A LIVE SKELTEON

One of the city papers long known for its maltreatment of university news, announced Friday that we "pulled another skeleton out of the closet and are now advertising a student council." It further states that this proposition has been advocated periodically "almost as long as people can remember."

The fact of the matter is that the Student Council has been advocated just once before in the history of the university. That time was two years ago, when the matter never came to a vote of the students. Two years is evidently as long as the reporter can remember.

Furthermore, the Student Council is not brought up as a topic for discussion. We mean to see that it is adopted, or know the reason why.

The Student Council proposition will prove a lively skeleton.

THE IVY DAY PLANS

The students can afford to watch with especial interest the plans for Ivy Day. Those in charge have many things planned that are original and interesting.

As an example, we have already been told that the concessions are to be sold to students. This will arouse greater interest, as the day will then be entirely in the hands of the student body. It will also permit some enterprising students to make some profit, and at the same time serve the students better than they have been served in the past.

UNIONS PICNIC AT CRETE

About fifty members of the Union society left at 10 o'clock Saturday morning for their annual picnic to Crete. They returned late in the evening after an enjoyable day.

CHARLOTTE H. ANDRUS WRITES SONGS FOR ALUMNI

(Editor's Note — The following songs, composed by Charlotte Huntington Andrus, were sung at the banquet of the Chicago alumni of the university, at Chicago last Thursday evening. The songs were brought to The Nebraskan by Chancellor Avery, who attended the banquet and spoke on the problems of the university today. While the music of the songs cannot be published, the words themselves have a ring of true Nebraska spirit that still lives in the breasts of the university alumni.

The Chicago association passed resolutions pledging themselves to do any work in their power to help the university grow and prosper. More than 100 attended the banquet.)

A TOAST TO NEBRASKA

(By Charlotte Huntington Andrus)
 Oh, we are jolly old alumni gathered here,
 Jolly old alumni of Nebraska;
 We add to our numbers and our fame from year to year
 And we make a goodly army for Nebraska:
 Now, some are literary and some are ordinary,
 And all are very loyal to Nebraska;
 So we sharpen up our wits,
 And we make some clever hits,
 And we rise and clink our glasses for Nebraska:

Chorus:
 Rare old, fair old, peachy old Nebraska.
 We will wave your banners true.
 You have pointed out the way,
 And we're loyal here today,
 As we give three rousing cheers for you.

Oh, we are merry, merry students gathered here,
 Merry, merry students of Nebraska;
 We're here to win, no matter what we're in
 Our air is get the game for Nebraska.
 Now some are earnest scholars,
 And some just spend the dollars,
 But we're loyal to our colors in Nebraska;
 If you put us to a test,
 We will prove to you the best,
 Are the scarlet and the cream of old Nebraska.

HAIL, NEBRASKA!

An Alma Mater Song
 (By Charlotte Huntington Andrus)
 Nebraska, Nebraska, our voices we raise
 With glad acclamation we join in your praise,
 On campus, in classroom, assembly and hall.
 Wherever Nebraskans are gathered at all.
 E'en when in our ventures success we can claim,
 May we always be thrilled at the sound of your name;
 We hail, with a cheer and a Rah!
 Rah! Rah! Rah!
 Our University of Nebraska.

Nebraska in dreams do we see you wax great,
 The learned and illustrious collect round your gate,
 Oh, may these rich visions in future prove true,
 And all that is longed for be given to you.
 From humble beginnings position you have won,
 Till you hold, undisputed, a place in the sun.
 So hail, with a cheer and a Rah!
 Rah! Rah! Rah!
 Our University of Nebraska.

NON COMPOS MENTIS

THE BITTER TRUTH

We have been deeply hurt several times lately when several people have been heard to doubt the authenticity of the weather forecast. We said that it would be official, and it has never failed our power of foresight yet. Do not doubt, ye unbelievers. It is true, always has been, and though we are guessing at it this time, we sincerely hope it always shall be.
 Tonight: Fair, but cold. ....

MOURNFUL PICKLES

Tell me not in mournful numbers,
 Life is but an empty dream,
 When you wake from peaceful slumbers,
 And curse those pickles and ice cream.

Have you ever been tripping lightly homeward from a dance with a fair maiden and tripped once too heavily and fallen flat on your face? And as a result of that trip ripped a big hole in the knee of your rented dress suit? We know a man who did.

POINTING A MORAL

Though gossiping neighbors often may say
 Some things which really aren't true—
 There's never a one, but to whom comes a day
 When the tables are turned on them, too.

The muse of poetry grips us today. Are you amused?

Have you ever had the fortune
 When to a class dance "bid,"
 To draw a girl who's out of sight,
 And you wish that you were dead?

Or have you ever, girlies dear,
 Sent up a prayer to heaven,
 That the man you see there at the door,
 Would suddenly depart this region?

A SURE SIGN

You can always tell when a man has had a date, by his hair-cut.

Some people are about as dull as the shears in this office.
