"GIRL WITH THE GREEN EYES" MAKES BIG HIT

SENIOR CLASS PLAY MOST ENJOYABLE IN YEARS

Excellent Work Done by Student Actors in Parts Most True to Life

That a university audience ever enjoyed a class play more than they did "The Girl with the Green Eyes," the Clyde Fitch comedy presented by the seniors last Thursday night, would seem impossible. University students have presented many more finished productions, many aspiring to greater heights in dramatic art, many more appealing in other ways, but there was a sort of a homey feeling about this play, and watching the people that all knew so well act the various parts, in some instances only too true to life, so that everyone acquainted with the university at all just thoroughly enjoyed himself.

The cast had been gotten together and rehearsed in a space of little more than two weeks, but with her customary skill, Miss Howell secured from them the maximum of effort. Some of the characters were notably well presented Miss Lucile Leyda, for instance, and Charles Epperson, Catherine Atwood and Harry Magnuson. The opportunity given Percy Spencer and Lucile Leyda to show their respective skill upon the piano and in aesthetic dancing was not lost, and their little specialties added much to the play.

OMAHA PRESS CLUB FEEDS JOURNALISTS

Three Omaha Dailies Show Workings of Their Plants

Prof. Fogg's journalism students wear the guests of the Omaha Press club and the three daily newspapers of the metropolis Omaha day, lunching with the press men, and viewing the three newspaper plants in operation in the afternoon.

The luncheon was held at the Paxton hotel, with Fred Carey, of the Omaha News, as toastmaster. He called upon A. E. Long and Victor Smith of the World-Herald, and Miss Ethel Arnold, Chas. H. Epperson, M. L. Poeteet and Albert Bryson of the university journalists, for short talks.

At the Omaha News office a flashlight picture of the group was taken, and Ruth Beecher was engaged to write a story of the trip. A picture of her at the typewriter was snapped and published.

Victor Rosewater and T. W. McCullough took the journalists through the Bee plant. At the World-Herald's new office they were received by Harvey Newbranch, '93, editor-in-chief, and W. R. Watson, managing editor.

Doane Powell, cartoonist for the Bee and formerly a student of the university, drew a cartoon of the students that was published in the Saturday paper. He will present the original of the cartoon to Professor Fogg, who will hang it in the journalism seminar room.

CORNHUSKER WILL BE OUT FRIDAY

The Cornhusker will be issued Friday, according to an authoritative announcement made Saturday by Assistant Business Manager Blunk. The books are out of the hands of the binders, and will be shipped from Chicago not later than Tuesday, arriving here in time for distribution Friday.

GOPHERS WIN TRACK MEET FROM HUSKERS

THEY SCORED 73½ POINTS TO NEBRASKA'S 48½

Take Lead in Dashes Where Nebraska Expected to Point—Rainy Day and Muddy Field

Nebraska's high hopes of winning from Minnesota in the dual track meet on Nebraska field last Saturday were disappointed by the score of 73½ to 48½, which the Gophers piled up in the drizzling rain on a muddy field. When the 100 yard dash and 220 had been run, and the Cornhuskers had scored but 1½ points, on a tie for second in the century run by Captain Scott, the small crowd of rooters had an intimation of what the result would be.

Perhaps the prettiest race of the meet, at least from the Nebraska point of view, was the quarter mile, which Owen won by ten yards after trailing the field into the stretch. Owen's time of 51 seconds is within a second of the local record. Wiley's failure to place in the high jump was a surprise, but the little athlete took the broad jump and the low hurdles handily.

Summary:

100 yard dash—Ballentine, Minn., first; Scott, Nebraska and Johnson, Minn., tied for second. Time: 19 seconds.

120 yard hurdles—Martin, Minn., first; no second. Time: 16 seconds.

Mile run—L. Hauser, Minn., first; Rapacz, Minn., second. Time: 4 minutes, 33 and 2/3 seconds.

220 yard dash—Ballentine, Minn., first; Johnson, Minn., second. Time: 22 and 1-5 seconds.

