COUNTRY NEWSPAPER OFFERS OPPORTUNITY

N. A. HUSE, NORFOLK EDITOR, SPEAKS TO JOURNALISTS

Advocates Four Year Course in Journalism for the State University

That the country newspaper field offers the best opportunity in newspaperdom for the college graduate was the point made by N. A. Huse, editor of the Norfolk Daily News, who spoke to the members of Professor Fogg's journalism classes last night in Law 211. "The tendency today is for fewer and better newspapers," Huse declared. "There are two courses open to you people who intend to go into journalism. One is to become a reporter or editor on a metropolitan paper; the other is to become editor, and then publisher of a country daily."

Mr. Huse's talk was heard with rapt attention by the members of the classes. He spoke in crisp sentences, and as one who had been through the game and knew what he was talking about.

"The aggressive news spirit of the day is the product of the west," Huse quoted a great New York newspaper man. In the east the editorial was developed and has reached its highest point, but the spirit of the news end of the paper has found its best inspiration in the west. The human interest story is the greatest force in the newspaper world today, and properly handled, it will make any newspaper."

Mr. Huse strongly advocated a four years' course in journalism in the university, that would treat not only of news and editorial writing, but devote special attention to advertising as well.

UNI CHORUS SONGS

"SAMPSON-DELILAH"

Two Hundred Voices Trained by Mrs. Raymond in the Great Sant-Saens' Opera

The university chorus, directed by Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, gave what one local critic called "some of the finest chorus singing ever heard in Lincoln," when it sang "Samson and Delilah" as a part of the university May music festival at the auditorium Monday and Tuesday. The Sant-Saens' opera was interpreted with the greatest dramatic power by the almost 200 trained voices of the university singers.

The appearance of the chorus marked also the first presentation of the opera in Lincoln. From an artistic point of view, the performance was notable. That the chorus could handle so well an opera entirely unfamiliar, is at once a great tribute to the members and to Mrs. Raymond, who drilled them. The solo parts were taken by Mr. Wheatley and Miss LeBaron.

Y. W. C. A. TO INSTALL

NEW OFFICERS

A meeting of all Y. W. C. A. girls will be held at the Temple tonight at 7:15 o'clock, at which the new officers will be installed and plans for next year will be discussed. It is hoped that all Y. W. C. A. girls will be present.

The Student Council is Immediate Need

As has often been remarked in these columns, the settlement of the question of the location of the university and the voting of the three-quarters mill tax have started Nebraska on a great period of expansion. Before this expansion has reached its limit, the university will extend over many times the area it now occupies. Many excellent buildings, and much better equipment will be added.

We believe that the new era should be paralleled by a growth and expansion of student life. We believe that the time is ripe for the organization of a university state, similar to that long since existing in the other great centers of education all over the country.

The benefits this university state will give the student body will be many. It will be closely analogous to the state of which the students must be citizens upon leaving school, and hence will be a laboratory in self government. Through the adoption and administration of the Single Tax it will permit greater university institutions—activities, the products of which the student body will be proud. Through the operation of a Student Union it will create a better Nebraska spirit, a more democratic fellowship.

The adoption of a Student Council, representative of the student body as a whole, and having general legislative, administrative and—in a few cases—judicial power, will create this university state. A governing body elected by the students and responsible to them, will be a guarantee of the effective—though not perfect—administration of the above named institutions.

Such has been the experience of other schools. Perfection is lacking. But a greater school spirit exists; the student state creates a keener interest in community affairs; activities are on a higher plain, and student life is, as a whole, in better condition than it is here now.

The university state thus being desirable, that the present is the time for its birth cannot be doubted. Next year will bear the first fruits of campus expansion. Increased activity by the university will bring increased enrollment. If the new idea is begun now, it will mean the proper growth of student life.

Hence, the necessity of action on the Student Council before the close of the present semester.

"DON'T GIVE UP" URGES DR. HOUSE

SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION ON "PSYCHOLOGY OF SUCCESS"

"You Ought to Be Ashamed of Yourself if You Are Not Yourself"

"Master the thing you want, hold it before you, and learn to concentrate on it. Don't give up!" said Dr. E. L. House, in his talk on the "Psychology of Success" at convocation yesterday. "You are not in a hundred-yard dash; you're in a life race and it is not the number of falls a man gets that counts, but how he gets up. Learn from your defeats."

There are no set rules, according to Dr. House. Fate is not success; accumulation of wealth is not success. Success is work done and character won.

Conscious and Subconscious Minds

The conscious realm is the mind of will and judgment. The subconscious realm accounts for the phenomena in the conscious realm. The relationship of the conscious realm to the subconscious realm is as the pilot to the engineer. The conscious mind does the work, the subconscious furnishes the power; the conscious mind is artificial, the subconscious is the natural power; the conscious mind is the weak, the subconscious mind is the strong.

We must learn to do things subconsciously, said Dr. House. The subconscious mind is the mind of perfect memory. Nothing is ever lost that goes into it. The secret of success is to lay hold of our subconscious power.

