

Summer School Nebraskan

VOL. I.

UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA, FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1916.

NO. 14.

GET TICKETS TODAY FOR SUMMER SCHOOL PICNIC

Big Outdoor Mixer Comes Off Next
Wednesday

A very live picnic is assured for the Summer School students by the way the various committees are working. The tickets will be on sale by noon today. The plan is to have one person in every class selling tickets. They may also be obtained at the library entrance from Monday morning on. The price will be twenty-five cents and includes the entrance fee and the lunch. No one will be admitted without a ticket. It is urged that every one get tickets as early as possible so that definite estimates of the number attending may be made beforehand. Chartered cars will leave at various times in the afternoon to take the picnickers to the park.

Definite announcement of the various novel features planned for the afternoon and evening will be made later.

Since time is so short in summer school, Wednesday afternoon classes and laboratories cannot be excused wholesale. Several professors, however, have signified their intention of dismissing their afternoon classes and students will be allowed to be excused from their classes and laboratories where their work makes it possible.

Show your school spirit by boosting for the summer school picnic.

Miss Blanche Toland, '14, also a former normal training student at the Nebraska School of Business, was in the city Thursday. Miss Toland has been in charge of the commercial department of the high school at Watertown, South Dakota, for the past year.

Among the Summer Students

Superintendent Tout of North Platte

Superintendent Wilson Tout of North Platte, is one of the substantial educators of Nebraska and is credited with a remarkably long term of service in one community. He is a native of Nebraska and has received his education in the state. Mr. Tout went to North Platte nine years ago as high school principal. The following year he was made superintendent and has been in the service of the community ever since. He has made North Platte one of the distinctive school systems of the state. There are under his direction about sixteen hundred pupils, almost three hundred of which are in the high school, six buildings and forty-two teachers. Some features of the high school are Normal Training, Military Drill, courses in Commerce and Telegraphy, a Model Store, six points in Music fully accredited to the University of Nebraska, and a Junior High School for the housing of which a new $60,000 building is in process of construction. The course is on a purely elective basis, no studies being required, which leaves the pupil absolute freedom in adapting the work to his

Open Air Palladian Meeting Tomorrow

An open air meeting will be held on the campus Saturday evening near the Library instead of in Palladian Hall. A short program beginning at 8 o'clock, followed by various entertainment features is planned. The Unions will give the program the following Saturday and on the succeeding Saturday the Kearney Club will be in charge.

PICTURES FROM LIMA AT CONVOGATION

Persinger Describes Peruvian Capital
in Wednesday Lecture

In the fourth lecture of his South American series Professor Persinger described the picturesque capital of Peru, which he described as his first love among the cities of South America. Some of the most attractive views were those showing Mount Columbus in the background, the bird's-eye view of the city and the views of the government buildings.

The absence of store windows for the display of goods, the prevalence of carts for conveyance and the unsubstantial building materials used were commented on.

Professor Persinger called attention to the fact that what we term revolutions in the South American republics are in reality only changes in the control of the governmental machinery by cliques of the upper tenth of the population.

Romar J. Weyant and Thomas Schavland, of the Nebraska School of Business, have been employed this week in stenographic work at the Mobilization Headquarters at the fair grounds.

CONVOGATIONS NEXT WEEK

Monday, July 10—Paramount Moving Picture Film on South America.
Tuesday, July 11—Professor Persinger, illustrated lecture on "Peruvian Highlands" and "Montana."
Wednesday, July 12—Dean Fordyce, "Educational Measurements."
Thursday, July 13—Professor Caldwell, illustrated lecture on "American History."
Friday, July 14—Professor Conklin, "July 14, the French Independence Day."

THE BALKAN SITUATION DISCUSSED

Dr. Jones Continues Discussion of
This Topic at Convocation
Yesterday

Dr. Jones continued his discussion of the "Balkan Situation," at the convocation on Thursday morning. He summarized his remarks of last week relative to the interests of the various European powers in the Balkans, the relations of the Mohammedans and Christians, and the relations of the Balkan states themselves. He showed how this portion of Europe was bound up with the aims of practically all of the powers of Europe, why Turkey could not be driven from Europe without creating an uprising of the Mohammedan peoples under the English and French. He rehearsed the causes of the first and second Balkan wars, and showed how one thing led to another, until the declaration of war by Austria against Serbia, which started the present Pan-European war. Students of the summer school who are not attending the convocations are missing many rare treats. Frequently these talks clear up some obscure point that bears directly upon the work of teachers, and since so large a portion of the summer school enrollment belong to this class, it ought not to be necessary to urge a large attendance.

SEMI-FINALS NEXT IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The consolation tennis tournament for those eliminated in the first round is now under way. The defeated heroes are picking up heart after their first downfall and are brandishing their racquets in anticipation of retrieving their lost fortunes. The line-up is as follows:

Miller vs. Campbell.
Adams vs. Morgan.
Chadderton vs. Warren.
Johnson vs. Bye.
Carey vs. Long.
Lewis vs. Stout.
Pace vs. Hosford.
Traut vs. Williams.

In the original tournament the line-up is complete for the third round. One man, Chris Nelson, has already reached the semi-finals by defeating Gustafson. The rest of the winners of the second round are lined up as follows:

H. F. Holtz vs. D. B. Dow.
G. E. Reed vs. Lottie Savage.
Norwal Pearce vs. Chas. E. Kellogg.

called Extension Department which is concerned with settlement work among Chicago's great foreign-born population. He is very highly recommended by the secretary of the Chicago University Association.

Mr. Bigglestone received his A. B. from Morningside College in 1914. During the past year he has been doing graduate work in Sociology in the University of Chicago, and in the Y. M. C. A. college of that city, besides working in the University Association.

The place of general secretary at the Nebraska University Association was left vacant last fall when former Secretary R. L. Ewing resigned to take charge of the Y. M. C. A. work in the English prison camps during the war. During hte past year the work of general secretary was divided between President Glenn Everts and Vice President Stanhope Pier of the Association.

Gladys Weil, '15, has resumed her work in the general science laboratory in the Temple. She has been in Omaha the past week and a half on account of the illness of her mother. Mrs. Weil's condition is now much better. Louise Brownell, '16, has been filling Miss Weil's place during her absence.

Harry Fudge, ex-'16, who has been in Lincoln for the past week, left Thursday for Kansas.
