

JAP INFLUENCE HURTING KOREA

SAYS HENRY CHUNG, BEFORE
WORLD OUTLOOK SEMINAR

The Military Power of the Island
Empire is Overcoming Democracy

The problems of Korea, the life of the little Asiatic nation now dominated by Japan, formed the theme for the first meeting of the World Outlook Seminar, at the Temple last evening. Henry Chung, Y. P. Chung, and K. C. Chang, native Koreans, discussed their native land, and the audience of students was deeply interested.

Henry Chung, speaking on "The Political Life of Korea," told of the influence of Japanese domination. "Korea was annexed by Japan for the same reason that the United States annexed New Mexico," he said. "Force made it right. The reason Korea is the least heard of nation in the world today is because Koreans can say nothing without being heard by the Japanese.

"The only weapon for Korean advancement," he continued, "is to arouse public sentiment and education on the subject in the United States.

"The Japanese have helped debauch Koreans by the introduction of Japanese prostitutes and vices. I have nothing against the Japanese as a nation, but their military power rules, and the bureaucrats dominate."

Y. P. Chung spoke briefly of Korea's industries and problems of industrial life. He was followed by K. C. Chang, who told of Christianity in Korea.

Christianity, first brought to Korea in 1873, has grown in influence until the Christian population numbers 250,000 today, according to Chang. "It is due to Christianity that Korean women have been raised from their degraded condition," he said, "and there are now high schools and colleges for women there."

REGISTRAR GREER DISPUTES EDITORIAL

Declares No Resolutions for Paving
Petitions Have Been Given Him

"I never saw such a thing, and I want to be quoted in a general denial of the editorial in The Daily Nebraskan for Tuesday," Registrar Greer stated Tuesday afternoon. He referred to the statement in The Nebraskan that members of the faculty had prepared resolutions looking toward the petitioning for paving of streets near the university, for the elimination of noise.

"Had you ever heard of such a thing?" Mr. Greer was asked.

"No," he replied, and then he qualified it slightly by saying that he did know of a resolution proposed by a member of the faculty of the law college, that referred to the noise, but did not refer to paving. Mr. Greer handled this resolution merely as secretary of the faculty body, he said.

The Student and the University

To The Nebraskan:

Your question, "What Is the Most Important Thing for the Student to Get Out of His University Life," puzzles me. I feel like a hungry youth handed a menu card in a great restaurant with the words, "What is the best thing there." Tastes differ, needs differ. The principal order today might not be the same tomorrow. The answer I give you is on the impulse of the moment.

Let the student first of all get from his studies, from his relations with his fellows, and from the student activities an ability to think soundly. Honest, fearless, sound thinking will bring other important things. It will lead the student to prepare for life adequately and teach him to use his acquired skill wisely. It will enable him to estimate things at their true value. It will prevent him from becoming a careless trifter on the one hand and a fanatical egoist on the other.

I am giving the students nothing startlingly new in the above paragraph. Most new ideas come as the result of unsound thinking. When sound thinking actually produces something new, the world remembers it a long while and when it becomes an old truth an occasional re-statement is justified. This is why I am writing to you in this vein.

SILVER SERPENTS AGAIN HELP POOR

WILL SEND MAGAZINES INTO FIFTEEN HOMES

Junior Girls' Society Disposes of the Remainder of Christmas
Tag Day Fund

The Silver Serpents, junior girls' society, will make fifteen homes of Lincoln poor people happy by sending them for one year The Youth's Companion. This decision was made at a meeting of the girls in Faculty hall yesterday.

"You have no idea of the benefit and the joy you will give them, and we greatly appreciate your action in making this work possible," Miss Corbin, principal of the Bancroft school, wrote in a letter to the girls about the subscriptions for the magazine.

The money for the subscriptions, $30, is the remainder of the amount raised at Tag Day last Christmas. At that time about $140 was raised, but little over $100 of which was needed for dinners for the poor not otherwise cared for. Since then some baskets of coal have been sent to people recommended by some charitable organization.

The approach of spring made the usual charity gifts unnecessary, and the girls cast about for some way of spending the money that was left in their treasury. Mrs. Williams, of the department of sociology, suggested that the greatest good could be done with the amount in hand by sending some good weekly magazine to homes with children who could not afford it.

This suggestion was discussed and finally adopted as the best means of disposing of the money.

O. T. Swan, '04, secretary of the Hemlock and Hardware Manufacturers' association, one of the largest lumber associations in the northwest, gave at the last annual convention, held at Milwaukee, an important report, which was printed in the Lumber World Review of this month.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET

A meeting of the university republicans has been called for tonight. No hint as to what is to be done could be obtained, but the mere announcement that the business is to be "startling" has aroused the curiosity of democrats.