220 yard hurdles—Wiley, Neb., first; Martin, Minn., second. Time: 26 and 3-5 seconds.

Half mile run—L. Hauser, Minn., first; Overman, Neb., second. Time: 2 minutes, 1 and 4-5 seconds.

440 yard dash—Owen, Neb., first; Fischer, Minn., second. Time: 51 seconds.

Two mile run—Watson, Minn., first; Rapacz, Minn., second. Time: 9 minutes, 58 seconds.

Pole vault—Liebendorfer, Neb., first; Bros, Minn., second. Height: 10 feet, 6 inches.

High jump—Moersch, Minn., first; O'Brian, Neb., second. Height: 5 feet, 6 inches.

Shot put—Shaw, Neb., first; Sprafka, Minn., second. Distance: 39 feet, 9 inches.

Discus throw—Corey, Neb., first; Gillern, Minn., second. Distance: 116 feet, 8 and 1/2 inches.

Hammer throw—Thorson, Minn., first; Corey, Neb., second. Distance: 117 feet, 10 inches.

Javelin throw—Sprafka, Minn., first; O'Brian, Neb., second. Distance: 141 feet, 10 inches.

Broad jump—Wiley, Neb., first; Bierman, Minn., second. Distance: 21 feet, 5 inches.

Relay race—Forfeited by Minnesota to Nebraska.

INSTALL CHAPTER OF THETA SIGMA PHI

SEVEN CHARTER MEMBERS OF JOURNALISM SORORITY

Miss Vina Lindsay of Kansas City Post Installing Officer—Professor Fogg Helped Get Charter

With seven charter members, the Nebraska chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism sorority, was installed in Lincoln Saturday evening. Miss Vina Lindsay of the Kansas City Post, formerly of the University of Missouri, and a member of the sorority, came to Lincoln to act as the installing officer.

The members of the society are Miss Ethel D. Arnold, '16, of Valentine, former associate editor of The Daily Nebraskan; Ruth Beecher, '18, Hastings; Clara Dodds, '16, Broken Bow, formerly on The Nebraskan staff; Mollie Gilmartin, '18, Lincoln, on the State Journal staff; Vivienne Holland, '17, Lincoln, now on The Nebraskan staff; Gertrude McGee, '18, Rapid City, S. D., and Eva I. Miller, '18, Fremont, present associate editor of The Daily Nebraskan.

The installing officer was entertained at a dinner at the Lincoln hotel before the initiation. She left for Kansas City Sunday.

Membership in the sorority is limited to those university women who intend to enter the profession of journalism. The local chapter was secured after several months petitioning, in which Prof. M. M. Fogg, teacher of journalism, took an active part. With the new society the journalistic profession has an honorary organization for both men and women, Sigma Delta Chi for the men having been installed several years ago.

GIVE LAST SYMPHONY CONCERT

The last of the series of symphony concerts which have been given at frequent intervals during the year by a string quartet: E. J. Walt, Ernest Harrison, William T. Quick and Miss Lillian Eiche, accompanied by Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond and Miss Louise Zumwinkel, was given at convocation last Thursday. The program consisted of two symphony poems, "Orpheus" and "Les Preludes," by Franz Liszt.

ELECT TOWNSEND COMMERCIAL CLUB HEAD

M. C. Townsend was elected president of the University Commercial club last Thursday, defeating Delos Anderson, for the place. R. H. Walker was made vice-president over Jack Hartman, F. T. Cotter was made treasurer and A. C. Filter secretary. All of the proposals for university betterment made by the Daily Nebraskan—the Student Council, the Student Union, and the Single Tax, were endorsed by substantial majorities.

WORKERS ON BESSEY BUILDING STRIKE

TWENTY-FIVE WALK OUT, ASKING WAGE INCREASE

Demand Refused—Omaha Labor Delegates Started Trouble

Twenty-five laborers working on the Bessey building at Twelfth and U streets struck Saturday noon for a 20 to 60 per cent increase in wages, following a visit to them of representatives from the Omaha laboring unions. Men being paid 25 cents an hour, are asking 30 cents for common laborers, 35 cents for concrete mixers and 40 cents for carpenters' assistants, and time and a half pay for extra hours.

