TICKETS READY FOR BIG OMAHA TRIP

The university authorities must know, as nearly as possible, how many students are going to Omaha on the big trip next Friday, as E. V. Parrish, manager of the Omaha Commercial club, and the man who is in general charge of the reception, will be in Lincoln Tuesday to make final arrangements for the trip.

The Omaha business men are going to provide badges for the students from the different classes and departments, and are anxious to know how many badges to have made. Then preparation must be made for the gigantic feast Friday evening in the auditorium.

Tickets for the trip will be on sale at the registrar's office as well as at the railway station. Tickets will be redeemed at the railway station by the railroad, if the student finds at the last moment that he cannot go.

Students intending to make the trip can notify the registrar, The Daily Nebraskan or their teachers, preferably the latter.

The Innocents and the Student Council

Thus far no reply has been received to our demand in Friday's issue that the Innocents publish their rules of eligibility. A few members have been heard to remark that the organization is a senior society and that sophomores are not eligible.

As a secret organization, the Innocents have a right to select men independently of popular will, and to keep their rules of membership secret; but in so doing, they must waive all claim to being a representative student body. Popular knowledge and approval of the method of election, if not popular selection itself, are necessary to make the organization a representative body.

The Innocents have a right, as a private organization, to take up only those matters which they deem fit to take up, to refuse to tell what, if anything, they have done for the school, to keep their entire proceedings secret; but in so doing, they must waive all claim to being an administrative, legislative, or judicial student body. For knowledge of what is being done, and of what members are doing the proper work, is necessary to make an organization useful to the public.

As long as the present system lasts the Innocents can, under the cover of secrecy, do absolutely nothing for the school as a whole, and fear no exposure. They can meet any criticism with the reply, "We do not tell what we do. Therefore, you cannot prove that we do nothing." They can select their incoming members without the least regard for merit, and no one can prove such to be the case. This is not an accusation; it is merely to show that such is entirely possible. For these reasons, therefore, Nebraska needs a body that will be representative and desirous of doing things for the good of the school. This can best be obtained by creating an organization with legislative, administrative and judicial duties, selected by some method of popular election, and operating with the widest publicity. Hence the need of the Student Council.

The Student Council and the Innocent society are not necessarily in conflict. The latter is a beautiful and well established tradition, with which we have no desire to interfere. But we insist that it lay claim to nothing beyond what it always has been—an honorary senior organization. In fact, from the practical standpoint, the Innocents will have more influence under the Student Council system than at present. Their opinion will bear the great weight that the opinion of such an organization should bear, and as an advantage over the present plan, they will not have to bear the stigma of things left undone.

There is room for both the Innocent society and the Student Council, and there need not be any conflict between the two ideas.

SERVE NEBRASKA MADE DINNER AT OMAHA

Every Dish on Menu Produced in This State and Manufactured in the Metropolis

A "made-in-Omaha" dinner, every bit of which will be of Nebraska production, will be served the state university students at the Omaha auditorium Friday evening, at the end of the visit to the metropolis as the guests of the Commercial club and the citizens. The food will be supplied by packers, creameries, bakers, wholesalers, manufacturers and fruit dealers, and served under the direction of the Merchants' Market Week committee.

When E. V. Parrish, the Commercial club manager, visited the university last week, he said that this meal would be a revelation to the students of the food products industry in the state. It would show them, he said, that Nebraska grows and manufactures foods for the most tempting of meals. The dinner will be served, probably buffet fashion, at the auditorium at 5:30 o'clock.

PROF. J. E. LEROSIGNOL TO TALK TO ENGINEERS

The agricultural engineers will meet Tuesday, May 16, in M. A. 206 at 7:30 p. m., to listen to a talk upon the "Value of a Commercial Education in Engineering" by Prof. P. E. LeRossignol. This is the last regular meeting of the year, and every member is urged to be present.

CONVOCATION

Miss Lillian Conberg will give a violin recital at convocation Tuesday in the Temple theatre. Immediately after her recital, Dr. W. F. Dann will give an interpretive talk upon two symphonic poems by Liszt. The poems will be the convocation program for next Thursday, by the string quartet and organ.

