She Slept Unconcerned, Till Dawn

"A little learning is a dangerous thing." Such is the idea of a certain sorority freshman. Tuesday evening, the night before the fraternity examinations, four or five freshmen gathered round the library table. The sorority song-book had a prominent place on the table; in fact, it was far too much in demand. One girl was on the front porch, reciting the fraternity directory, another was in the kitchen singing a song. Curl papers and kimonos were seen in profusion. Only one girl was dressed as for school.

Time flew by. The hands of the clock were rapidly reaching the top. One by one the girls slipped upstairs, until only the one not in negligee, remained, reclining in a very comfortable manner on the couch.

We cannot say when she fell asleep, but we do know that at 7 o'clock the next morning she was still there, sleeping soundly, all dressed for school, the electric light shining brightly in her face.

ASK STUDENTS TO JOIN DEMO. CLUB

Petitions in circulation among the students, calling a meeting of the democrats favoring the organizing of a Lancaster County Young Men's Democratic club are gaining many signers. The meeting will take place at the Lincoln hotel, Thursday evening, March 9, and judging from the many students joining the movement, and speakers whose names appear on the program, it promises to be a very successful attempt to gain for the students that political recognition which is due them.

"Buy It and Leave It"
Thursday, Friday or Saturday

In a store such as ours, catering to trade which demands high quality merchandise, we naturally do not have a large accumulation of odds and ends to sell cheap. However, we have gone through our stocks and assembled items of Boys' and Children's Clothing and Men's and Boys' Furnishings and Hats, which, under the circumstances, we are willing to sacrifice at very low prices.

These are such items as will be God-sends to the thousands of destitute Belgian families whose only clothes for months have been flour sacks or pieces of carpet sewed together.

If you want to support this worthy movement call here Thursday, Friday or Saturday. Buy what you want and leave it for collection by the Belgian Relief Committee. The duplicate sales tickets showing your purchases will be turned over to the committee, thus insuring you full credit for your donation.

state, will be prepared by students in the Department of Journalism and sent out through the Press bureau of the University of Wisconsin during the remainder of this year.

To secure practice in correspondence, each of the forty students in the class in reporting has been assigned one or more Wisconsin counties and will look for news to interest the newspapers in his county. His articles will be sent out in the form of bi-weekly county news-letters to the newspapers in the counties concerned.

The doings of students hailing from these counties will be the chief interest in the early news-letters. Later stories will be supplied on other university news which has a local end in some Wisconsin county. As these students are also gathering university news for Madison newspapers on assignments and news runs, they are in a position to get most of the news.
