FOOTBALL PRACTICE WILL BE HELD TODAY

FIFTEEN LETTER MEN BACK FOR ANNUAL BATTLES

New Coaching Staff Means Different Style of Play—Schedule a Hard One

Football, the "game of games," the greatest of Varsity athletics, the sport in which Nebraska university has stood without a peer in Missouri Valley conference circles for the past five years, starts in earnest this afternoon, with prospects for another championship team.

Regulars and rookies who spent part of last week at Beatrice under the direction of Captain Corey, working some of the kinks out of their muscular system, returned to Lincoln yesterday. At the same time others came in, and Assistant Coach Rutherford doled out equipment to the "N" aspirants.

Fifteen letter men will start the season in an effort to make the team—the largest number that have ever returned in the history of the school. All of them are on the ground now except Ed Shaw, valiant tackle, who is delayed by some business matters, but who will be working out with the rest of the bunch before the week is over.

The Candidates

Besides Captain "Tim" Corey and Shaw, the men who will try again for a place on the eleven who have already made their mark are Cameron and Moser, centers; Caley and Cook, quarterbacks; Riddell, end; Doyle and Otoupalik, fullbacks; Gardner, Proctor, Porter and Selzer, halfbacks; Halbersleben and Kositzky, linemen.

The year will mark the first appearance of Dr. E. J. Stewart, former coach of the Oregon Aggies, in Missouri Valley conference coaching. Dr. Stewart comes with a splendid record, he is enthusiastic to get to work, and he is assisted by Dick Rutherford, who played so brilliantly for the last three years.

Dr. Stewart has preferred to let coaches of other schools, notably Ames, Kansas and Kansas Aggies, claim the championship before the season is begun. He has made no claims, only saying that he knows he has good material, that the spirit of the rooters is fine, and that he thinks the team has an excellent chance to cop the honors.

Cornhusker Losses

The hopes of the other Valley schools to tear the first place position from Nebraska rests on the local loss of Rutherford, all-valley halfback, Chamberlain, in the opinion of many keen judges the best American end last year, and Abbott and Shields, all-valley guards. But one man who was accorded unanimous all-Missouri valley honors last year, Captain Corey, is back. So the team has lost four-fifths of its best strength. Stewart says he realizes this loss is

The Husker Captain

Harold Corey.

"Tim" Corey, all Missouri Valley tackle, is the leader of the Cornhusker football team this year. Captain Corey was in charge of the conditioning week spent by the men at Beatrice before registration. He believes that the varsity will make a splendid record during the present year.

DR. STEWART TO COACH FALL TRACK ATHLETES

Fall track athletics will be featured by the coaching department this year, and the cinder path artists will be asked to take the field early within a few days. Costly experience of the past has demonstrated to the coaching department that when only the spring is given over to track work, the varsity is apt to lose prestige in valley circles, when compelled to meet teams with the superior advantages of year around work.

To stimulate interest in the fall work, an interclass track meet will be held before winter sets in. The date for this event has not been set, but it will probably be held November 11, the Saturday when the football team is idle.

Coach Stewart is a track man as well as a football, basketball and baseball man, and he will find time to devote some of his attention to the track athletes. He will be assisted in this by Athletic Manager Guy E. Reed, who still holds several varsity records in the sprints.

HONOR E. BENJAMIN ANDREWS

To honor former Chancellor E. Benjamin Andrews, through whose efforts funds were secured for building the Temple, a bronze tablet was placed in the lobby of the building last week, the gift of the class of 1915. The tablet bears a suitable inscription to Chancellor Andrews.

The former chancellor has written to Chancellor Avery, expressing his appreciation of the honor done him, and his gratitude to the students who have kept him in memory. In particular did he thank the members of the class of 1915, the chancellor and Professor Grumann for the part they had in securing the tablet.

Florence Bishop, '18, returned Sunday from Long Beach, Cal., where she has been with her parents for the past two months.

NEBRASKAN ENLARGED; SUBSCRIPTION REDUCED

NEW STAFF INAUGURATES RADICAL CHANGE IN DAILY.

Six Column Paper Every Day—A Complete Newspaper Reflecting Student Life.

For the first time in the history of the school and of the Daily Nebraskan, a radical improvement has been made in the paper—an enlargement of size making the Nebraskan second to none in that respect—and a cut in price has been made. For registration week subscriptions to the Daily Nebraskan will be sold for only 90 cents. Next week the price advances to a dollar.