OMAHA EASY VICTOR IN STATE HIGH SCHOOL MEET

Omaha high school was an easy winner in the annual state high school track and field meet last Saturday, scoring 53 points. Lincoln was second with 21 1/2, and Beatrice third with 9. Omaha had an exceptionally well balanced team, with Morearty and Fullaway the particular stars. Holstein of Stanton showed splendid form in the sprints.

PROF. POOL HEADS ACADEMY OF SCIENCES

Prof. R. J. Pool, head of the botany department of the university, was elected president of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences last Friday evening, succeeding Prof. Lawrence Bruner of the university. Dr. Pool is the second head of the botany department to be elected president of the Academy, the late Dean Edwin Bessey being the first.

J. M. Howie, of the Peru state normal school, was made vice president of the organization. A. E. Sheldon, head of the legislative reference bureau, was re-elected secretary, and A. J. Mercer of Kearney was made treasurer of the society.

TO OPEN LININGER ART GALLERY TO STUDENTS

One of Nation's Finest Collections May Be Visited on Friday Trip

The Lininger Art gallery at Omaha, one of the finest private collections in the country, and the best west of Chicago, will be thrown open to the students who visit Omaha next Friday, at the special invitation of Regent Haller. Mr. Haller has sent a letter to Mr. Parrish, of the Omaha Commercial club, and to Chancellor Avery, advising them that the gallery will be opened and that the students will be made welcome.

This will give students who make the trip an opportunity of seeing the originals of some of the world's most famous masterpieces, and to study some of the best American, as well as European, art.

BOTANY SEMINAR ON ANNUAL FIELD TRIP

The annual field expedition of the Botany Seminar was made by fifteen instructors and advanced students of the botany department last Friday and Saturday. The party, led by Prof. R. J. Pool, was joined by a group of students from the Peru state normal school, under the direction of Professor Jean, and spent the day studying the vegetation of the bluffs and meadows near Peru.

Friday evening, Professor Pool gave an illustrated lecture on "The Natural Plant Life of Nebraska" before the students of the normal school.

STAHL OF WEST POINT WINS H. S. DEBATE

WIRT, SOUTH OMAHA, SECOND; MISS SCHWAB, THIRD

Close Contest Among Eleven Debaters for Places—"Preparedness" the Question

Marion B. Stahl, of West Point, won first place in the ninth annual contest of the Nebraska High School Debating league in Memorial hall Saturday morning. Louis Wirt of South high school, Omaha, won second, and Nellie M. Schwab of McCook won third. Professor Fogg, who is president of the league, presided.

The question debated was, "Resolved, that congress should substantially adopt the recommendations of the secretaries of war and the navy for increased armament." Dean William G. Hastings of the law college, Prof. George H. Foster and Albert Watkins, state historian, were the judges.

In addition to the winners, these high school students debated: Lawrence Slater, Lincoln; Amelia Hamil, Bloomfield; William Reynolds, Nelson; Howard Aikman, Hastings; Melville Wilson, Clay Center; Ralph Perso, Sidney; Gwendolyn Connelly, Auburn, and Ralph G. Brooks, Sargent.

PROF. ALEXIS SPEAKS

Prof. J. E. Alexis attended the meeting of the Society for the Advancement of Scandinavian Study at Madison, Wis., last week. Professor Alexis, who is secretary of the society, responded to a toast at the annual banquet.

ABANDON TRIP TO FONTENELLE FOREST

The proposed field excursion of the members of the Nebraska Academy of Sciences to the Fontenelle forest Saturday had to be abandoned because of the rain. This is the second year that wet weather has prevented the scientists from visiting the forest, last year being the first that the trip had been planned.

The program of the association was completed Friday, so the academy adjourned Saturday morning, when it was found that the trip to the nature reserve could not be made.

SHOPPING PLEASURES FOR CO-EDS AT OMAHA

When in Omaha, next Friday, university women will want to spend their extra time in doing their early summer shopping. Here are some suggestions which may enlighten the troubled feminine mind.

How about fudge aprons to embroider, all made, ready for use

Shoes, so important a requisite for all manner of sports, are renskin, nubuck and canvas, with rubber heels.

The sports sweaters of silk, silk fibre, silk and wool, are very popular, and are much in evidence on the street.

Passed and approved by the National Censor—"Milady," are the new sport skirts. Shantung silk, Jersey silk, wool and silk, golfine, palm beach and taffeta are particularly good.

Tissue lined envelopes are something new. Black and white Pekin stripes are much in vogue.
