a series of articles on the trip in the University of Washington Daily, of which he was editor. The young men of the peninsular countries take a vital interest in the affairs of government, and are always ready to serve the public in any capacity.

"The president of the student association of the University of Christiania is secretary of a commission to investigate the feasibility of a government monopoly of grain, and is generally believed to be next in line for the prime ministership of Norway, after more training in diplomacy," Hurja wrote to the daily from Copenhagen.

The students of Norway, Sweden and Denmark were extremely courteous to the young men from the American colleges who went on the Ford expedition. They provided receptions, banquets, teas and excursion parties to many places of interest. "They have done far more," said Hurja, "than any American student group would do for a visiting delegation of foreign students in our country."

The Washington delegate recently arrived in New York, and will return to the university after a brief visit to Washington and Chicago.

GLEE CLUB REHEARSING

The rehearsals for the Glee club concert, to be given within a few weeks, are progressing rapidly under the direction of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond. There are twenty-four men in the club and all are working to make this one of the best numbers of the extension week program.

NONE WANTED THE DOLLAR

The campaign for knocks agitated by The Nebraskan has failed, as not one knock was given to the staff, either written or spoken, and those that were heard had to be beaten up from the hedgerows and by-ways. The competition closed yesterday, and the staff will keep the dollar offered until it finds some worthy charity, or can offer it again in the hope that it will improve The Nebraskan.

Although the response to the offer was not good, The Nebraskan is still hopeful that criticisms will be made. Any suggestions that you can make that will help improve the paper will find a welcome.

COMPLIMENT DR. LUCKEY

"In an article on 'Educators as I Have Known Them,' Journal of Education (Boston), February 10, 1916; Dr. A. E. Winship says: 'Dean G. W. A. Luckey of the Graduate School of Education of the State University of Nebraska and president of the State Teachers' association, is one of the clearest professional thinkers of the day.'"

CHANCELLOR AGAINST NIGHT CLASSES

Chancellor Avery gave his second and final dictum on the proposed plan for workmen's night classes to be conducted by the department of mechanical engineering, declaring that the plan as presented offered private work to faculty men paid yearly salaries by the university.

"The university does not feel that its professors should expect to have private classes and side lines of this character. The movement itself is a very commendable one; I offered the professors the opportunity of teaching the classes on their regular salaries and to lighten the work during the day, and even offered to hire a man from the outside to conduct the classes. But this did not meet with the approval of those behind the proposition."

Clara M. Krupicka, who attended the university last year, is teaching at Friend, Nebr.

CAN YOU NAME IT?

The Daily Nebraskan offers a prize of $1.50 for the best name for a page devoted primarily to the interests of the women students—such as was published Tuesday.

The name should be appropriate to the page—which will be devoted to the expression of the student opinion as reflected by the "co-eds." The name must be submitted before 4 o'clock Saturday.

GIRLS' RALLY AT CONVOCATION

Chancellor Avery to Give Co-Ed
Athletics a Boost

A girls' athletic rally will be held at convocation hour today for the purpose of working up interest and enthusiasm in the coming interclass basketball tournament scheduled for Saturday night, February 19, so when the band begins to play at 11 o'clock today the crowd will know that "something is doing."

Chancellor Avery will be the principal speaker and short talks will be given by Guy Reed, Miss Ina Gittings and Miss Camille Leyda, '16. Special music will be given by Miss Dorothy Ellsworth, '17, Miss Dorothy English, '19, and Miss Beatrice Dierks, '19. Miss Louise Brownell, '16, president of the Black Masques will preside.

The class teams will be present so that everyone will be given a chance to see who is to represent their class in the tournament. If time permits the captains of the teams will be called upon to tell how certain they are of victory for their class.

It would be an injustice to the men to exclude them from this interesting convocation since girls are always present in their athletic rallies, hence the south half of the chapel will be theirs as usual.

Ruth Shumway, '18, who has been spending a few days in Lincoln, returned to Wakefield yesterday.

PHI ALPHA TAU INITIATES

Phi Alpha Tau, journalistic fraternity, held a banquet and initiation at the Windsor hotel Wednesday evening. The initiates were Carl Ganz, Law '18, Dunbar; Sam C. Zimmerman, Law '17, Lincoln; Chas. E. Scofield, '17, Lincoln; Maurice Clark, '17, Omaha, and George E. Grimes, '18, Omaha.

A Freshmans Yearly Budget

The Daily Nebraskan would like to print a number of budgets from the different students, showing the cost of their university life. An invitation is extended to those who have kept accounts of their expenses to submit them to The Nebraskan. Comments upon those that are printed will be welcomed.

The expense for one year of a male student in the freshman class is printed below. It shows that he paid out in one university year the sum total of $587.20. This freshman was a member of a fraternity, interested in school activities, enjoyed a good time, was a fairly good student. He paid his own expenses, every cent, partly by money previously saved, and partly by money earned at school.

In this budget, the freshman listed under "fraternity expenses," his frat dues, initiation fee, pin, and every cent he thought he would not have spent had he not been a fraternity man. Under "amusements," he included the costs of his fraternity parties, and under "miscellaneous," he included flowers and cab hire for a few formal parties.

His budget is as follows:

Tuition (registration and laboratory fees)	$ 26.00
Books and instruments	12.95
Board	146.64
Room	61.50
Clothing	74.60
car fare	8.90
Candy, treats, etc.	16.43
Church	2.65
Traveling expenses	21.42
Postage and stationery	4.84
Fraternity dues and expenses ..	67.75
Athletic ticket and debate expenses	6.50
Amusements, theatres, etc.	46.35
Books and magazines	5.10
Toilet articles, barber, etc.	9.45
Life insurance	30.90
Miscellaneous expenses	35.22
Total	$587.20

And the Postman Ran

"Run, postman, run."

This injunction, written upon an acceptance to an invitation to the Delta Gamma formal party, has been considered the most enthusiastic response the Delta Gammas have ever received to one of their parties. It was written upon the envelope by a prominent senior.

The same young man, in the same mail, sent each of the house girls of the sorority a valentine postcard. The cards were bedecked with red, red hearts; and pink, pink Cupids; and blue, blue Cupid's darts; and gold, gold tinsel. The senior's social success for the rest of his college career would seem to be insured.