Every member of the university paper's staff this year has had previous newspaper experience, all of them on The Nebraskan, and several of them with metropolitan newspapers. Every department of the school will be thoroughly covered by competent reporters. Features by special feature writers, a complete sporting department giving all of the "dope" on the varsity and its rivals in the Missouri Valley and other conferences, in short all of the news of Nebraska university when it is news, will appear every day.

The editorial policy of the Nebraskan, as announced by the editor-in-chief in the first issue, will be to keep in close touch with all phases of school life, endeavoring to help worthy enterprises along, and not hesitating to take a firm stand for the university whenever the occasion arises. It will be a constructive policy.

TEA FOR TIRED CO-EDS AT THE Y. W. C. A. ROOMS

Tired co-eds, or thirsty co-eds, or just plain co-eds, (and some not so plain), will be served tea and wafers at the Y. W. C. A. rooms in the Temple during the present week, by the association girls. This is a past custom, continued for several years, and it has proved immensely popular with the girls, who find that a hot cup of tea, and a few moments' relaxation, help revive drooping and homesick spirits. Upper class girls will welcome the freshmen at the association rooms.

Miss Ruth Curtis, daughter of Dean Curtis of the University of Iowa, will have charge of the courses in clothing study in the home economics department this year.

Prof. J. N. Bridgman, of the department of civil engineering, spent the summer in the employ of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway company. He was engaged for a few weeks in the offices at Chicago and for the balance of the time on location in Texas.

Y. M. C. A. OPEN HOUSE FOR MEN STUDENTS TONIGHT

Open house for all men students of the university will be held at the Y. M. C. A. rooms in the Temple building tonight. Caleb Jackson, the cabinet man in charge of the association social activities, has planned a welcome for all freshmen, and a warm get-together good time for all the students old and new.

The old Nebraska spirit, dormant during the summer months, will break out again at the association rooms. Steele Holcomb, "Y" president, and Harry Bigglestone, the new general secretary, will be on hand, reinforced by the cabinet and five or six hundred old students, who want to get the newcomers started right.

LARGEST REGISTRATION IN UNIVERSITY HISTORY

That the university will have the heaviest registration in its history is indicated by the rush of students in the Armory Wednesday morning. Registrar Groer has confidently predicted for the past few weeks that all previous attendance records would be broken, and his prediction is being verified by the rush at the Armory. Yesterday the line for time cards was a block long a quarter of an hour before the doors opened, and 1,700 cards were given out before the office closed for the day.

All colleges and schools are enjoying an increased enrollment. The agricultural college as usual has a healthy increase over the past year. The increased interest in the school of commerce is being made evident by the large number enrolling for the courses there.

In spite of the fact that Phi Beta Kappa has removed the mathematics and ancient language requirement for membership in the society, the registration in those courses has been better than that of past years.

The Armory was the scene of hearty greetings and renewed friendships all during the morning. Sorority girls were much in evidence, but they carefully refrained from showing too much interest in entering freshmen. The fraternity men were less scrupulous about helping the new-coming friends get their schedules arranged.

Dorothy Ellsworth, a prominent senior girl, took her own life late this summer by drinking acid, the day after her fiancé, Shirley Fossler, former university student and assistant city editor of the Lincoln Journal and News, had died.

Miss Ellsworth was one of the most able of the senior girls. She had taken part in several university plays, had a leading role in the pageant of 1916, was active in Girls' club and Y. W. C. A. work, a Black Masque, and a member of the Delta Gamma sorority.

WORK IN MUSIC TO BE ACCREDITED BY THE UNIVERSITY

Courses leading to the degree of bachelor of science in music will be offered by the school of fine arts this year, by arrangement with accredited instructors in music in the city.

The announcement that work in music would be accepted for university credits was made early this summer by Prof. P. H. Grumann, head of the school of fine arts, who has had the plan in mind since he took his position. The new plan will enable university girls who are specializing in music to take university work and earn a college degree.

The work done in music must be approved by the university, and there are certain requirements that must be met. Rabbi Singer of Lincoln is added to the university faculty as instructor in the theory and history of music, with the addition of the new work to the curriculum.

NEW AG. PROFESSORS

Two new professors will be in the dairy husbandry department this year. F. M. Colcord, a graduate of the University of Illinois will take the place left by Mr. North. R. C. Hibbon, a graduate of Ames, will have charge of the courses in dairy manufacturing.