COMMITTEE REPORT ON STUDENT HONORS

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR UNDER-GRADUATE HONORS

Close Vote on Establishing Committee—Lost, 31 to 29; Report
Tabled, 42 to 16

The proposed system of student honors, turned down by faculty vote as reported in The Nebraskan Tuesday, is given below, as presented to the faculty by the committee.

The members of the faculty found one difficulty in the proposed system would be to give a definition of "advanced courses," in the sense used in the report.

A close division of the faculty occurred on the vote on that part of the recommendation that provided for a committee on honors in the arts and sciences college. It lost 31 to 29.

The motion to lay the report on the table was carried, 42 to 16.

The committee report is given below:

The purpose of the system of honors herewith proposed is to encourage a high standard of scholarship in the university. The plan suggested is based upon a study of devices which seem to have been successful elsewhere.

I. Sophomore Honors.

At the close of each semester lists shall be prepared of those students who have obtained high standing in their two years' work; that is, in their first sixty hours. Students whose av-

Y. W. C. A. HISTORY TOLD AT VESPERS

ALUMNAE RELATE EARLY ASSO-CIATION STRUGGLES

Organization Has Given Splendid Women Workers to the World

The history of the Y. W. C. A. was told to the members at vespers yesterday. Mrs. A. G. Warner, '86, said that twelve girls met at her home one Saturday afternoon and organized the university Y. W. C. A. It met only on Sundays and about twenty out of the thirty members came out. This was an exceptionally good attendance for the number of girls in school at that time. The first thing the Y. W. C. A. accomplished for university women in general was to furnish a women's rest room in the southwest corner of "U" hall, which was the main building at that time.

Mrs. J. E. Almy, '96, said that while she was in the university, the Y. W. C. A. had a very strong missionary spirit. Out of the five officers in 1895, three are foreign missionaries today. In 1893, the association had a settlement house at Eighth and X streets in an old schoolhouse. Services were held here on Sunday and the teachers were furnished by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Dr. Winifred Hyde gave as her idea of a justification of the Y. W. C. A. work, the recognition of the development of the spiritual in life. Because so much stress is laid on the intellectual side of school life, one is almost ashamed of the spiritual side. It is the thing that distinguishes humans from animals. The Y. W. C. A. is an organization for bringing girls together to further spiritual life and this is needed to develop a person just as much as the intellectual side of life.

There is not an individual who lives a normal life who does not find, at some certain time, that he, as an individual, is not sufficient. If the Y. W. C. A. stands for this spiritual life, its members should try to control the life and ideas of the student body.

GO-EDS TAKE UP VOLLEY BALL GAME

New Indoor Sport Follows Basketball Season

Co-ed athletes are now batting a light and airy volley ball across a tennis net instead of tossing the basketball into the baskets, for the basketball season closed with the tournament last Saturday night, and volley ball is now "the game." Miss Ina Gittings, director of the women's gymnasium, states that so many girls expressed their wish to know the game of volley ball that it was decided to teach the game during the time intervening between the basketball season and the track and indoor baseball season. There will be no class tournament, unless the girls demand it. Practices are held at 1 o'clock Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday. The large number of players that have turned out predict an enthusiastic season.

WALLACE'S WORK SUBJECT OF PROGRAM

THURSDAY CONVOCATION IN HONOR OF ABSENT TEACHER

Phi Beta Kappa Chapter Will Present Wallace's Shakespearean Studies

Prof. C. W. Wallace's Shakespearean discoveries will be discussed at convocation tomorrow morning. The program has been arranged by Dr. Louise Pound, president, and Prof. R. J. Pool, secretary of the local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, under whose auspices it is given, and of which Professor Wallace is also a member.

The program will be:
"The Aims of Professor Wallace," and "Professor Wallace and the English Drama before Shakespeare," by Dr. L. A. Sherman.

"Professor Wallace and Shakespearean Biography," by Miss Amy Armstrong.

"Professor Wallace and the Blackfriars and Globe Theatres," by Prof. S. B. Gass.

"The London Public Record Office," by Dr. Guernsey Jones.

All the papers will be short and the program will not run over the customary half hour fixed for the convocation period. Everybody is invited to come. Convocation will open promptly at 11 o'clock.

Prof. C. W. Wallace is at present on leave of absence in London. He is a member of the faculty in English literature of the University of Nebraska.

BIG DEMAND FOR ENGINEERS—STOUT

"There are more positions open for graduate engineers than can be filled," said Dean O. V. P. Stout yesterday. During the past week companies have been writing in to Dean Stout asking him to send out men for every position from tool designer to that of instructor in engineering subjects.
