Coach Sylvester
Wanted to Know
Who it was Shot

When the wrestlers made the trip north to take part in the Western Intercollegiate meet at Minneapolis, Coach Sylvester went along as guide, counsellor and friend, together with Dr. Clapp, the general factotum in charge of the trip. The wrestlers rigged up a deal on Sylvester that gave them a lot of amusement.

They took a small rubber bladder, filled it with icy water until it had distended to the size of a handy burglar's "jimmy," and carefully concealed it in Sylvester's bed under the sheets.

When it came time to retire, the coach donned his pajamas, and then approached the bed. He made a survey of the thing, went over it lightly to be sure that no bricks were therein concealed, and then took a flying leap to the mattress.

A loud bang was the result, and Sylvester came jumping out, breathing deeply. None of the team-men made a move, and he thought he must have been mistaken. He climbed back into bed, and bounced out again when he felt the water.

The coach got a bunch of towels and passed the night finally in comfort, but he didn't know till now where that shot came from.

S. R. MCKELVIE,

Many of the most conspicuous successes achieved in public life stand recorded to the credit of young men. Young men are, today, being placed in positions of greatest importance and responsibility. McKelvie has had experience, but is yet a young man. He has been a member of the state legislature. He has been Lieutenant Governor. Why not make him

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

The first thing you'll notice about Tuxedo is the rich, mellow-sweet Burley flavor. And the best thing about it is the on-your-toes snap, and brisk, bracing hustle you get out of it.

"Tux" will smoke out that tobacco-hunger as no other tobacco can, and you can smoke pipeful after pipeful with never a fear—the original Tuxedo Process removes every trace of harshness and "bite".

Get a tin of "Tux" and try it for yourself.
