DR. MAXEY FOR THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION

Students, regardless of party affiliation, will agree that the republicans can make no mistake in sending Dr. Edwin Maxey, of the College of Law, to the national convention as a delegate. There are matters of greatest importance before our nation demanding important action within the next few years. A great many of these problems deal with matters of world polity.

Dr. Maxey, through his writings, has gained a national and international reputation. There is probably no one in the state who is better acquainted with our national relations and affairs than he is. It would indeed be unfortunate if any party that had the opportunity to avail itself of his expert services in this crucial time would fail to do so.

THE SINGLE TAX

The regents have postponed action on the Single Tax until a meeting they expect to hold in about a week. Just what their action will be at that time we cannot tell.

We believe that the regents would approve a voluntary Single Tax system without much discussion. That the students have a right to club their activities thus is clear. Also, we believe that under the proper management the voluntary system would be better than the system we now have.

But there are many respects in which it is inferior to the compulsory system. In the first place, the amount would necessarily be higher. A guarantee of 2,500 subscriptions would make the cost cheaper than it would be were there merely the probability of 1,500 subscribers. In the second place, there would still be a large class of people who would not avail themselves of the opportunity to broaden themselves through student activities.

Therefore, we believe that the compulsory system is the one Nebraska needs.

METCALFE TO MISSOURI

Ted Metcalfe, '18, has been chosen to represent the Nebraska chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity, at Columbia, Mo., where the national convention of the fraternity will be held May 3, 4 and 5. Metcalfe has been active in journalistic work on both college and metropolitan newspapers. The convention brings together each year men of prominence in the newspaper world. This year it will be a part of the annual journalism week of the University of Missouri.

BRIEF BITS OF NEWS

ELECTION ENDS TODAY

The election of the Girls' club board for next year closes today. More than half of the members voted yesterday. The complete list of Girls' club members will be printed in Friday's issue of The Daily Nebraskan.

The fountain given to the university by the class of 1909 flowed yesterday for the first time this year.

J. H. Frandsen, professor of dairy husbandry addressed the Omaha Medical society Tuesday on "Milk and Its Relation to Public Health."

There will be an important meeting of the Comus club this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Acacia house. The election of officers and new members will be held.

The regimental supper will be held Tuesday, April 25, instead of the date set at the first announcement. Tickets, which will be 35 cents each, will be placed on sale next Tuesday by the first sergeants. Each company is planning on a full attendance.

The sophomore class will meet in Law 201 today to elect a successor to William Schoonmaker, vice president, who has left school. The meeting will be called to order promptly at 11 o'clock. Plans for the sophomore hop and for Ivy Day will be discussed.

The election of May Queen will be held tomorrow in the library. Only senior girls can vote. The three girls who received the highest vote in the nominating canvass early in the week will be voted upon. The Black Masques are in charge of the polls.

Wm. C. Hannon, '07, who formerly was an assistant director of the Nebraska legislative reference bureau and who is now director of the New York bureau, has received an increase in salary after four months' service. He is a Nebraska graduate and received a P. B. K.

Two pamphlets have been sent out to the members of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences by A. E. Sheldon, who is editor of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences' publications. One of the books is written by E. C. Hurd, consulting engineer, of Lincoln, on "Municipal Economics with Reference to Utilities." The other is "Radioactivity; Some Fundamental Principles and Their Scientific Relations," by J. C. Jensen, professor of physics at Nebraska Wesleyan university. These bulletins, which are sent out from time to time, will eventually be bound.

Y. M. C. A. HAS 300 EASTER PAMPHLETS

"His Last Week" Can Be Obtained at the Temple and in the Library

Three hundred copies of "His Last Week," a booklet which tells of the Passion and Resurrection of Jesus and the order of events during the several days of the Holy week, have been received at the Y. M. C. A. for distribution among the students.

It is the record, day by day, of the last week of Christ's earthly life, in the words of the four evangelists, containing all that they have written, but without repetition.

This booklet, which was planned for the churches of all denominations, is a helpful story in the observance of the Easter season.

The Engineers' baseball team will meet for practice Friday at 4 o'clock. All men interested be on the athletic field. J. W. Henschke.

NON COMPOS MENTIS

WHO IS SHE?

A Journal reporter asked the purchasing agent, over in the Administration building the other day, for a cut of Miss Bessey Hall!

Maxey Again

Dr. Maxey was heard to say, the other day when he went to Kearney to judge a debate between Peru and Kearney, "If this chilly weather keeps up till I get to Kearney, I'm going to get a bowl of chili con carne!"

Al Bryson has threatened to punish us for the story about the keys, by a "crool" cartoon of our smiling self in the next Awgwan. We can't see why she would do such a dastardly deed, for if the truth be known he has wanted us to print that story for some time.

TRUE ENUF

I wish I wuz a little flea,
And could hop and skip and jump;
I would not have to walk so straight,
For I would not be so plump.

How would you like to be in a hammock under a shady tree, with an electric fan wafting cool breezes upon your brow, a good story to read, and a rubber tube connected with a barrel of something to drink within reach?

FAT PEOPLE READ THIS

If your labors are in vain,
And you can't get thin,
Follow this prescription well,
For fatness is a sin.

Stay up awful late at night,
Never sleep a wink;
Worry about everything—
Meditate and think.

Don't eat anything at all,
Study hard instead;
This will surely make you thin,
Or make you sick in bed.

IS IT FOR THE FAIR TO SIT UPON THE GREEN?

The return of the green grass and the warm sod and the cool shade and the disagreeableness of the library, has called up once more the mooted question as to whether or not the fair co-ed makes herself undignified to sit upon the campus green. The pure delight of getting right down to earth, of plucking the green grass stem and biting its tender tips, of looking at the trees and skies and buildings and everything has called out the university men, but it is understood that there is a feeling in some quarters that the women should hold themselves above the ground, and if they must get into the open, use the seats. Opinion seems to be divided as to the etiquette of the thing, but it has been noised abroad that the girls are not going to be denied place on the college pasture.

SPENDS WINTER IN TENT

FITCHED NEAR CAMPUS
By living all winter in a tent pitched near the campus, Rellis G. Conant, of Hancock, Wis., a student in the law school at the University of Wisconsin, has found one way to get enough fresh air without neglecting his studies and incidentally has saved a quantity of room rent. The tent is furnished with only necessary articles—bed, table, chair, stove, improvised cupboard, an oil lamp, and simple cooking utensils. The student prepares his own meals, and, in spite of the cold weather, has been able to keep his primitive lodgings comfortable.—Ex.