The subconscious mind has the power to do things. At some times it is easier to write than other times—it is easy to do things because the subconscious mind is alert and furnishes the power to do things.

The Secret of Life

"The secret of your life is to know how to get down into your subconsciousness and wake up, and bring forth the things that are there. The subconscious mind never sleeps. Therefore it has much to do with a person's age and appearance. We have been taught that people begin to get old at 55 or 60 years, but we know today that we can have twenty years added to our life if we just hold the thought of youth. Make up your mind that you have a healthy body.

"The superconscious mind, or that of spirit, is formed with the capacity to comprehend and know the truth. It is through the spirit realm that God connects himself with you.

All Have Success Elements

"Everyone has the elements of mighty success. They must organize the material they have. That is what education is for, it is our duty to organize our forces to be powerful and effective. When a man does organize himself, he will leap up and become great and mighty. Your teachers cannot tell who will be the greatest; it may be someone who hasn't yet come to the realization of his powers. I want you young men to organize yourselves," urged Dr. House.

"Have an individuality that's yours. The secret of a man's success is the fact that he puts his stamp of individuality on the things he does. He may get his material from other fields, but the world wants individual-

TENNIS MEN ON SOUTHERN TRIP

PLAY FOUR COLLEGES, WINDING UP WITH KANSAS UNI.

Orville Chatt Elected Captain of the Team—Track Men Are Going South, Too

The university tennis men—Ellis, Chatt and Gardiner, leave Lincoln this morning for their invasion of Kansas, in the course of which they will play the racquet sharks of Kansas agricultural college, William Jewell college, Baker university and the University of Kansas. If the victories over Ames and Wesleyan are a criterion, the team should return from the trip with four victories tucked in their belts.

The Kansas Aggies are the first team to be played. They will meet the Nebraska representatives at Manhattan this evening. William Jewell will be played tomorrow, Baker Friday and Kansas university Saturday. While the tennis men are playing the Jayhawkers, the track team will be holding a dual meet on the paths and in the field with Kansas university.

FIFTH GIRLS' TRACK MEET TOMORROW

The fifth annual girls' track meet, with fifty girls entered, will be held on the athletic field tomorrow afternoon. The meet will start promptly at 2 o'clock, with a baseball game between the freshmen and sophomores. The track events will follow, with the interclass relay the last event on the program. A complete list of entries will be published in tomorrow's Daily Nebraskan.

PUBLICATION BOARD TO PUBLISH BOOKLET

Will Preserve University's History—Stout and Alexander to Do Most of Work

At a meeting held the latter part of last week the publication board decided that a semi-centennial anniversary booklet should be published by 1919. This volume will be edited by members of the publication board, particularly Dean Stout and Professor Alexander. Among other things it will contain pictures and articles showing the growth, present conditions and future prospects of the university.

DEAN ROSCOE POUND FAVORS BRANDEIS

Thinks Boston Lawyer Would Be a Splendid Man for Supreme Court

Dean Roscoe Pound, of the Harvard law school, university graduate and former teacher, is quoted in the last issue of Harper's Weekly as strongly favoring the confirmation of Louis D. Brandeis as a member of the supreme court of the United States. Mr. Brandeis' name, when sent to the senate by President Wilson, aroused a great deal of opposition and the matter is still being debated.

Dean Pound gives as his opinion that friends of Mr. Brandeis are making a mistake in urging his views on social legislation as his principal qualification. While this is important, he thinks, it is not the main matter to consider, which is his legal mind, sheer legal ability and legal judgment. Dean Pound concludes by saying that for sheer legal ability, Mr. Brandeis is at the very top of the bar in this country.

Miss Flo Boyles, '15, will be in Lincoln Friday and Saturday.

OMAHA ALUMNI HELP ON STUDENT VISIT

WORK WITH COMMERCIAL CLUB TO ENTERTAIN NEBRASKANS

Places of Interest to Be Visited—Metropolis Would Be Gracious Host to Students

A special committee of University of Nebraska alumni now in Omaha has been appointed to work with the bureau of publicity and the Omaha Commercial club in handling arrangements for the visit of the students to the metropolis, May 19. This announcement comes from the latest news bulletin sent out by the Omaha club.

The stock yards, packing houses, Union Pacific shops, smelter, municipal water plant at Florence, daily newspaper offices, wholesale houses, manufacturing plants, and other points of interest are among the places that it is proposed the student visit. Details of the operations in each plant will be explained by experts, and the trips will be carefully planned in advance so that the ground can be completely covered.

The Omaha citizens are looking forward with anticipations of the keenest pleasure to the visit of the students. The Commercial club bulletin has this to say: "As this is the first time in history that such a trip has been undertaken by the students of the university, Omaha is naturally very anxious to play the host in a most gracious manner."

MISS BLANCHARD AT COMING CONFERENCE

Miss Leslie Blanchard of New York city, vocational secretary of the state university Y. W. C. A., will speak at the Girl's club conference. Many girls will remember her from her visit here a year ago last fall.