Selden & Breck, the general contractors for the building, refused to accede to the worker's demands, and posted a sign advertising for more help. Policemen were called to the scene Saturday to prevent possible trouble.

Only four men of the laborers stayed on the job when the others quit, and one of these was won over at noon. If the contractors are unable to obtain more workers Monday morning, they will keep as many bricklayers as possible busy with the three laborers.

Several weeks ago laborers on the farm buildings struck because common workers were being given jobs that were held to be the work of skilled men. This difficulty was adjusted within a few days, however, and the men went back on the job.

E. C. JEFFREY, CO. F.

WINS SQUAD COMPET

Squad competitive drill last week resulted in E. C. Jeffrey of Company F winning first place with a score of 282. The other scores were: R. A. Jenkins, E. 279; G. A. Milby, G. 273; H. F. M. Hall, D. 268; S. A. Wilson, M. 263. The judges were Lieut. Col. Wickstrum, Major Burnham, and Major Covert.

CLASS SCRAP NOW

A THING OF PAST

Class fights before the annual senior picnic are no more, according to a statement issued by Chancellor Avery last week. The chancellor feels that he has a right to make the conditions of acceptance of his annual picnic to the seniors, since he bears the expense except railroad fare, and he has declared that while the invitations will be issued next year as usual, it will be with the understanding that they are withdrawn if a scrap occurs.

The chancellor is in no wise angered at the fight a week ago, but he feels that the danger line is pretty close, and that if the affairs are not stopped they will develop into something serious. So he has made the new ruling regarding the picnic that he shall give the seniors.

OMAHA MAKES 500 STUDENTS WELCOME

METROPOLIS EXTENDS GLAD HAND TO UNIVERSITY

Informal Dance Held After the Big Luncheon—Special Tours Proved Most Interesting

The 500 university students who enjoyed Omaha's hospitality last Friday returned to Lincoln late that evening, declaring that they had been given the most royal entertainment, and that they had not only learned a lot, but that they had had the time of their young lives. Omaha extended the glad hand, her gates were thrown open, and nothing was too good for the students.

The special train left the Burlington station here at 7:40 o'clock with 352 students aboard. This number was swelled by many who had gone up to the metropolis the preceding day, and by others who took later Friday trains. Many students stayed over in Omaha for the week-end, those who returned on the special, reaching Lincoln at 11 p. m.

Met by High School Band

When the students detrained at 9 a. m. in Omaha, they found the Omaha high school cadet band and regiment waiting at the station to lead a parade to the auditorium, the co-eds riding in automobiles, the men marching in the street headed by the Nebraska university band. At the auditorium, the students divided into groups, according to departments, and made the tours that had been planned for.

Every business house that was visited gave a most royal welcome. One firm gave 1,000 carnations to the students, and all helped in the gigantic dinner at the auditorium.

And that was a real dinner. Served buffet fashion, it contained the finest of Nebraska's food products, and there was more than enough. The

HUNDREDS WATCH NEWSPAPER FILM

Lincoln Journalists Thought Tribune Show a Trifle Far-Fetched

Several hundred people, including a number of newspaper men from the downtown news offices, crowded M. E. 206 last Friday afternoon to see the Chicago Tribune film, "Racing the Deadline," which was secured through the efforts of Prof. M. M. Fogg of the university journalism classes.

The film purported to show the adventures of a reporter on the Tribune getting a big scoop for his paper, and as the plot ran its course the Tribune plant, with many of the famous people on its staff, was thrown upon the screen.

Local newspaper men were frankly disappointed in the picture, and did not think that it was true to life, certainly not to newspaper life as found in Lincoln. They confessed that they could not understand how a reporter could afford the pictured home, or a maid, or not to go to work the next day as usual. In spite of its improbability, however, the film proved enjoyable.
