THE NEBRASKAN'S POLICY

The Daily Nebraskan enters upon its ninth year under University ownership today with unusual opportunities for accomplishing things. Every member of the staff has had previous experience on the paper, and with the increase in size which affords a more thorough and extensive review of school activities the paper should make an unprecedented record.

Though The Daily Nebraskan will instigate no particular policy of reform, the best interests of the University will always be kept in the foreground and there will be no hesitancy to take a firm stand on any issue which will vitally affect the University and University students.

The fact that the scholarship average of the fraternities and sororities shows marked increase is another indication that the Greek letter organizations are making an attempt to improve at every opportunity.

The requirements for the honorary scholastic fraternity. Phi Beta Kappa, have been lessened. Latin and Greek are not necessary for eligibility, as heretofore. This will increase both the number of candidates and the decisive scolastic average.

By the decision of the school of fine arts to give university credit for work in music a long-felt need was realized. The desire for a combined musical and scolastic education has taken many students out of the state until this year, and as a result, the new opportunity for this combined course will obviously increase the University

Students interested in agriculture or engineering should note that Professor Persinger gives his special course on public bands policy this semester. Although this course is given for the general university student, its subject matter has special interest and value to those in the two lines of work just mentioned.

The university regents met Monday afternoon at the college of medicine in Omaha, to go over the proposed layout of the grounds with Architect Latenser. With some modifications the plans were approved. At the same meeting the regents voted to sign for the paving of university property fronting on Fourteenth street between R and U streets.

Chancellor and Mrs. Avery, with Dr. I. S. Cutter, dean of the medical college and family, toured from Lincoln to Boston, Mass., and return last summer, the chancellor and the dean taking turns at the wheel. In the course of the trip Chancellor Avery found time to visit a score of colleges, and to study them with especial reference to getting ideas for use here at Nebraska. The National Educational association meeting in New York City, and other educational gatherings were also visited during the summer.

Students who wish to include in their schedule courses that deal more or less directly with the history and literature of Christianity are referred by the secretaries of the Christian associations and the university pastors to the following:

Senning, the new instructor in American history, has taken four years of graduate work, a year each in Illinois and Chicago and two years at Yale, where he passed his examination for the doctor's degree in June, 1916. He has specialized along the lines of the courses in Institutional and Constitutional history, which he is to give this year. Mr. Senning has had three years of experience in college teaching, and will be glad to consult with students looking to law or institutional work in regard to their future lines of Prof. M. M. Fogg accompanied the five-day excursion in August, of the Nebraska State Press association, composed of 150 editors. A special train took the party to Grand Island, Crawford, Chadron, Alliance, Bridgeport, Baird, Gering, Scottsbluff, North Platte and Kearney. Professor Fogg addressed the association at Scottsbluff on "Education for Efficiency and College Training for Journalism." The address was published in full in The Lincoln Daily Star in the issue of August 20. He then went for his vacaton in Colorado, which consisted of fishing and mountain climbing.
